Upland man, valley youth arrested in string of robberies

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

Law officers arrested an Upland man and Cucamonga youth early today after gunmen robbed a convenience market in Alta Loma and fled from police following a robbery of an Upland liquor store.

One shotgun blast was fired at the fleeing bandits in the Upland robbery but no one was injured.

Arrested were Mark S. Thomasson, 18, of 227 E. Seventh St., Upland, and a 17-year-old youth not identified. Police plan to question them regarding eight robberies involving liquor stores, convenience markets and a walk-in restaurant since Sept. 15. These were all believed robbed by two men riding a motorcycle.

West End sheriff's deputies reported a man wearing a green fatigue jacket and armed with a western-style revolver entered a convenience market at 6760 Carnelian St. Monday about 10:45 p.m. and ordered the clerk to hand over the cash from the register and place it in a paper bag. The gunman then fled.

Believing the robber to be the same person involved in a series of local robberies, deputies then alerted Upland police to the possibility of robberies in their city.

Upland police then set up surveillance at all the city's liquor stores and convenience markets.

About 11 p.m., Officer Frank Stratton saw a man in a green fatigue jacket who matched the description of the Alta Loma robber enter the Arrow Liquor Store at 61 E. Arrow Highway.

He then waited for the man to come out of the store and leveled a shotgun at him, ordering him to halt.

But the man turned and swung a revolver at the officer. The officer fired one round but the buckshot missed the robber who fled.

Officers began a search and apprehended one of the two suspects in an alley behind the liquor store. Then after checking the registration of a motorcycle which one man was riding, police went to a Cucamonga home and arrested the 17-year-old youth.

Officers said they found a large amount of cash and a pellet gun resembling a western-style revolver at the Cucamonga home.

Thomasson and the youth were booked at the West End jail on suspicion of armed robbery.

Oil nations may hike prices 10—25%

By The Associated Press

The major oil exporting nations appear sure to raise oil prices by at least 10 per cent at their ministerial meeting beginning Dec. 15 in the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Qatar.

Saudi Arabia, the largest oil exporter and the most powerful member of the Organization of Petrolueum Exporting Countries, has said it wants a "moderate" increase by the 13 members. This has been interpreted to mean about 10 per cent.

Iran, the second largest oil exporter, is thought to favor an increase in the area of 25 per cent, while Venezuela, another influential OPEC member, wants at least 15 per cent. Most other OPEC members have said they want an increase or will go along with one.

Ahmed Zaheri, the spokesman at OPEC's Vienna headquarters, said last month he believed the price would be "adjusted," which in oil talk means increased.

The oil countries argue that they need another increase because inflation in the West has raised the prices of industrial goods they import and is thus eating up oil income. Some Western economists dispute this view.

The present OPEC price of $11.51 for a 42-gallon barrel of standard grade crude has been in effect since Oct. 1, 1975. Oil ministers considered raising prices at their meeting in Bali in May, but took no action, apparently because of Saudi opposition.

Each 10 per cent increase in the price of OPEC oil, if passed along entirely to consumers, would add about a penny a gallon to the price of gasoline in the United States. This takes into consideration the fact that the United States imports 40 per cent of its oil.

A price increase would also be felt in many other parts of the economy, ranging from heating bills to public transportation.

Knut Hammarskjold, director general of the International Air Transport Association, said Monday in Singapore that an increase of 10 to 15 per cent in oil prices would add $250 million to $375 million to airline operating costs around the world. He said it would have to be passed along to passengers in the form of higher ticket prices.

U.S. President-elect Jimmy Carter said at his news conference last week that an oil price increase would be "a very serious blow" to consuming nations but that all he could do before taking office was to express concern.

Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi oil minister, said in August that some OPEC members wanted a "very drastic" increase similar to 1973 — the year oil prices were quadrupled. He said his government would resist a large increase because of concern for the economic recovery of the West.

Exorcism suspected in fatal beating of youngster

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — A mother and three other persons charged with fatally beating her 3-year-old son — in what the prosecutor says may have been an attempted exorcism — are asking prospective jurors whether they believe in reincarnation.

Yakima County Superior Court Judge Howard Hettinger ruled Monday that the four and a fifth defendant, all members of a religious household, were mentally competent to stand trial. Before he did so, four of them complained that psychiatrists who examined them were devils performing witchcraft.

All are charged with manslaughter and assault in the death of David Weilbacher, whose body was found wrapped in a sheet on a cot in the sealed back bedroom of a home just outside the Yakima city limits Sept. 19. The coroner said he died of a series of beatings about two months earlier.

The defendants are Edward Leon Cunningham, 51, a self-proclaimed pastor and "prophet of God;" his wife, Velma, 45; her daughter, Carolyn, 27; Lorraine Edwards, 20; and Debra Marie Weilbacher, 20, David's mother.

David's father is a Marine, divorced from Mrs. Weilbacher.

Only Mrs. Cunningham is represented by an attorney. The others said they preferred to act as their own attorneys, putting their fate in the hands of God.

On Monday, the four asked prospective jurors, "Do you believe in reincarnation?" They also queried them as to their feelings about spanking children, whether they ever had a religious experience and whether they felt God intervenes directly in people's lives.

During a pretrial hearing last month, Yakima County Prosecutor Jeffrey Sullivan said Cunningham answered questions with Biblical quotations, specifically:

Proverbs 13:23 — "Do not withhold discipline from a child; if you beat him with a rod he will not die;" Matthew 17:18 — "And Jesus rebuked the devil and he departed out of him," and Exodus 22:18 — "Thou shall not suffer a witch to live."

Sullivan also said during the pretrial hearing that Cunningham and other members of the household indicated they thought the child was possessed by the devil and beatings were the way to deal with it.

Police said the Cunninghams had lived in the Yakima area for seven or eight years, and neighbors said they had lived in the house for four years.

Young Pomonan held in slaying

A young Pomona man has been arrested in connection with the slaying Sept. 6 of Manuel Ambriz Martinez, the 22-year-old man stabbed outside a liquor store at 953 W. Mission Blvd.

Police arrested Diego Bernal, 19, of 1155 W. Fourth St. whom they found being treated for a stab wound Nov. 1 at the County-USC Medical Center in Los Angeles. He was later admitted to the hospital's jail ward.

Bernal was arrested on a murder warrant issued by Pomona Municipal Court Judge Thomas F. Nuss which allowed no bail.

Bernal is the third suspect arrested in the slaying. Earlier, however, the district attorney's office rejected police requests for complaints against the other two because of insufficient evidence.

Investigators said that Martinez apparently was mistaken for a youth gang member when he was attacked outside R and J Liquors early that morning.

Martinez was stabbed seven times shortly before 2 a.m. At least one of the wounds penetrated his heart and he was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The suspect was located at the county hospital through information obtained by the Los Angeles Police Department and given local police.

Details of how Bernal himself had been wounded were not available.

Nine states could feel natural gas shortages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Administration said today that the nation has enough alternate fuels to offset expected shortages of natural gas this winter if the weather and other factors are normal.

But John D. Christie, assistant administrator for energy information and analysis, added that nine states may be vulnerable to temporary local fuel shortages if unusually cold weather strikes.

Christie told a House subcommittee on energy and power that the most susceptible states are North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Maryland, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky, West Virginia and Arizona.

Christie noted that even though other fuels can substitute for natural gas, the alternatives — fuel oil and propane — are more expensive and may cost an extra $550 million to $650 million this winter. The extra fuel costs may reach as much as $4 billion to $5 billion for the entire year from last April through next March, he said.

Christie said the FEA estimates a total shortage of about 1.84 trillion cubic feet of natural gas this winter, about 18 per cent of the requirements of final users.

He said no residential customers are expected to suffer any curtailments of gas service this winter.

Commercial customers, curtailed about 4 per cent of their requirements last winter, may be short by about 6 per cent of their gas requirements this winter but, "under normal weather conditions, virtually all of these commercial customers are expected to be able to obtain and use alternate fuels," he said.

Christie said the gas curtailments of industrial customers are expected to increase from 19 per cent of requirements to about 25 per cent this winter, while curtailments of electric utilities are projected to rise from 45 per cent to 51 per cent of requirements.

He said an FEA survey found that inventories of middle distillate heating oils are high and inventories of propane were at record levels, about 10 per cent higher than a year ago.

Stocks of residual fuel oil were about 9 per cent lower in October than a year earlier. "However, it appears that refiners and marketers can rely on reserve capacitites to meet winter needs," Christie said.

Although the nationwide outlook was optimistic, Christie said that unusually cold weather for a long time could cause temporary shortages in some local areas because of difficulties in diverting alternate fuel supplies fast enough to make up for the sudden surge in demand.

She listens on phone as her uncle kills self

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "The next thing you'll hear is the bang," Gus Zanos told his niece over the telephone.

And Teddie Kiloxylos listened at the other end of the line Monday as her 55-year-old uncle, a former small-town police chief, shot himself to death rather than begin serving a six-year jail sentence for embezzlement.

Zanos placed the call from his attorney's office minutes before he was to report to jail, the coroner's office said. The sentence was imposed after he pleaded guilty in a $418,000 bank embezzlement conspiracy.

"He told me he wanted to say goodbye," his niece told authorities later. "He tells me he was sold out by his attorney, that he was bearing the brunt of the whole thing.

"Then he says, 'The next thing you'll hear is the bang.' I heard the blast and I heard him fall."

Federal prosecutors claimed Zanos, ex-police chief of Apollo in nearby Armstrong County, embezzled the money along with two bank employes in a check kiting scheme. Zanos allegedly used most of the money to buy pornographic movies that he hoped to sell at a profit.

Zanos considered his sentence too harsh and had tried to raise money for a lie detector test that he hoped would at least partly exonerate him, his brother Jim said.

After three postponements, Zanos was ordered to report to jail at noon Monday.

About that time, he went to see his attorney and asked for the private use of an office to make some phone calls, police said. He carried a concealed gun.

Carter's foreign policy has diplomats guessing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The election of Jimmy Carter has created what foreign diplomats here describe as uncertainty about future U.S. foreign policy directions.

These diplomats, who asked not to be identified, say it's not easy to try to determine what to expect from an incoming president whose views have not been shaped by long years of service in Washington.

Ideologically, Carter is an enigma to diplomats here because he received advice from both liberals and conservatives and attacked President Ford from both sides during the campaign.

About all foreign representatives here have to go on in assessing Carter are his campaign statements. They are aware that some of these statements have been strongly oriented to domestic voting blocs.

The diplomats' problem now is to try to sift out campaign rhetoric from statements of serious intent.

One reason that the foreign diplomats cited for their view of Carter is his insistence on opening up the decision-making process and on involvement of "the people" in foreign policy.

Carter's opposition to Ford administration policy in the Panama Canal negotiations, in foreign arms sales and in development of the B1 bomber coincided precisely with public sentiment as reflected by the findings of his pollster Patrick Caddell.

State Department officials argue that such a technique may be effective for a political campaign but could be detrimental to the national interest if he continues to use it as president.

"Public opinion polls are not always the best guide to formulating policy," said one official. As for Carter's pledge to give the people a role in the policy process, the official said this is one promise Carter will probably have to abandon quickly.

Decisions on such issues as strategic arms limitation talks, and fisheries and commodity agreements "simply don't lend themselves to public involvement," he said.

There are other questions raised by diplomats about what the Carter administration will be like:

—On Korea, Carter has pledged a phased withdrawal of American troops over a four-to-five year period and close consultation with Korea and Japan. But what if these countries regard a troop withdrawal as a destabilizing influence or if the Japanese interpret it as a weakening of the U.S. commitment to Japan's defense?

—On China, Carter charged the Ford administration with "frittering away" an opportunity for normalizing relations. But diplomats are wondering if he can move toward that goal without compromising his commitment to the "freedom and independence of Taiwan.

—On relations with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, both Ford and Carter have warned against imposing a major oil price increase at next month's OPEC meeting in Qatar. But has the American ability to influence OPEC declined as a result of Carter's campaign attacks on the Arab boycott of Israel and his criticism of U.S. arms shipments to such major oil suppliers as Saudi Arabia and Iran?

—Carter has pledged expanded ties with the developing countries, virtually all of which are under authoritarian rule and suppress political dissent. How can Carter establish closer links with dictatorships while fullfiling his commitment to expand U.S. efforts to protect human rights abroad?

Butchers okay new contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A second union which had threatened to strike supermarkets in Southern California and Nevada has overwhelmingly ratified a new contract.

Official word of the ratification Monday by the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers Workmen came a day after a similar pact was adopted by the Teamsters Union.

The butchers voted 3-1 in favor of the new pact, which will give them a raise of $2.72 an hour over the next three years. Of that, $1.35 will be in wages and $1.37 in pension, health and welfare benefits.

Under the old contract, meatcutters had earned an average $6 89 an hour.

Death investigation testimony

A stormy day on the mental hospital scene

VENTURA (AP) — A Ventura County grand jury has heard testimony that a Camarillo State Hospital mental patient died of pneumonia after doctors failed to check her thoroughly.

And prosecutors say that death and 12 others at the hospital could warrant charges ranging from murder to criminal negligence.

Meanwhile, a Los Angeles county coroner's jury decided Monday that the death of a patient at another mental hospital — Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk — was "at the hands of another, other than by accident."

A spokesman for the Los Angeles district attorney's office — who had monitored the inquest into the death of John Edward Mulick — said:

From this point, we'll be working closely with sheriff's deputies in the homicide division to answer the question of who administered the drug...specifically, who was responsible for the overdose ingestion."

A pathologist from the county coroner-medical examiner's office testified last Friday that Mulick, 32, had died from a massive overdose of an antipsychotic drug, Thorazine.

In what proved to be a stormy day on the state mental hospital scene Monday, a newly hired troubleshooter called Metropolitan "a mess."

However, Raymond Procunier, chief deputy director in the state Health Department, blamed problems in the 11-hospital system on a "few bad apples" and vowed to get rid of them — even if they are hospital directors.

Procunier made the comments at Camarillo, where hospital employes in an angry press conference complained bitterly about understaffing.

Asked about alleged intimidation of some employes by other workers, Procunier said, "We are going to find out who they are and boot them out."

The grand jury probing patient deaths at Camarillo held its first session Monday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. William Maxwell said a year-long investigation of deaths over the last four years had turned up 13 individual deaths that could warrant serious charges and 42 other questionable deaths he said would be presented "in summary form."

Maxwell called four witnesses who testified about the death of Alice Smith, 60, who was admitted to Camarillo on May 1, 1973, for psychiatric problems and died early the next day.

Although she arrived in a wheelchair and appparently was having trouble breathing, the physician who admitted her merely prescribed tranquilizers and sleeping drugs and sent her to an acute psychotic ward, witnesses said.

Dr. Al J. Lilly, a retired psychiatrist at Camarillo, said he didn't give her a physical exam, because "I knew she had been cleared by the L.A. County medical staff." (She had been transferred from the Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center.)

Two psychiatric technicians, Ruth Morgan and Victorina Belote, both testified that Mrs. Smith complained of difficulty breathing and was placed in a chair on the ward because she could breathe easier sitting up.

Dr. Harold Kade, a former Ventura County coroner's official, said he performed an autopsy on Mrs. Smith and attributed her death to "terminal bronchopneumonia" and congestive heart failure.

Kade said a person suffering from those conditions would probably be short of breath, weak and "visibly ill."

Maxwell indicated after the session that he felt the testimony showed negligence in the death.

"She was not examined physically and the testimony that she had trouble breathing. There was testimony as to a number of things that should have been noticeable. I think it meets all the tests," Maxwell said.

Other deaths to be presented involve strangulation, drug overdoses and drownings. The hearings are expected to last 10 days and involve more than 100 witnesses.

The public and press were admitted to the hearings — normally secret — at the request of the district attorney and the grand jury foreman.

As the session was beginning, the California State Employes Association attempted to get a court order closing the hearings. The CSEA represents a majority of the 2,000 employes at Camarillo, and the group's attorney argued that the publicity could hurt employes' reputations and might affect the grand jury's judgment.

The request was denied without comment by Superior Court Judge Robert Willard. It was not immediately known if the CSEA would appeal the ruling.

Alta Loma salary talks near an end

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Correspondent

Deadlocked teacher-school board salary negotiations apparently have moved off dead center in Alta Loma and are nearing settlement.

Teachers at Monday night's meeting said a vote Monday afternoon indicated that more than 60 per cent of them will accept a 4½ per cent pay hike on an interim basis until negotiations are complete. Such a raise would be paid teachers now retroactive to Sept. 1 until final agreement is reached.

During the meeting before Supt. Floyd Stork and trustees met in secret session to discuss state mandated union negotiations with teachers, Stork said a stalemate seems to have been broken with talks moving toward approval.

In other action, the board set March 8 for the next trustee election. Trustee President Mrs. Nancy Kettle said she definitely will run again as will incumbents W. Dick Achuff and Bob Frost for four-year terms. Filing for those spots opens next month. Mrs. Kettle said she does not know if anyone else will file "but I've heard that some people are planning to run."

Last election in March 1975 cost the district nothing since no one opposed Earle Anderson or Paul Sage whose terms expire in 1979.

Trustees also approved a resolution to handle any tie votes by runoff election rather than by lot as has been done in the past.

Hiring of a part time business manager was approved by board members to assist Stork for the remainder of the year for a salary not to exceed $8,000.

Straight Ahead holds open house

Straight Ahead, Inc., a community treatment center under the Federal Bureau of Prisons, will hold an open house Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at its Ontario facility.

The open house will be in celebration of the third anniversary of the facility. Representatives of the county probation department, West Valley and Pomona Superior and Municipal courts, local community volunteers and city officials are expected to attend.

Homemaker-chore program to get tight supervision?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The homemaker-chore program, one of the fastest-growing and most troubled of all welfare programs, is supposed to get tight state supervision under newly proposed rules.

The rules, to take effect early next year, are aimed at controlling companies that provide less than one-fifth of the program's services under contract with counties but are getting an increasing share of the costs.

In one recent publicized case, a San Franciso contractor, Visiting Home Services, went bankrupt amid allegations of six-figure profiteering by its executives.

The proposed rules — contained in a scathing state Health Department report on the program — were made public a day before today's scheduled Assembly Health and Welfare Committee hearing into the program.

The report by the department's social service unit said the nearly 3-year-old program "was implemented hastily, without proper planning" and suffers from "a lack of management direction and controls."

About 70,000 aged, blind or disabled welfare recipients currently get in-home housekeeping help under the program, which costs $116 million a year in state and federal money.

Without the care, the state says, those recipients would have to stay in nursing homes at a cost of an additional $40 million a year.

However, controls over who gets the services are loose and vary from county to county, the department report said.

Another problem is a law that limits federal payments to the program without limiting state payments. Officials say the federal share, originally proposed at 75 per cent, is now down to 60 per cent.

The state's share has grown from $24.7 million to $38.2 million in two years, and will increase about another $14 million with the increase in the state's minimum wage, said Health Department spokesman Bob Nance.

In addition, the report estimated about 72,000 more persons are eligible for the program.

The report attributed rising costs to "increases in caseload, continuing inflation, new statutory program expansions, and the lack of management direction and controls at all levels of government."

The new regulations are to contain criteria — now virtually nonexistent — for county contracts with homemaker firms, including a requirement that contractors provide full financial information in advance.

The information will include background of all company officers and a statement of financial condition and profits.

Nance said the department hopes that requirement will avoid a repetition of the Visiting Home Services scandal.

The Health Department said the former head of that firm, Peter Gottheiner, paid himself salary and expense advances of more than $112,000 for the first half of this year, paid large sums to relatives, and projected healthy profits while the company was going broke.

Meanwhile, the department said it was subpoenaing the records of a former competitor of Gottheiner, Hadley Hall, executive director of Home Health Services, Inc., of San Francisco.

Nance said Hall had refused to let a state auditing team, which is inspecting records of all homemaker chore contractors, look at his books.

Other proposed rules include:

—Standards for pay to employes and cost of services.

The report said that before the $2.50 minimum wage was implemented, contractor pay to employes ranged from $1.65 to $4.30 an hour for similar tasks, and the cost of service per month ranged from $30.49 in Amador County to $208.69 in San Francisco County.

—Limits on the amount a recipient can have a relative paid in government funds for doing chore services in the home.

—A requirement of proof that a recipient would need institutional care without the homemaker chore service.

Nance denied that the proposed regulations were prompted by today's legislative hearing, saying work started on the report about four months ago.

Later Monday, Assemblyman Mike Cullen, the Long Beach Democrat who is chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, blasted the Health Department in the release of an updated audit on the program.

The auditor general's report said there were recent improvements in the department's effort to administer the homemaker-chore program.

The new audit cited continued failure to monitor program administration, adopt appropriate regulations and use available federal funding.

How Tunney lost 13,000 votes

Although it wouldn't have made much difference in Sen. John Tunney's loss to S.I. Hayakawa last week, a research institute says the format of the Los Angeles County ballot caused Tunney to lose as many as 13,000 votes.

Many voters overlooked the names of the Senate contestants on the county ballot, according to the study released Monday, because they were situated too close to the presidential section.

"There's no way you can say it cost him the election. His statewide loss was too much," said Helene V. Smookler of the Rose Institute of State and Local Government at Claremont Men's College.

"But the importance is for future elections and the way the county puts together its ballot."

A campaign spokesman for Tunney said no action was planned on the basis of the study.

"It's the kind of thing that had we lost by 15,000 or 20,000 statewide votes it would be one thing," said spokesman Marty Franks. "But instead of being one factor it's just one of several factors.

"The fact is we just flat out got beat."

The number of votes in nonpresidential races normally is smaller than polling for president, but the study showed an unusually high drop off — 336,000 votes — between the presidential and Senate races.

The study also showed that eight statewide propositions and four county measures drew more votes than did the Senate race.

Los Angeles County holds 30 per cent of the state's total electorate and Tunney, whose home is in Los Angeles, carried the county by 50 per cent to Hayakawa's 47 per cent. Hayakawa's margin of victory statewide, however, was 226,953.

The estimates of Tunney's loss were derived from the percentage of the dropoff that would have been his according to his margin over Hayakawa, Ms. Smookler said.

The lost votes included about 25 per cent of black voters and 20 per cent of Mexican American voters who were considered crucial to Tunney's re-election, the study said.

County Recorder-Registrar Leonard Panish said composition of the ballot was complicated by the fact that ballots for the county's 32 separate voting jurisdictions contained a total of 349 candidates. He noted the Senate section, though close to the presidential portion, was clearly marked.

"It was as clear as it could be," he said.

Thayer found guilty in Ontario murder

After nine hours of deliberation, a West Valley Superior Court jury Monday found Roger Eugene Thayer guilty of murdering a La Puente man in an Ontario vineyard on Aug. 13.

Judge Clifton Allen ordered the defendant to return to court Nov. 29 for reading of his probation report and sentencing.

Because of a large amount of circumstantial evidence presented during the trial, the prosecution did not ask for the death penalty.

Thayer was convicted of killing George Michael Chavez, 23, who was found naked on a dirt road in a vineyard near the Ontario International Airport.

The defendant was accused of picking up Chavez in La Puente and driving to Ontario. They stopped on a dirt road in the vineyard when Chavez, an alcoholic, became ill.

While in the vineyard, Thayer removed a pistol from the trunk of his car and shot the victim, officials charged.

The prosecution charged the defendant killed Chavez for a friend who is an inmate at the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo.

Chavez was reported to have testified against Thayer's friend on an assault charge which partly resulted in his being sentenced to prison, said officials.

25 freed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police freed 25 persons locked in the vault of a discount jewelry store during an alleged robbery attempt and arrested two men trying to escape by posing as hostages, officers said.

Police said a third person was believed involved in the incident Monday at the Columbia Merchandise Co. store in Tarzana.

CARRIERS HONORED

Seven Progress Bulletin carriers were honored Monday by the Pomona Noon Optimist Club in the annual observance of Youth Appreciation Week.

The carriers and their parents were guests of the local club at a luncheon at the Pomona Elks Lodge.

The local Optimist club joins others throughout North America in giving recognition to the responsible youth of today in the home and community in contrast to the small minority of young people whose behavior is such that it brings about unfavorable publicity.

Optimist Club Vice-President Gene Tomashek awarded Youth Appreciation Week citations to Karen Ritter, Chari Marcucci, Phil Ritter, Brian Bailey, Byron Melling, Kevin Langrell and Steven Burkholder.

Guest speaker during the special luncheon was Paul E. Lee, general manager of the California newspaper Youth Foundation, Inc.

Lee explained that the foundation was incorporated 30 years ago to protect the right of youth to enter into the calling of his own choosing, including that of a newspaper carrier.

"California is the only state to have such a foundation," Lee said. "We have been successful in protecting the youth's right."

Lee said that the foundation has given $120,000 in scholarships since 1955.

Lee reviewed the history of newsmaking from the town crier to invention of the double-cylinder printing press by Hoe in 1870, which led to the carrier system.

"A paper route gives a youngster the opportunity to meet all kinds of people," Lee said. "We're fighting today to see that youth has as much opportunity as in the past."

Also guests of the Optimist club were Bob Bush, general manager; John Ardelan, circulation manager; and Richard Klein, assistant circulation manager, all of the Progress Bulletin.

The Progress Bulletin is a member of the foundation, which represents about 70,000 carriers in the state.

Watson aide accused in yacht probe

Two employes say assessor knew of attempt to block tax roll listing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two employes of the county assessor's office have accused Assessor Philip Watson's chief field deputy of trying to block their attempt to list the yacht of a Watson campaign contributor on the county tax roll.

The employes said Gene Eley, the deputy and a political appointee, had done so with Watson's knowledge.

Their testimony was the first major development as a county Board of Supervisors hearing opened Monday into marine assessment practices. The hearing follows charges by Supervisor Baxter Ward that yacht owners were being allowed to pay lower assessments or escape taxes altogether by listing false home ports.

Monday's hearing dealt with the case of the yacht Sapphire Sea II owned by Arthur H. Kaplan of Beverly Hills who contributed $1,000 to Watson's reelection campaign in 1970 and $2,000 in 1974, according to county records.

The contributions were made by Kaplan personally and through his business firms.

Eley was named by Les Lakness, director of the assessor's marine assessment section, and Peter Finie, the assessor responsible for vessels berthed at Marina del Rey, where Kaplan rents a slip for his boat.

Lakness testified that the Sapphire Sea II was not taxed in 1973, 1974 or 1975 and that when he tried to tax the vessel, Eley had told him it was for charter and could not be taxed.

The boat's owner was listed as a dummy corporation, White Cloud Boat Charter Co. of Portland, Ore., Lakness testified. The boat was never chartered by anyone except Kaplan, he said.

Lakness said he refused to go along with Eley in 1974 and subsequently was transferred out of the marine assessment division for two years, returning only recently to head it.

Finie, whom Watson has termed a discredit to the office, testified that he had believed the failure to assess Kaplan's yacht was illegal. He said Eley had questioned what he was trying to do to "our friend" and prevented the listing until this year when Finie's superior determined that the boat was unknown to Oregon waters.

Kaplan since has been assessed $23,000 after the assessor's staff listed the vessel on its roll. Kaplan has paid the assessment but appealed the levy.

In addition he has been billed for $65,000 in missed assessments for the previous years.

CHARGED IN BOY'S DEATH

Charge illegal phone tapping in Baldwin Park

BALDWIN PARK (AP) — Funds from a million-dollar federal grant to gather intelligence on criminal activities were used in part by police here to illegally tap telephones of city employes and bug a closed-door City Council meeting for apparently political motives, the Los Angeles Times said today.

The newspaper also quoted informed sources that conversations in the offices of the Baldwin Park mayor and a newspaper publisher were monitored during the alleged 30 months of electronic snooping that ended last March.

The surveillance in the suburban community "apparently politically motivated," the Times said.

James Sexton, the acting city manager, and newly appointed Police Chief Leonard Chellino reportedly launched an investigation into the alleged snooping and discovered several tape recordings at the home of former Police Chief Dale Adams, who died of cancer last month, the account said.

Wiretaps are illegal under California law, whether conducted by police or civilians. The law does not affect federal law enforcement personnel operating in the state.

Police in California, however, are permitted to use electronic eavesdropping devices, but only during a criminal investigation.

Conviction for violations carry a possible maximum three-year prison sentence and a $2,500 fine.

In 1972, Baldwin Park police sought and received a $1.06 million grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to form an intelligence-gathering network called the East Valley Information System (EVIS).

The crime intelligence network was created to combat narcotics, gambling, vice and similar problems faced by neighboring communities.

Under black rule...

Rhodesia to turn to Soviet

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Black Rhodesian leader Joshua Nkomo indicates that Rhodesia under black rule will look to the Soviet Union for friendship, support and aid rather than to the United States.

"The relationship between us and any other country would be governed by (its attitude) ... during our period of armed struggle," said the 59-year-old elder statesman of black politics in Rhodesia during an interview Monday. And later he pointed out:

"We get our assistance, especially military assistance, from the Soviet Union. It's no secret. We have gone to them. They haven't come to us. ... We are working with them."

"Our relations with the United States would be the relations between two independent countries," he said.

Nkomo said he thinks neither Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger nor his successor has any role to play at the deadlocked Geneva conference on the transfer of power in Rhodesia from the white minority to the black majority.

Nkomo explained that as far as the black leaders are concerned, the Geneva negotiations are "basically" between them and the British, since the blacks refuse to recognize Prime Minister Ian Smith's declaration of independence from Britain 11 years ago and demand that Britain as the colonial power arrange the transfer of power to them.

Kissinger's African shuttle that produced the Geneva conference "has not involved the people of Zimbabwe (the black name for Rhodesia) as such but involved Smith and his helpers, the South Africans," Nkomo continued.

"If the Americans could through pressurizing the South Africans put pressure on Smith, that would not have a bearing on the affairs (here) but on the individuals on whom the Americans could bring pressure to bear. So when it comes to discussing the actual affairs of Zimbabwe, the United States has no more role."

In Washington, meanwhile, Ford administration strategists have not ruled out direct intervention in the talks by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Officials said Kissinger may feel obliged to go to Geneva to see if the six-point package formulated in Africa remains a basis for settlement.

Nkomo also showed no interest in the $2-billion foreign aid fund which Kissinger has proposed to compensate whites who leave Rhodesia and finance development of the country under black rule.

"I don't know ... what that fund is," he said. "But if it is ... to buy property from those who want to leave and that property will be owned by the trust fund, then no thank you. Our country being bought over by some fund, that we cannot have."

Discussing the rivalries among the factions represented by the four black leaders at the Geneva conference, Nkomo said, 'There is a chance of civil war if people with military forces go separate ways."

The two other black leaders at Geneva are Bishop Abel Muzorewa, who headed a short-lived ZAPU-ZANU coalition called the African National Council, and the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, a ZANU leader.

Flag pledge, minute of silent meditation in Philadelphia schools

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Board of Education has voted to require the city's public schools to provide pupils an opportunity to begin the day with the Pledge of Allegiance and a minute of silent meditation.

Pupils could abstain from participating, however, for religious or other personal reasons.

In adopting the plan on a 5-1 vote Monday, the school board said that the silent minute was not an attempt to circumvent the 1963 U.S. Supreme Court decision banning school prayer.

"If a student wants to begin his day by getting in touch with God, or simply putting his day in order in his own mind, that's his personal choice," said board member Felice Stark, who introduced the plan.

Reciting the pledge had not been a citywide requirement since the late 1960s. At that time the board responded to protests from some parents by leaving a decision on use of the pledge up to administrators at each of the 2,080 schools.

"I was shocked to find that this wasn't done," said Mrs. Stark about the lack of a requirement to recite the pledge.

Tobyann Boonin, lone dissenter among the board members, said the pledge could make children uncomfortable and the meditation might invite them to be disruptive.

"I don't want to go against anybody's religion," she said. "I have discovered that several religions ... are not allowed to take the Pledge of Allegiance."

Meanwhile, the Orleans Parish School Board in Louisiana voted Monday to allow pupils and faculty a maximum of 60 seconds of silent meditation at the beginning of each school day.

Spotlight on area crime

Via Verde lights shot out; pair held

Two young men were arrested Monday night by Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies who charged them with using rifles to shoot out 18 street lights in the Via Verde section of south San Dimas.

The suspects, Douglas Charles Dimitruk, 18, of Covina, and Paul Gregory Knauer, 18, of Canoga Hills, were booked under a felonious malicious mischief section of the state Penal Code.

Deputies said the lights were shot out with .22-caliber rifles. They estimated the damage at $1,295.

Liquor store robbed

A Pomona liquor store was robbed Monday night by two men, one of whom was armed with a small pistol.

The victim, Joseph P. Kim, 20, said he and his mother, Myongpun Kim, 42, were alone in Al's Liquors at 1613 N. Garey Ave. when the pair entered and selected a bottle of wine. At the checkout counter, one pulled the weapon and demanded money. After getting it, both fled.

The armed man was described as black, about 30, 6 feet 1 and slender. He wore a denim jacket, denim trousers and had a mustache.

Pipe bomb explosion

Several area residents reported hearing a loud explosion about midnight. Their calls sent deputies to the scene.

Officers found metal fragments had punctured the loading dock door. The explosion also shattered several lights in the storage area. Deputies believed the bomb was about a foot in length.

Indictments to be sought against ex-FBI officials?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department spokesmen refused comment Tuesday on a report that the government may seek indictments against 10 to 20 per cent of former FBI officials.

The New York Times reported today that department lawyers had concluded they could support charges that the persons under investigation knew of or approved illegal investigative techniques.

The Times quoted federal sources as saying prosecutors in the department's civil rights division had found evidence of illegal wiretaps, bugs, burglaries, mail openings and other practices.

The sources told the Times that a memorandum on the subject was expected to be submitted to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi this week. The newspaper said the lawyers were expected to recommend that Levi permit them to seek indictments against some or all of those named.

The memorandum is based on grand jury testimony and examination of bureau documents over the last five months by a special panel in the criminal section of the civil rights division, the Times said.

Phone worker instant millionaire

NEW YORK (AP) — A $17,000-a-year telephone installer who became a millionaire by buying a lottery ticket plans to celebrate by buying a new Cadillac and vacationing in Bermuda.

When John Sartoretti, 26, heard his name called Monday night by comedian Jerry Lewis at Roseland Dance City in Manhattan, the chubby, bearded Queens man leapt out of his seat and bounded onto the stage.

He is the second jackpot winner in the Empire Stakes Instant Lottery, which carries a prize of $1,000-a-week for life with a guarantee of at least $1 million.

En route to the stage, Sartoretti knocked over spectators and television equipment. Still yelling, he gave Lewis a giant bear hug, then, suddenly subdued, managed a meek "hello" into the microphone.

Immedatey after the announcement, Sartoretti said he planned a long trip to Bermuda with his wife, Pat, 26, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sartoretti, also of the College Point section of Queens.

Then, because Lewis had drawn his name, the elated winner pledged "a sum in the high four figures" to aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy. Lewis is the main benefactor of that charity.

Sartoretti also said he plans "to live a long time and preserve myself" so he can collect more than $1 million. He can pass that mark by living just 19.2 more years.

There were 83 finalists for the drawing, and each won at least $5,000.

Some Cadillac dealer will be pleasantly surprised, because Sartoretti plans to buy a new model today. "I've always wanted one, probably red or some wild color," he said.

Mrs. Sartoretti, who calls herself "a full time housewife," said she would "like to go out and buy a new house and some more toys" for her 2½-year-old daughter Kathy.

Sartoretti said he will "take a month off from work and decide what to do."

Man condemned to die by firing squad reprieved

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Mark Gilmore, condemned to die before a Utah firing squad next Monday in the first execution in the United States since 1967, has been given a reprieve he didn't want.

The Utah Supreme Court on Monday stayed by a vote of 3-2 a district judge's order of execution. The high court was asked for the stay to allow time for an appeal of Gilmore's death sentence for the murder of a night clerk during a motel robbery.

The 35-year-old Gilmore sent two handwritten notes before the decision asking the justices to disregard efforts to delay his execution, which he has said he prefers to a life in prison.

The stay was sought by two court-appointed lawyers.

There was no immediate reaction from Gilmore to the court's action.

The lawyers, whom Gilmore has said he fired, also asked the court to review the first-degree murder conviction and Utah's homicide statute, which they said has never been challenged.

The stay was granted in a terse order signed by Justices J. Allan Crockett, D. Frank Wilkins and Richard J. Maughan. Chief Justice Henri Henriod and Justice A.H. Ellett dissented, but did not say why.

In one of his letters, Gilmore objected to the effort to prevent his execution and said those behind it, including the American Civil Liberties Union, "seek nothing but personal publicity."

"Don't the people of Utah have the courage of their convictions?", he asked. "You sentence a man to die — me — and when I accept this most extreme punishment with grace and dignity, you, the people of Utah, want to back down and argue with me about it.

"You're silly."

Gilmore said he was "sane, rational and more intelligent than the average person."

"I've been sentenced to die. I accept that ..," the letter said.

The condemned man asked the court to "please forthwith appoint counsel to represent me — without any delays, regarding the Nov. 15 date."

Before sentencing, Gilmore said he shot Bennie Bushnell, 25, after ordering him to lie down on the motel floor.

"I felt there was no way what happened could have been avoided," Gilmore said. "There was no other choice or chance for Mr. Bushnell. It was something that couldn't be stopped."

FPC blocks rate hikes to build power plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission on Monday refused to make electric and gas customers pay the construction costs of new power plants and pipelines before those facilities start delivering service.

The decision, tentatively adopted a month ago and made permanent Monday, was initially hailed by a citizen consumer group as a victory that will save the average family about $42 a year on its electric bill through the 1970s.

The FPC action does not reduce electric rates. Instead, it blocks an increase that would have resulted if the FPC had followed the utility industries' urging to let power companies include in their rates the cost of power plants still under construction.

The commission permitted electric utilities to charge consumers for the costs of facilities that are being built to reduce environmental pollution or to convert oil or natural gas-burning power plants to other fuels, primarily coal.

The commission estimated that this allowance would increase wholesale electric rates about 1 or 2 per cent in the next few years.

Consumers eventually pay for new facilities in their electric rates but only after the facilities are completed and in service.

A citizens group called Environmental Action Foundation, estimated last March that the utilities' proposal would increase electric utility rates almost 15 per cent, at a cost of some $8 billion per year to consumers, or about $42 a year increase in the average residential electric bill through the 1970s.

The FPC did not estimate the potential costs of the utilities' proposal.

The Edison Electric Institute, an industry group, expressed disappointment last month at the FPC's decision.

The institute's president, Don Crawford, issued a statement noting that despite improvement in the finances of electric utilities, "much more progress is needed to restore their full financial health."

The FPC decision opened the door for individual utilities to secure permission to charge customers for major construction still in progress, but only if the company could prove that it is "in severe financial stress."

Copland conducts

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Aaron Copland, the 75-year-old American composer, conducted the Belgian National Orchestra in his own Third Symphony as part of an all-American program celebrating the United States Bicentennial.

Copland won warm applause Monday night from a capacity audience at the Palais des Beaux Arts. Ambassador Leonard K. Firestone was among the concert-goers.

Grant Johannessen of Salt Lake City was soloist in George Gershwin's Piano Concerto in F Major.

Debates helped Carter

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Pollster George H. Gallup says public opinion surveys support Jimmy Carter's claim that his three debates with President Ford helped him win the election.

"In a certain sense it might be said that President Ford's gaffe on Poland cost him the election," Gallup told a National Municipal League Convention on Monday.

Gallup said that at the time of the first debate on domestic issues Ford had virtually wiped out the 30 percentage point lead Carter held in August. But Gallup added that the movement toward Ford eased off after the debate on foreign policy.

In that debate Ford said Eastern European nations, including Poland, were not dominated by Russia. He later acknowledged that he had made a mistake.

Gallup said that after the debate Carter quickly gained a six-point margin in public opinion polls, keeping it until the final few days of the campaign, when it slipped to two points.

'Tempest in a teepee'

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and television personality Dick Cavett have settled an argument over Indian artifacts that Cavett says was never more than a "tempest in a tepee" anyway.

The hassle started when Cavett was given two buffalo robes, a shield, and a Plains Indian war shirt by the Museum of the American Indian here in exchange for his gift of 53 other artifacts.

Lefkowitz, claiming the goods were worth $12,000, said Cavett was receiving an illegal gift from the former director of the museum. He filed suit against Cavett to force their return.

Lefkowitz announced Monday that he was dropping the suit after Cavett said he would return the items. Cavett said legal fees were costing him more than the items were worth — which he estimated was $2,000.

Cavett said he had gotten caught in the middle of a dispute between the Attorney General's office and the museum's former management.

Museum Director Frederick J. Dockstader has since been dismissed and a new board of trustees has been appointed.

Revolutionary socialist

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernadette Devlin McAliskey, former radical member of Parliament from Northern Ireland, says the Women's Peace Movement there is "looking for peace at any price — and the price would be subservience."

Mrs. McAliskey, on an eight-city speaking tour in the U.S., told a news conference that the movement is an extension of the British and Irish governments to which she is "personally, radically opposed."

She also said she has left the Irish Republican Army in favor of a movement called the Irish Committee for a Socialist Program.

"I find it impossible to be anything but a revolutionary socialist," she said.

'Shameful' act—Beame

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Abraham D. Beame says an attack on Soviet violinist Vladimir Spivakov on Sunday over the treatment of Soviet Jews was "shameful and disgraceful."

During the recital, a man shouted in Russian, "Remember the Soviet Jews" and threw a paint bomb which a guard deflected. Another man later hit him with a paint bomb, but Spivakov finished the recital.

His publicity manager blamed members of the Jewish Defense League.

Steel official concerned

BOSTON (AP) — Edgar B. Speer, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel Corp., says the government has shown a "distressing lack of understanding" about the need for capital investment. He said he is concerned about President-elect Jimmy Carter's suggestion that wage earners should pay fewer taxes and corporations should pay more.

Speer told a news conference here that businesses need tax reforms to stimulate capital investment, expand production and create jobs.

Angola refugees tell of slaughter

OSHAKATI, South-West Africa (AP) — Refugees fleeing southern Angola claim Angolan and Cuban troops and South-West African guerrillas are destroying villages, slaughtering livestock and raping and killing tribespeople in their drive to wipe out a pro-Western guerrilla group.

Burning villages in Angola could be seen and artillery and shooting heard from this village on South-West Africa's border with the former Portuguese territory.

An estimated 8,000 refugees have arrived in the Ovambo and Kavango tribal reserves along the border in the past 10 days, according to Jannie de Wet, South Africa's commissioner general for South-West Africa.

Forces of the Marxist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola — MPLA — which won the Angolan civil war last November, and Cuban troops are trying to eliminate the remnants of the Angolan National Union — UNITA — which reportedly has widespread tribal support in the area.

The Cuban-MPLA troops were reportedly being aided by guerrillas from the South-West Africa People's Organization.

Don't blame your age for poor hearing

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

True, all hearing problems are not alike . . . and some cannot be helped, but many can. Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept.9894, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

POMONA HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

On campus...

Sture Lindmark and Anders Pers of Sweden will speak at an International Relations Colloquium at Oldenborg Center, POMONA COLLEGE, on Thursday

The lecture will begin at 12:30 p.m., preceded by a luncheon at 11:45 a.m.

Title of the lecture is "The Future of Sweden's Economy, in View of the September Elections." The lecture is open to the public free of charge. The luncheon is $1.75, and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Lindmark is chief editor of "Koepmannen," the magazine of the Retail Trades Association.

Pers studied in America before heading the press bureau of the Swedish Foreign Office's information center in Washington. He is currently director of Sweden's Association of Industries.

A turf picnic-frat decathalon, football game, reception and performance of the musical, "Gypsy," are included on the annual POMONA COLLEGE Homecoming program scheduled to start at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

The picnic lunch on Merritt Field will honor alumni fraternity members, and past and present fraternity members will participate in the inter-frat decathalon contest.

The Pomona-Pitzer vs. Redlands football game will begin at 1:30 p.m. Following the game a reception will be held for all the alumni.

The theater department, under the direction of Patricia Madsen, chairman, will present the Broadway production, "Gypsy," Pomona College's entry into the American College Theatre Festival. The performance will be held at 8 p.m. in Garrison Theater.

The Homecoming Day is sponsored by Pomona College Alumni Association.

Fay M. Blake has been appointed to head the readers' services area of the CAL POLY POMONA library.

As head of readers' services she will be responsible for the library's reference services, circulation, periodicals, limited loan and the reserve desk.

Prior to her Cal Poly appointment, Miss Blake was on the faculty of the graduate school of librarianship at the University of California, Berkeley. She also has held the position of librarian at the University of California, Los Angeles and was statewide coordinator of interlibrary loan for the New York State Education Department.

Robert C. James of CLAREMONT GRADUATE SCHOOL has accepted an invitation to be a Fellow of the Institute for Advanced Studies of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

James is a professor of mathematics and department chairman at CGS. He and his wife, Edith, will be in Jerusalem from Feb. 1 to Aug. 1. The appointment began Oct. 1 and runs for a year.

The institute is a new venture of the Hebrew University. The fellows will have no formal duties and will be able to devote themselves to research. James is one of three scholars chosen from the United States for the honor. Two were chosen from France and one from Denmark.

The institute's area of research for mathematics during the current academic year is geometry of Banach spaces. James has been doing research on the theory of Banach spaces all of his professional life and has delivered papers on the subject at numerous international mathematics conferences. His research accomplishments have established him as a world authority in that area of mathematics. His most recent presentation was in June at the Maurey-Schwarts Seminar at Ecole Polytechnique, Paris.

Robert W. Turner of Rowland Heights has been appointed head of the CAL POLY POMONA accounting department. He assumed the position on Nov. 1. Prior to joining Cal Poly, Turner has experience with computerized accounting and financial management systems.

He served as manager of cost systems and analysis for the Hyland division of Baxter Labs from 1970 to 1976.

Turner was employed as accounting manager and director of financial accounting for two food service firms and has also had accounting experience in both the cosmetics manufacturing and electronics research and development fields.

In addition to his business and industry background, he teaches accounting at West Coast University evenings.

Three PITZER COLLEGE professors will attend the 75th annual meeting of the American Anthropological Association in Washington, D.C., Nov. 17-21.

Chairing a symposium on "Intra-Cultural Variation and Early Childhood Socialization," Susan Seymour-Graham, assistant professor of anthropology, also will deliver a paper entitled "Size and Composition of Household in Relation to the Indulgence of Children in India."

Donald Brennels, assistant professor of anthropology, has organized and is chairing a symposium on verbal strategies in political and legal contexts. As part of the symposium, he also will deliver a paper on "Conflict and Communication in a Fiji Indian Village."

Also attending the meeting, David Thomas, assistant professor of anthropology, will present a paper titled "Residence in Fertility."

NEW L. L. FIELD — CPO Tom Banner of the Navy Construction Battalion Reserves in San Bernardino turns over the first shovel of dirt for a new Little League field in Greenbelt Park, Upland. City officials, Little League representatives and potential baseball players joined the groundbreaking ceremony held at the park.

Community program provides for new Little League fields

Upland Little League teams will be able to play on new fields at Greenbelt Park next spring thanks to a community cooperative program.

Groundbreaking was held recently for the diamonds for Little League and Little League seniors at the new park, located between 13th and 15th streets east of Benson Avenue.

The city dedicated the land and assisted with the designing of the fields. Seabees from the Navy Construction Battalion will do the actual construction of the field and the facilities. They will use equipment provided and transported by Pascal and Ludwig, Inc., engineering firm of Upland.

The cost of fuel and other expenses will be paid for by the Upland Little League association.

Fred Taunton, recreation director, said development of the fields would not have been possible at this time without community support because of budget limitations.

A girls' softball field is also being constructed in the park. But, Taunton said, it is doubtful that this field will be completed in time for spring play.

Also planned for the park within the next year or two are four tennis courts, curbs and gutters, an irrigation system and landscaping.

Long-term plans for the park include a community center and picnic areas.

Two area students named recipients of scholarships

Conception Aguilar, Claremont, and Hector Sandoval, Rowland Heights, have been named recipients of the Marie T. Mills and Leland J. Mills Scholarships at Mt. San Antonio College.

Mrs. Aguilar has been a member of the Mexican American Club, (MECHA), and has served as its representative to the college's Affirmative Action Committee. She has also worked as a member of the steering committee for the MSAC Women's Caucus. In her community, she has served as board member of the Chicano Unity Council and as chairman of the youth component of the council.

A sociology and business major, the mother of two has maintained a 4.0 grade point average. When she graduates in June, she plans to continue her studies at Pitzer College, Claremont.

Sandoval is a biology major and hopes to continue his education at the University of California at Irvine in medical research, specializing in children's diseases.

He has been an active member of MECHA, Alpha Gamma Sigma, the scholastic honor society, the cross country and the track and field teams at the college.

A graduate of Salesian High School, Sandoval has attended East Los Angeles College and Northrup Institute of Technology. The military veteran and father of two carries a 3.5 grade point average at MSAC.

The scholarships were founded five years ago by former MSAC president Marie Mills and her husband, Leland, to encourage students' citizenship and leadership on and off campus. The MSAC scholarship committee makes the selections based on the nominees' scientific, governmental, spiritual and social involvement in and improvement of community life.

Five from valley attend conference on the handicapped

Five delegates from the valley will be among the 200 delegates from California who will attend the California Conference on Handicapped Individuals Thursday through Saturday at the Hyatt House Hotel at Los Angeles International Airport.

Attending from Casa Colina Hospital for Rehabilitive Medicine will be Sally Grove, community relations coordinator, David Fishman, member of the board, and Lenore Hersh, director of recreational therapy.

Also attending will be Grace Stipanuk, Bruce Hillam, and Bob Segalman, all of whom are members of the California Association of Physically Handicapped.

The California conference is a prelude to the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals to be held next May. Recommendations and plans by the state conference on such issues as health, social, economic and educational concerns will be the basis for the national assessment of needs of handicapped individuals.

The White House Conference will then present final recommendations to Congress and the President for implementation.

Japanese OK 50% hike in rail fares, phone rates

TOKYO (AP) — Parliament has approved an average 50.3 per cent fare increase for the national railway and a 50 per cent boost in telephone and telegraph charges. It then ended a special session.

An election for the powerful 491-member House of Representatives will be held Dec. 5. The four-year term of the present members expires Dec. 9.

The Liberal-Democrats, rocked by the Lockheed payoffs scandal and internal bickering over Prime Minister Takeo Miki's leadership, now have 264 seats in the House.

The railway fare increase takes effect Saturday and the telephone and telegraph boost Nov. 15.

What's going on around here

ESAA committee to meet

Members of Pomona's Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) District Advisory Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 in the ESAA Multi-cultural Center at San Jose Elementary School.

Parents and committee members will be shown materials, functions and services of the center which opened last year in Room 5 at the school.

All district schools and the parochial schools in the ESAA project may use the center, which is operated by ESAA's History and Culture of Minorities Component.

An election of a new co-chairperson and two vice chairpersons is on the agenda.

Mexican folkloric dancing

The Montclair Recreation Department will offer instruction in Mexican folkloric dancing for intermediate and advanced students in a seven-week session beginning Thursday.

The classes for ages six to 18 will be held at the Recreation Shuffleboard Building in the Civic Center. Intermediate students will meet from 4 to 4:45 p.m. and advanced students will meet from 5 to 5:45 p.m.

Registration will be taken by instructor Donna Rodriguez at the first meeting. There is a fee of $15 for the session.

Miss Rodriguez has been dancing for 12 years. She is a member of the Roberta Regalado Dance Troupe which has performed at numerous festivals and fairs.

'Crazy auction' tonight

The Walnut Elementary School Community Club will hold a "crazy auction" tonight from 7:30 to 9:30 in the multipurpose room of the Walnut school.

Dean and Keith Cullum of Pomona will serve as auctioneers. Local businessmen are donating the gifts. Persons wishing to donate an item in good condition for auction should take it to the school, 476 Lemon Rd., Walnut.

There will be refreshments for all. All proceeds will go for development of the Media Center for the school.

Emerson PTA meets tonight

Emerson Junior High School PTA in Pomona will meet tonight at 7:30 in the school library.

There will be a short business meeting at which the nominating committee will be selected. The program for the evening will be a panel discussion on "The Law and You." Panel members will be Principal Nils Stamps, a Pomona Police Department resource officer and a parent attorney. The audience may question the panel.

China film shown

"Barefoot Doctors," a documentary film about current medical practices in the People's Republic of China, will be shown Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Friends Quaker Meeting House, 727 W. Harrison Ave., Claremont.

The film will be offered free to the public by the U.S.-China People's Friendship Association. Refreshments will be served and there will be a question and answer period following the film.

Immunizations available

Immunizations against 10-day measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough will be available free Wednesday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Pomona Health Center, 750 S. Park Ave., Pomona.

Persons attending the clinic are requested to bring all previous immunization records so they may be reviewed to determine which immunizations are required.

Children must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

A high blood pressure testing clinic for adults will be held during the same hours. Special nutrition information will be presented about dietary problems related to high blood pressure.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 623-6811, ext. 528.

Pomonan receives promotion

Former Pomona resident Robert A. Erickson has been named a zone manager for the Combined Insurance Co. of America.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne C. Erickson, 1746 Russell Place, Pomona.

In his new position, he is responsible for supervising sales and service to Combined's life insurance policyholders in southern Wisconsin.

Erickson, 36, joined Conbined in 1966 as a sales representative in the company's accident and health department. He earned four promotions in this department before transferring to the company's national executive staff — life insurance department. From the national executive staff, he was promoted to his present position.

Accountants to meet

James E. Jensen, president of the 15,000-member California Society of Certified Public Accountants, will discuss major issues concerning the CPA profession at a meeting of the Citrus Belt Chapter on Dec. 2 at El Rancho Verde Country Club, Rialto, at 6:30 p.m.

He will cover possible solutions to the increasing CPA liability, voluntary quality control for CPA firms, ethics enforcement, and improved Society continuing education programs.

Posadas committee

Katherine Thompson, president of the Friends of the Upland Library, has appointed the committee for this year's Posadas.

Members are Julia Arias, chairman, Althea Correll, and library board member Raquel Sandoval.

Bilingual classes from Upland Elementary School will participate again this year. The procession will occur Dec. 15, starting on Second Avenue at 6 p.m. and ending with the breaking of the three pinatas on the mall in front of the Upland library.

Teachers in charge are Andrew R. Hernandez, Pat Wolfe, Donna Chadwick and Natalie Cruzen.

Advisory committee to meet

Members of the advisory Committee of the San Gabriel Valley Regional Center will meet Wednesday from 7 to 10 p.m. at 250 E. Harrison Ave., Pomona.

The regional center serves the developmentally disabled.

Medi-Cal rates to nursing homes increase

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

Medi-Cal rates to nursing homes and intermediate care facilities are increasing by about 90 cents per day per patient.

The entire amount will go to increasing wages, according to a local spokesman for nursing homes.

C. Allen "Chuck" Braswell, secretary-treasurer of the San Gabriel Valley Chapter of the California Association of Health Facilities, said the emergency measure, which his group has been working for, coincides with the increase in the state minimum wage.

"Of the 90 cents, about 61 cents will be used to bring the lowest-paid employes up to the new state minimum. The remaining 29 cents will be used for small step increases for other employes," Braswell said.

He added that while the new regulations became effective on Oct. 18, most nursing homes will not receive their first increased funding until near the end of December because of billing procedures.

State Health Director Jerome Lackner said that if the state had failed to raise the rates many facilities would refuse to accept Medi-Cal patients in the future.

He said the new rates, affecting the salaries of 75,000 employes in the state, depend to a degree on the size of the facility.

The rate for nursing homes with fewer than 60 beds rose from $23.28 per patient per day to $24.18; those with 60 to 99 beds from $21.44 to $22.34, and those with 100 or more from $20.51 to $21.41.

"The increase will certainly help the morale of the employes, and that's very important," said Braswell, "But it will not increase services or help the nursing homes meet their spiraling expenses."

Braswell said the state has approved legislation granting additional funding to nursing homes after the first of the year. This funding is designated entirely to added personnel and to personnel training.

"Then we will be able to increase some nursing and other services to the patients," added the operator of four nursing homes in the valley.

Braswell said that many nursing homes are having problems staying solvent.

Braswell said that at Esperonza Center operated by his company in Claremont, there was a $2,000 operating loss in September.

"This occurs because the facility is primarily a rehabilitation center and Medi-Cal does not cover the costs of the physical therapists, speech therapists and other specialists we employ."

Braswell said that some of the cost of operating most nursing homes fall more on the shoulders of the private pay patients. He added that the average rates for private-pay patients in valley convalescent hospitals is between $23 and $28 per day for a double-occupancy room.

Medi-Cal payments are based upon occupancy in a three-bed ward.

Braswell added that the basic costs do not include special nurses, private rooms or many additional services which can be provided.

He added that the valley is overbuilt as far as the number of beds is concerned.

"We could get by with some 150 less beds in the community," he said, "since the facilities need to have about 90 per cent occupancy to operate in the black."

Braswell explained that the nursing home business really boomed during the 1960s when Medical Aid for the Aged (MAA) came into operation by the government.

"The need for nursing homes had always existed, but the financing had not," he said.

The director of nursing homes said that most of the facilities meet all of the state standards and are doing a very good job of caring for the elderly, the mentally disturbed and the handicapped.

"Of the 418 nursing homes in Los Angeles County, only five or six have been accused of legal or criminal activities.

"But this one per cent has cast a negative shadow over the industry as a whole," Braswell added.

With increased expenses, the nursing facilities still face many problems but, according to Braswell, the emergency regulations allowing for the pay increases for employes and the forthcoming funds for increased personnel proves that state legislators are aware of the need for adequate health care facilities.

GRAND PRIX RACE SET

Allen Mae, a paraplegic, tries out a race car equipped with hand controls as he talks with Jo Anne Toadvine, national chairman of Help Them Walk Again Foundation, and Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire. The foundation will benefit from a 600-lap marathon race Nov. 19 and 20 at the Grand Prix Driving Course in Pomona. The 24-hour program will include entertainment by Ricky Nelson, Les Brown Jr. and Bill Dana plus the Ontario 500 Race queen and her court. Merchants are now being solicited to support the various race teams.

Pomona council remains silent on wage dispute

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Pomona City Council Monday night issued no word on whether it will accept the arbitration findings handed down last week in the city's wage dispute with its miscellaneous employes' union.

Although the council met in executive session for the better part of an hour, during which the wage fight is presumed to have been the topic of discussion, the council members made no public comment on the matter and adjourned without action.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce stated last week that the arbitration findings, which have been accepted by a majority of the union members, would cost the city about $350,000.

It is expected that meetings between city representatives and negotiators for Local 660 of the Service Employes International Union, AFL-CIO, will be held this week in an attempt to settle the issue.

About 340 city workers are represented by the union, which does not include policemen or firemen.

In other city business Monday night, the council found itself unable to decide where in Pomona adult bookstores and adult movie houses should be permitted.

A recommendation from the city's Planning Commission had suggested that since the city cannot forbid the existence of such business, they should be allowed only north of the Union Pacific Railroad tracks and south of Holt Avenue between Hamilton Boulevard and Towne Avenue, generally.

The recommendation also suggested that such businesses be required to have off-street paved and lighted parking, plus landscaping.

Councilmembers, primarily Councilman Benjamin Ochoa and Mayor Ray Lepire, were relunctant to make an immediate decision because of reservations over the proposed boundaries of the permitted area.

Councilman Adrian Wright suggested that a smaller, special zone be set up for "dirty bookstores."

The council finally voted to extend the moratorium against new bookstores for another four months while further consideration of the matter is given.

Although members of the council have not said so bluntly, the idea behind the proposed special zone and requirements is to make opening such a business too difficult and too expensive to be worth the effort.

Oppose building of homes, shopping center

D.B. residents stall development

A proposal to build 317 homes and a neighborhood shopping center in West Diamond Bar may be aborted by opposition of residents in the neighborhood.

A request for zone changes that would allow the development came up for hearing before the Regional Planning Commission in Los Angeles but decision was postponed Monday due to the objection of the residents.

More than 30 persons from Walnut and Diamond Bar told the commission at the hearing that the new development would have an adverse effect on their neighborhoods. They said the additional homes would create more traffic, would be a burden on the schools and would create too much density.

Spokesmen for the developer, Presley of Southern California, headquartered at Newport Beach, were willing to leave off the shopping center and to increase the size of their lots to cut the density, but still the neighbors continued to object.

They said that when they bought their homes they were told that the land to the south of them would remain undeveloped. They admitted that if the larger homes are built and the shopping center is dropped they would have a weak case, but pointed out that neither the traffic flow, nor classrooms were geared for the additional residents.

The proposed subdivision is located west of Lemon Street and south of Colima Road on 109 acres of land adjacent to a 456-acre parcel on which 1,761 homes are proposed. That subdivision also is opposed by the homeowners.

The county's planning department said it would be several weeks before decisions would be reached on the two proposals.

D.B. boy committed to CYA after plea of guilty in murder

A 15-year-old Diamond Bar boy who pleaded guilty to murder in the slaying July 26 of Pomona grocer Howard R. Reese, 65, has been committed to the custody of the California Youth Authority.

The youth, who was not identified because of his age, pleaded guilty recently in Los Angeles Juvenile Court. He was ordered confined first at the CYA facility in Norwalk for psychiatric examination.

A second youth charged in the slaying, 17-year-old Miguel Perez, of Pomona, is awaiting preliminary hearing of the murder charge in Pomona Municipal Court after having been ruled unfit for consideration as a juvenile at another hearing in Los Angeles Juvenile Court.

The victim, assistant manager of the Lucky Star Market at 1600 W. Mission Blvd. in Pomona, was shot to death and his body dumped into a ravine near Claude Osteen Park. Investigators said he was killed because the robbers feared he recognized them. Reese lived in Anaheim. His wife reported him missing to Anaheim police the night before his body was discovered in the ravine.

Montclair study near completion

The City of Montclair is nearing completion of the first phase of a study of the sphere of influence area just outside the city limits.

Rosalie Davilos, assistant planner for the city, reported to the Montclair Planning Commission Monday night that staff is expected to have the first phase of the unincorporated area special study printed by Friday. The next step will be a community meeting to be held at Ramona Elementary School, 4225 E. 9th St.

Phase one involves identifying existing conditions and problems in the zone of influence, Miss Davilos reported. The staff will cooperate with the school and PTA in disseminating that information to the residents of the area.

According to the input from area residents, the first phase report will be revised. The date of the community meeting will be announced later.

Scabies reported, but not serious

There have been a number of cases of scabies reported in the valley, but not to a point where it could be considered an epidemic, Pomona Health Center officials report.

Scabies is a skin disease caused by a tiny parasite which burrows into the skin to lay its eggs. The parasite is less than one-fiftieth of an inch long and can be seen only through a magnifying glass, according to Jean Ann Scott of the health department.

The disease causes such intense itching that it is extremely uncomfortable, especially at night when the itching appears to be worse.

Scabies is spread when some of the parasites leave one person's body and bore into the skin of another. It can be passed through handshaking, close physical contact and from bedclothing.

The scratching caused by scabies can lead to secondary skin infections.

Preventive methods include a daily inspection of the skin, good hygiene including a daily bath and change of clothes, frequent changing of bed linens and good housekeeping, especially in closets and drawers or other dark locations.

All contaminated clothes and linens should be washed in boiling water, Mrs. Scott said.

Any person who suspects that he has scabies should go to a doctor, the health center or a hospital clinic when the disease first appears.

The treatment is effective and will destroy all the parasites in the skin.

Mrs. Scott says that when one person has scabies, all those sharing the same house or working area should be examined by a doctor.

Chino man hurt when car overturns

A Chino man was injured seriously Monday night when his car overturned on the empty parking lot at Gemco, 1955 N. Indian Hill Blvd., in Pomona.

The victim, Michael Donnan, 31, was trapped beneath his Jeep when it overturned, but was freed by bystanders prior to the arrival of fire department rescue equipment. Department paramedics gave him first aid before he was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital and transferred later to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Fontana. He suffered a serious foot injury when the vehicle pinned him to the pavement. His condition at the hospital this morning was termed serious.

Police said Donnan was driving the car containing three passengers when the accident occurred. They said the car was accelerating across the lot when Donnan turned it and it overturned. The others, Randal Hosch, 19, Montclair, Richard A. Schlott, 22, Fullerton, and Ralph P. Garcia, 28, Monrovia, escaped injury. Gemco is closed Monday

Swine flu shots now being offered

All persons over 18 years of age are eligible for the swine flu shots now being offered in community clinics.

After the vaccine is administered approximately two weeks are required for the body to build up a sufficient level of protection against the specific flu viruses contained in the vaccine, according to Dr. Annabel Teberg, medical director, San Gabriel Valley Health Services Region.

Scheduled Wednesday from 5 to 8 p.m. are clinics at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, 1798 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, and Suzanne Intermediate School, 525 Suzanne Road, Walnut.

On Thursday, the clinics will be at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church, 550 W. Harrison Ave., Claremont, and Pomona Health Center, 750 S. Park Ave., Pomona, from 5 to 8 p.m.

A Saturday and Sunday clinic is planned at Upland High School, 565 W. 11th St., Upland, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. both days.

Ontario woman dies of injuries

A 19-year-old Ontario woman, critically injured in a traffic accident on Oct. 16, died early Monday morning at Doctors Hospital in Montclair.

The woman, Nancy Freeman, 525 W. Nevada St., was admitted to the Montclair hospital shortly after the traffic accident. She had suffered severe head and internal injuries.

Police said that Miss Freeman's car, eastbound on Holt Avenue, was struck broadside by a car driven by William Burke, 18, of 12940 Ninth St., Chino.

Burke was arrested on suspicion of felony drunk driving at the time of the accident and booked in the West End Jail.

Police said further charges may be pending in the accident.

Veterans' Day program slated

A Veterans' Day program will be presented Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the Pomona Education Center, sponsored by the Pomona Avenue of Flags Committee.

Various fraternal, civic and youth groups will participate, including the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2018, which will present a Parade of the Court of Flags.

Ontario man found dead

An Ontario man was found dead early Monday near the Memorial Park in Upland, apparently the victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, said a deputy coroner.

He was identified as Desi Marconi, 65, of 1506 Humboldt Ave. A small revolver was found beside his body. Officers said he had been despondent over recent medical problems.

Burning food causes fire

Burning food caused $2,500 fire damage to a home at 573 E. Jefferson Ave., Pomona.

The fire at the home owned by Rudy Lima started by unattended cooking materials on the stove, according to the Pomona Fire Department. The flames spread to the wall and vent above the stove and later to the attic. Firemen arrived at 3:18 p.m. after a call from neighbor Susan Johnson.

There was heavy smoke damage to the kitchen and porch and some fire damage to the attic.

Rape suspect is dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charges against an accused rapist have been dismissed because a sheriff's detective allegedly bugged a conference between the man and his attorney at the sheriff's substation in Carson.

Municipal Judge Gilbert Alston ordered dismissal of the case against Lonnie B. Wilson, 20, of Culver City, when Wilson appeared Monday for a preliminary hearing on charges of raping a 13-year-old girl last Sept. 30.

Officials said Deputy Ray Salazar, accused of planting a listening device and making a tape recording of Wilson's meeting with his attorney, has been relieved of duty pending further investigation.

Arms sales are policy

Over the past 15 years, the "arsenal of democracy" has changed its arms supply policy from that of giver to seller. U.S. arms sales to foreign nations have jumped from around $500 million prior to 1961 to nearly $18 billion in 1976.

This situation has been a subject of congressional concern on the one hand and has solved a number of problems on the other, says David J. Louscher, assistant professor of political science at the University of Akron.

Writing in "Orbis," a foreign policy quarterly, he lists some of the reasons why Foreign Military Sales — FMS — has become such big business:

It helps with the balance of payments deficit.

It is an alternative to the constant policy of giving aid to other countries, which has upset many congressmen over the years.

It is a means for nations to contribute to their own defense, in line with the "Nixon Doctrine" of the late 1960s that in the future, the U.S. will not aid foreign countries by sending troops but will help with equipment either purchased for cash or with low-interest loans.

For our allies, FMS is a means to upgrade European defense systems and help the Europeans contribute to the cost of the NATO alliance.

For underdeveloped countries, the U.S. looks to FMS as a means of establishing regional power balances, maintaining influence in the area and — ironically — controlling arms races.

In domestic terms, FMS helps to reduce the need of American manpower overseas, reduces our overall defense costs and, not least, is a means of subsidizing and assisting economically desperate defense industries.

In that regard, Louscher notes that between 1962 and 1967, FMS provided $1 billion in profits to American industry and 1.4 million man hours of work for American labor.

Despite growing congressional criticism of the extent of Foreign Military Sales, there is little chance the program will be dismantled, Louscher believes.

Rather, this criticism represents a recognition by Congress that FMS has become our primary foreign policy instrument, that an arms sale decision in many parts of the world IS the foreign policy of the United States and that if Congress wishes to play a major role in foreign policy it will have to maintain greater control over arms sales.

What's good for the geese

Dear Editor:

Thanks to the letter published Sunday from the "Senior Citizens" who wrote about their "100 per cent" support of the Pomona School Board. It is gratifying to read how this couple have the honesty to state their 19th century malthusian views. An "oversupply of teachers" and the supply and demand mechanism means to this magnanimous couple that teachers should be paid and treated in reverse ratio to their numbers. This is indeed a formula that most Americans including those now employed and the elderly would not accept.

This formula would mean that all those now employed in jobs that could be filled by the unemployed should accept a reduction in salaries and working conditions. The retired or working senior citizens certainly will agree that their numbers exceed the demand for them, in the view of too many Americans. Applying the supply and demand formula to senior citizens would result in a reduction of their salaries and retirement benefits.

It should become evident that what's good for the geese is good for the ganders. You could not in fairness apply a supply and demand formula, an inhumane anachronism when applied to people, to only teachers. They are people too and can claim the same rights that other American workers have won in the past 40 years.

I wonder if the Pomona School Board welcomes the support of these "Senior Citizens." With supporters like these, who needs enemies?

Abolish the unions

Dear Editor:

A few weeks ago, when city employes went union, I predicted exactly what they are demanding now. Why don't we the taxpayers tell the unions where to put it. The unions were good at a time when the worker was exploited. The reverse is now true and it is time to abolish them before they ruin the country.

The union bosses know what they want in every town in America, Pomona included. They want what they have in New York City, where they crippled an almost bankrupt city with one strike after another. They want what they have in San Francisco, where after an illegal strike by police and other workers sneered at clergymen's pleas to do something about roving gangs doing their thing and later a union official praised the strikers "for the way you kept this city in turmoil until our demands were met."

Let's tell the unions where to hang it. In the private sector of business, small companies are going under every day due to excessive wage demands. And even more frightening is the possibility that in 1977, both the Congressional majority and the president will owe their election to big labor.

Remember the strike that left thousands of tons of fruit rotting a few weeks back? Farm Bureau President Alan F. Grant couldn't have said it better when he stated: "When have you ever seen a report from a consumer 'protection' group (by any name) pointing out the increased living costs to all consumers caused by union featherbedding, make-work rules or excessive wage demands without increased productivity?"

What are we going to do about it? As for me, I will tell them where to go. If they are so dissatisfied why not quit and let a real worker obtain a job, and they can start their own business and find out how nice it is.

Just in jest

Despite all of today's political arguments, there are some theories of government on which all Americans are in complete agreement. They believe implicitly in the Constitutional Rights as outlined by our Founding Fathers. Whether they are Republicans or Democrats, they insist they are entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness — so long, of course, as it is their lives, their liberties and their happiness which are involved. — What's more, they also agree perfectly on an individual's right to freedom of speech — as long as they are the ones who are doing the talking.

Sacramento scene

Government out of control

Ray Procunier, the fellow who the Senate wouldn't confirm as chief of the state parole agency because he was "too soft" on criminals, is back in the headlines. This time, as chief deputy of the Health Department, he emerges as the "tough guy." Picked by Gov. Jerry Brown to clean up the mess which erupted in the state mental hospitals, he has also been given the job of coping with a worse scandal, the administration of prepaid health plans.

A "take charge" guy, Procunier has been prompt in making his presence known. Ordering sweeping investigations of both the hospitals and the prepaid health plans, he also has called for a review of the functions of the multitude of middle management employees. In exerting his authority he has issued instructions barring underlings from direct contact with the department's director. Dr. Jerome Lackner, and legislators, without his approval.

While such an edict may seem tyrannical to the public, the adherence to "chain of command" principles is standard in governmental administration according to the best textbooks. And, although Procunier will take some flack for having "laid down the law" he could not hope to bring any order to the chaotic department without tightening the reins.

Lackner, a medical man who demonstrates a refreshing independence from the staid positions of the medical establishment, frankly admits administration is not his long suit. It was that which brought Procunier into the act. Lackner needn't have been so quick to confess his shortcoming for the gigantic department would tax the abilities of the most capable executive.

The department superseded the Department of Public Health, running all the programs of the former as well as all those of the Mental Hygiene Department whose state hospitals were merged with the new organization. Additionally the prepaid health plans are under its jurisdiction. Altogether it is responsible for some 100 health programs. Its employees number more than 23,000 and its budget runs into several billions.

If that boggles the mind consider the overall Health and Welfare Agency of which the Health Department is only a component. Under this broad umbrella, presided over by Mario Obledo, is also contained the vast empires of both the former Employment and Social Welfare departments. Add another 23,000 employees and several more billions of dollars.

This monstrous bureaucracy is a legacy of former Gov. Ronald Reagan. It is an irony that the man who campaigned both for governor and the presidency as a foe of big government permitted the creation of by far the biggest agency the state has known. It was Reagan who said government "left to itself, will grow beyond the control of the people." But the Health-Welfare Agency was the brainchild of Dr. Earl Brian who, like Lackner, was a medical man without administrative experience. Despite that Reagan installed him in office and permitted him to merge the several departments into one unit under his control.

Sen. Barry Goldwater devoted his book "The Breaking Point" to a treatise on the evils of "gargantuan federal power." Government agencies have grown so big they are beyond the control of the bureaucrats. The same is happening in state government.

Procunier could do no greater service than recommending the dismantling of the present Health-Welfare Agency into smaller independent and more manageable units.

He need look no further for authority to cite than the eminent government scholar, Professor C. Northcote Parkinson who said, "There is a proportionate size which goes to maximum efficiency and all our institutions tend to exceed it."

Loss of self-esteem

Americans are retiring earlier and enjoying it less.

At the start of 1962, reports the American Council of Life Insurance, only 16.3 per cent of retired workers collecting Social Security had retired before the age of 65. At the start of 1976, that percentage had risen to 55.6 per cent.

Yet most Americans look forward to retirement "with all the enthusiasm of a candy addict on his way to the dentist," says the same organization on the basis of a national survey it conducted.

Only 22 per cent of the people questioned went along wholeheartedly with the idea that retirement can be equated with a life of carefree leisure. Far more — 74 per cent — agreed with the statement that "most people don't have enough money to do what they want in retirement."

Along with economic considerations, feelings of self-esteem are also involved. Asked if they thought that "retirement makes a person feel useless." 48 per cent said they believed this entirely and another 36 per cent agreed somewhat.

"It's better to keep working than to retire at a fixed age" was another survey statement that received general approval, with 46 per cent agreeing entirely and another 30 per cent agreeing somewhat.

Think on these things

If someone took our hand and asked us to come walk along the world and view the wonders so magnificently displayed — If by some miracle we could see the vastness of it all . . . and still bear up under the beauty of it . . .

If we could see the rolling rise and fall of the land . . . the purple, pink and golden hues of shadows hung along the mountain sides . . . If our ears could hear the music of the rippling streams, the rushing waters . . . the graceful falls . . .

If by some mere chance we could sense the ebb and flow . . . the pushing and relaxing of the tides . . . the rising and setting of the sun . . . the glittering stars and soft-faced moon . . .

If we can see all of this . . . How then, can we doubt that here is the world that God created as good . . . is good . . . for this is our Land — and only we can make it bad.

Reagan to stage comeback

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan's great moment, as he came close to displacing an incumbent president before a wildly cheering Republican convention last August won't be his last hurrah. The darling of the conservatives is quietly planning a political comeback.

The plans took focus as Reagan dutifully campaigned for the man who had defeated him for the presidential nomination. At first, he flirted with the idea of forming a third party if President Ford lost the election. But he rejected this idea as impractical.

Instead, he persuaded himself that he could use the GOP framework to restructure the party into a conservative bastion. He has decided to try, therefore, to Reaganize the Republican Party.

Reagan has confided his plans to a few intimates, who are rarin' to begin the new crusade. "We came out of Kansas City with 3,000 trained workers," one associate told us. "Our lists are intact. We've got tenative meetings in mind for December and January."

One meeting would be held in the West, perhaps Phoenix, the other in the South. "Count on it, Ronald Reagan will be an activist," promised the associate.

Another top aide from the Reagan campaign pointed out that the charismatic former California governor unquestionably is the spiritual leader of the conservatives. Two other national conservative leaders, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R.-Ariz., and Sen. John Tower, R.-Tex., lost a lot of their credibility with conservatives by supporting President Ford at the Republican convention, the aide said.

A third Reagan lieutenant, while not ruling out a final shot at the White House by the 65-year-old Reagan, suggested that they might merely build a base for a younger candidate to pick up the conservative banner. Indeed, our source indicated that a search has already begun for a bright, tough, young conservative whom Reagan might groom for the GOP nomination in 1980.

Reagan's friends told us that his decision to forego a placid private life and return to the political turmoil was reached in the middle of the Ford-Carter campaign.

Reagan made more than 25 campaign appearances ostensibly to help Ford but more pointedly to push conservative Republicans who had risked their political necks to support him against an incumbent.

Reagan sensed that the hysteria of past conservative revivals had been replaced by a more stable affection and trust for their spiritual leader. At the same time, he felt that the president was blurring some of the issues in an appeal to the amorphous middle-of-the-road voters. So Reagan decided to try to give the electorate a cold, clean choice in 1980.

PARTY GIRLS — This is a postscript to the sex-in-Washington scandals. The Republicans used the issue against the Democrats during the campaign. For most of the congressmen who had been caught dallying had been Democrats.

At the Election Night gala for Gerald Ford and Bob Dole, the Republican hordes listened to speeches in the main ballroom of Washington's Sheraton-Park Hotel about the moral decay of the Democratic Congress.

But in the hospitality suites upstairs, visiting Republican bigwigs freely partook of the same moral decay. We sent our reporter Howard Rosenberg to check out the reports of partying in the Republican bedroom suites.

Posing as a campaign celebrant from the Midwest, he followed the joyous sounds to a lush suite where a party was hosted by a Ford Committee contractor.

The happy host led guests to various party girls, urging each girl, in turn, to "take care of my friend." The women then headed with the guests to hotel bedrooms. Inside the suite, meanwhile, the liquor supply seemed inexhaustible.

One of the party girls confided to Rosenberg that she and her friends were paid a flat fee for their night's work. She also offered another confession. Although they were prettily adorned with Ford-Dole campaign buttons, she whispered, most of the girls had voted for Jimmy Carter.

Our Man in Washington

No mandate for Carter

By TERRY WADE
PB Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Americans across the land, those of us who weren't already asleep, waited anxiously early Wednesday morning as Jimmy Carter's electoral college count hovered just one state short of the needed 270 votes.

We waited patiently, glued to the television sets or wire machines, while first the United Press International declared Carter the winner, then the Associated Press.

Finally, at almost exactly 3:30 a.m., NBC declared Carter the winner. ABC followed suit almost immediately, but still we waited.

Until Walter Cronkite and CBS said it was so none of us moved, not the supporters, not the advisors, not the candidates.

When Walter finally looked into the camera and told us Mississippi would indeed be a Carter state, pushing him over the needed 270 electoral votes we finally believed.

The President-elect soon was paraded out in Atlanta to call for unity. His running mate in Minnesota, Sen. Walter Mondale predicted "President Carter" would be one of the great Presidents of all time.

But Mondale, probably unwittingly, hit upon a note of caution when he said "we'll need your help."

Despite returning majorities of Democrats, almost two-to-one, in both bodies of Congress, Carter may not find being President easy.

If he had won by an overwhelming margin and had he demonstrated a vote attracting ability that rubbed off on congressional candidates he could look forward to a long honeymoon.

The truth is he narrowly won and the evidence indicates he did very little to help maintain the Democratic superiority in the Congress.

When he goes before the House and Senate with his reform ideas he may find, like Gerald Ford has learned, that congressional leaders have different ideas.

It may be especially true now that easy going House Speaker Carl Albert is gone, replaced by a more ambitious and aggressive Tip O'Neal.

The combination of a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President is intriguing. We all hope the blend results in something worthwhile for the country.

But, be cautious. Do not expect too much too soon. Not only does Carter have to learn the ropes, but President Carter will have to learn just how strong he is — and, how strong Congress is.

Mouse hides out in boot

DEAR DR. MILLER: My mouse, Clickit, is doing the same thing that Ferdy did before he died. She's spending all her time in the boot and doesn't come out to play or anything. Before it's too late, how do I tell if she's just being stubborn or is really sick? — N.S.

DEAR N.S.: Burying herself in the boot could be a preliminary to the real thing, or it could simply mean she's seeking total peace and quiet. This would be particularly appropriate during daylight hours. Remember, she's nocturnal. If she's not active at night, either, and certainly if she's not eating well, then a quick checkup (by her doctor) to determine just what's happening is indicated. Remember, one of the best home indicators for determining potentially serious pet problems is a sudden loss of weight. In Clickit's case, and most other pets, too, even larger ones, the best way to determine this is to know the weight of the animal when it's perfectly well so you have that to compare with a weigh-in when your pet's in a potentially puny period.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Early last summer, our miniature poodle, Randy, was snatched from our car. A very liberal reward helped us get him back, but we don't intend to have to pay another ransom. We're now raising a German shepherd guard dog who's going to be with him night and day. I think if others followed this practice, there'd be fewer dognappers getting by with it. They wouldn't dare try. If you want to print this suggestion, it's OK. — S.E.,J.F.

DEAR S.E., J.F.: While your current combo could dissuade some dognappers, others better prepared might be more likely to try to get both dogs in one "napping." Actually, guard dogs such as German shepherds and dobermans are the type most often stolen for reward or resale purposes. The technique which turns these canine tigers into tame tabbies is, naturally enough, to use a female dog in heat as bait.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I have a young Siamese who seems to be cross-eyed sometimes. Will she outgrow it? Will it hurt her? She seems to see all right. — A.B.

DEAR A.B.: Selective breeding has reduced what was once a common problem with Siamese. She isn't likely to outgrow the condition, but since she's compensating well already, there's every reason to expect that your cross-eyed cat can cope well with it in the future.

Thought

This charge I commit to you, Timothy, my son, in accordance with the prophetic utterances which pointed to you, that inspired by them you may wage the good warfare, holding faith and a good conscience. By rejecting conscience, certain persons have made shipwreck of their faith. — I Timothy 1:18, 19.

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Wednesday Nov. 10, 1976

ARIES March 21-Apr. 19) Someone of whom you think very highly could be a severe disappointment today. The blow will be considerably lessened if you allow for this person's frailties.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You tend to be a bit flirtatious today. You could unwittingly give some "come hither" signs to the wrong person. Watch where you cast your roving eye.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't feel you have to spend money today in order to impress others. The big shot role isn't worth it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have a tendency to procrastinate too much for your own good today. Tasks will be swept under the rug.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't give of yourself or your possessions today if your generosity has strings attached. The response you hope for won't be there.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's marvelous to be able to say nice things about our friends, but don't flatter the un ring.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If your ambitions were in harmony with your hopes today, you could easily wear the laurels of victory. However, it's probable you won't make the effort.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're inclined to step out of character today. Instead of seeing things realistically, you'll see them in rose-tinted hues. You could get burned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The world doesn't owe you a free ride today, though it may be hard to convince you otherwise. Don't expect to get more than you deserve.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Clandestine adventures may be particularly appealing to you today. Be careful. You could tread on a loved one's heartstrings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a possibility today that under certain conditions you could make honest to just say "no."

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In social situations today don't attempt to be anything other than what you really are. Affectations will turn others off.

Your Birthday, Nov. 10, 1976

Conditions this year will be easier for you than they have been in the past. Be sure to always keep in mind that "to waste not is to want not."

Ann Landers

Mother ruining her social life

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teenage girl with a serious problem. I am 16 and Bill is 17. We've gone together for two years. A friend of mine says I'm depriving Bill of a very important factor which he needs in order to mature. She says I should go to bed with him because he must have some sexual experience if he's going to "grow up." She also says if I deny him this he will seek it elsewhere and I will lose him.

My problem is one that concerns many young girls these days. Could you please print this letter and your answer? — Searching For Right Answers

Dear Searching: Apparently your friend has the notion that sexual experience "grows people up." She is mistaken. Some of the most sexually active people are the LEAST grown up.

The ability to postpone gratification and be in control of one's passions is a sign of maturiiy. If your boyfriend drops you because you refuse to go to bed with him, you haven't lost much, honey.

Dear Ann: I can't believe that I, a grown man with a wife and two children, am actually writing to Ann Landers. For years I've read your column for entertainment.

The problem is my mother. Two years ago the company I work for transferred me from my home town to another city. Mother is a fine person and I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world, but her visits have become more and more frequent, and of longer duration.

We cannot lead our own lives when she is here. She expects to be included in everything we do. Often it creates a problem. Mother does not wait for an invitation. She selects her own arrival and departure dates. My wife has been a good sport about this and never complains.

What's the solution, Ann? Please don't advise me to tell her how we feel. I just couldn't. — Loving But Overburdened Son

Dear L. But O.: Your last sentence rules out the only logical solution. If you don't tell her how you feel, she'll never know.

Printing this letter will not do the job. If she saw it she'd probably say to herself, "How nice that I don't have that problem. My son and his wife just love to have me — anytime."

Either you screw up your courage and level with Mama or resign yourself to the fact that as long as she lives, she will call the tune while you and your wife dance to it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old girl with a mother who is ruining my social life. She is always humiliating me in front of my friends. For example, last week she wore my brother's pants to the grocery store. They are NOT jeans — they are boy's pants which was plain to see. I ran into her on the street and was so embarrassed I wanted to die.

When I told Mom I wish she would look decent in public for my sake she said the trouble with kids today is that they are too darned mouthy and I wasn't going to tell her how to dress. What can I do about my problem? — Red Face

Dear Red: If your Mom had a nice pair of comfortable slacks maybe she wouldn't wear your brother's pants. Ask your Dad to surprise her with a gift as soon as he can afford it. If you get an allowance maybe you can help. (P.S. If this is the worst thing kids can say about you, your reputation should be very good, dear.)

Confused about what's right and what's wrong in today's "new morality"? You're not alone. If you want honest, down-to-earth information on your sex questions, read Ann Landers's new booklet, "High School Sex and How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." Send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Erma Bombeck

Scrimmage at supper table

I have found that whenever a man wants to strike back at a woman for her boredom with football, he will say, "You don't understand the game."

I understand the game. I also understand that football games last longer than some marriages.

I understand that if I have to sit through four more months of announcing news bulletins during the commercial ("PAPER TRAINING DOG 10 — MOM 0," "KIDS BEST SHOES RAINED OUT," "MOTHER-IN-LAW LAST DRAFT CHOICE SIGNS ON FOR WEEKEND") I'll go crazy.

There's only one way I know to fight back and that's on my turf. After watching four games in a row last Sunday, my husband groped his way out to the dinner table.

"Where's dinner?" he grumbled.

"Hi there, fans in the stands," I said speaking into a spatula. "We've got an exciting evening planned for you tonight, but first let's hear from our man in the freezer.

"This is Frank Sirloin here, and this is the big one we've been looking for. Erma Microwave is looking for her first winning streak in 5,356 tries and tonight it's Frozen Hamburger vs. Leftovers."

"Will you just put the food on the table?" he sighed.

"When we talked to Erma earlier, the game plan was to go outside, but since she moves pretty well inside, she's decided to go for a man-on-man situation. We'll ask her about how she expects to pick up any more yardage with the leftovers, but first we'll go to the bench where she'll fill us in on some of the injuries."

"That's cute," said my husband. "Now can we eat?"

"You may remember the string beans that received two incomplete passes at the last meal, and a package of buns that was lateraled and picked up by the dog in yesterday's luncheon scrimmage. Starting today will be the George Blanda of the team, Cottage Cheese, which may retire after today's encounter. There'll be more on injuries, but now we're getting a signal to go out on the field where 148 cheerleaders are spelling relief — that's R-O-L-A-I-D-S."

"I get the drift," he grumbled. "The meal is getting cold."

"Don't be ridiculous," I said, grabbing the plate out of his hand. "You've only had it passed under your nose once. Next time around is in slow motion, then instant replay, then stop action, now camera three so you can see it from the bottom . . . then later on the six o'clock news, and two hours from now, it will be shown again on Leftover Greats of the Century, but now ... ooops, the casserole fell to the floor. Sorry, gang, the fumble was sloppy, but it's only the first in four. . ."

It could cost me the marriage, but it was worth it.

Dr. Lamb

Worry over varicose veins

DEAR DR. LAMB — I need your advice concerning my varicose veins. I went to a surgeon this past week who specializes in varicose veins. I asked his advice on a bump that I had on a vein in my leg. He told me I should be operated on for my veins.

I would like to get someone else's opinion before going ahead and getting the operation. I never had a vein in my leg until I had my first child — now 20 years old.

My doctor who delivered my children always told me not to worry about the varicose veins because they were from pregnancy. Now after the last child (9 years old) my veins are worse.

Dr. Lamb, my baby doctor was one of the best in the field. Now I realize that he should have told me to take better care of my varicose veins or he should have told me to see a specialist in that field. Now I can't seem to have faith in what the doctor says.

I am concerned that this new doctor is only interested in operating because he is a surgeon. Do you think I should get another doctor's opinion or should I go ahead and have my veins operated on? Is it a serious operation? I know my legs would probably look a lot better.

DEAR READER — There seems to be an inherited weakness to develop varicose veins. Commonly they first appear during pregnancy. The veins in the legs drain into larger veins in the abdomen. During pregnancy the baby presses against these large veins and prevents the normal flow of blood back to the heart.

The pressure builds up in the veins and causes them to become overdistended. The tiny valves in the leg veins cease to work and you have varicose veins. They usually get worse with each succeeding pregnancy.

The lump you mention is probably what we call a "blow-out." There are connecting veins between those you see on the outside of the leg and those veins deep inside your leg. When the valves in the connecting veins fail a spot sticks out which is an enlarged spot in the vein.

What could your baby doctor have done? Probably nothing would have helped much, short of not getting pregnant. You might have gotten some help from wearing support hose or elastic stockings that increase the pressure outside the leg by helping to prevent the overdistention of the veins.

Some years ago such preventive measures were not taken. They are still not used extensiveiy. However, considering the basic nature of varicose veins — stretched veins — I think they are a good idea for anyone who has a family history of this problem. They may also be useful for any woman during pregnancy or those who must stand still for long periods of time.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins, to give you a better understanding of your problem. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

After reading The Health Letter if you still wonder about having an operation get another doctor to examine you. If your legs are not bothering you I presume you can get along without it. But if you are concerned about the appearance or are having swelling or other problems surgery is a good approach. It is not a serious operation.

Faith: results with use

A Rabbi and a soapmaker went for a walk together. The soapmaker said, "What good is religion? Look at the trouble and the misery in the world after thousands of years of religion. If religion is true, why should this be?"

The Rabbi said nothing. They continued walking until he noticed a child playing in the gutter. The child was filthy with mud and grime. The Rabbi said, "Look at that child. You say that soap makes people clean. We've had soap for generation after generation, yet look how dirty the youngster is. Of what value is soap? With all the soap in the world that child is still filthy. How effective is soap anyway?" The soapmaker protested and said, "But Rabbi, soap can't do any good unless it's used." "Exactly," replied the Rabbi, "so it is with religion."

Real spiritual power will come into your life and make you a genuinely attractive person when you use your faith in daily living.

The man who runs the 100-yard dash in nine seconds is swifter than the man who runs the 100-meter dash in 10 seconds, bear in mind.

Client asks the difference between first, second and third degree burns of the skin. Swiftest definitions maybe: Red is first, blistered is second, and charred is third.

FISHING

Q. "As I recall, you used to go fishing a lot, Louis, but did you catch many fish?"

A. Yes, unfortunately. Because that seemed to be the point then, to catch fish, which is the wrong reason, isn't it? Next time, if ever, I'll know better. Fishermen who go fishing solely to catch fish, as it were, themselves wind up hooked. They become tight lipped and squinty eyed and intensely deliberate of hand and foot. But the whole in going fishing is to get uncaught. Loose jointed, bland in thought, as casual as a cloud. Professionals excepted, sure enough. Next week expect an essay here on how the proper approach to muskrat trapping can set you free. Don't miss it!

See no reason why Gay Ray of Beeville, Texas, shouldn't qualify for membership in the "My Name Is A Poem" Club, do you?

ROCK FORMATIONS

If you've traveled through the western desert land, you've probably seen those peculiar rock formations wherein great flat boulders seem to be balanced precariously atop stone pillars. Client asks how they're formed. Most mysterious. The guessers think erosion attacks those sides of the pillars whereupon the least weight rests. As stone surface is sloughed away, the boulder overhead shifts toward that wasting side, thus compressing the stone under it, and that compression makes that side more resistant to erosion, leaving the other side of the pillar loose to permit further sloughing away. The slow teeter-totter effect is thought to stretch out over centuries.

Numerous police detectives rely on the belief that no crime is original, that each has been committed before somewhere by someone, and that all belong to one or another recognizable "modus operandi." However, said detectives are having trouble categorizing a recent report filed with the lawmen of Mountain View, Calif., where a local fellow was accused of trying to drown his wife in a waterbed. Police record rooms are not bogged down with case histories of waterbed murder attempts. On the contrary.

The Saint Bernard is a large, intelligent dog that has become famous for rescuing travelers lost in the snowy Alps of Switzerland.

These shaggy, powerful dogs got their name because they have been bred for centuries at a monastery called the Hospice of Saint Bernard, in the Alps.

At one time, there were many foot travelers who crossed the Alps through high, dangerous passes. They often lost their way or became trapped in a snowstorm or avalance.

The monks trained the Saint Bernard dogs to rescue the travelers.

With its keen sense of smell, the Saint Bernard dog could find people who were buried deep in the snow. It would dig them out and bark loudly for help.

Saint Bernard dogs don't really carry casts of brandy on their rescue missions, but warm the accident victims by licking them and lying next to them until the monks arrive to help.

Today the dogs are not used as much for rescue as they once were.

Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 9, the 314th day of 1976. There are 52 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated at the end of the World War I.

On this date —

In 1580, a force of Italians and Spaniards landed in Ireland to aid rebels.

In 1872, a fire broke out in Boston, and nearly one-thousand buildings were destroyed.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt created the Civil Works Administration to provide jobs for hundreds of thousands of unemployed young Americans.

In 1938, bands of Nazis roamed the streets of Germany, burning and destroying Jewish synagogues, homes and stores.

In 1962, the United States completed an emergency airlift of arms and ammunition to India in that country's border war with China.

In 1970, former French President Charles de Gaulle died at 79.

Ten years ago: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi took over the nation's Home ministry, which handles the police, in the aftermath of bloody riots over the slaughtering of sacred cows.

Five years ago: Forty-six Italian paratroopers and six Britons were lost when a British Air Force transport plane crashed into the sea off Leghorn, Italy.

One year ago: King Hasaan II of Morocco called off a people's march into the Spanish Sahara and said takeover of the desert territory would have to be accomplished by other means.

Today's birthdays: Former Vice President Spiro Agnew is 58. Former Ambassador Sargent Shriver is 61.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, General George Washington still was at his headquarters in endangered White Plains, N.Y., but he wrote to the Continental Congress in Philadelphia that he expected to move his forces across the Hudson River to New Jersey within hours.

Education workshops for registered nurses planned in Montclair

Two continuing education workshops for registered nurses are planned at Doctors Hospital in Montclair. Registration for both is due this week.

A workshop for nurses in psychiatric work is planned on Nov. 15 and has a registration deadline of Friday. The workshop will cover neurological problems seen in patients. It is scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The second workshop, on Nov. 23, deals with the art of nursing education. It is designed to improve the non-verbal skills of nurses involved in in-hospital nursing education. The registration deadline is Nov. 16 and the class will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Both sessions will be conducted by Madelyn Bordeaux, a registered nurse instructor.

The registration fees include luncheons. Seven units of continuing education credit are provided for nurses.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Miss Bordeaux at 611-3880, ext. 134.

CSSB prof appointed to women's commission

Dr. Carol Goss, associate professor of political science at Cal State San Bernardino has been appointed to the San Bernardino County Commission on the Status of Women by County Supervisor James L. Mayfield.

Dr. Goss fills an unexpired term which ends January 1977.

Her specialty at Cal State is the legislative process, and she teaches a class on sex in politics which is part of the college's women's study certificate program.

The commission makes recommendations to the supervisors on matters affecting women in the county. Members conduct classes on sexism in education for elementary school teachers, and they maintain records on women throughout the county who can provide services to agencies.

The commission also keeps up with state and federal legislation affecting women and looks into employment practices in the public and private sector brought to their attention which might be discriminatory.

Dr. Goss is married to Robert Goss, an artist, and they live in Wrightwood.

Archeological group to hold open house

A valley based archeological group will focus on Indians of the West when it holds its annual open house Nov. 13 at 1251 Palomares St. in La Verne.

The Archeological Survey Association of Southern California will feature prominant Southland artists as well as collections of Indian artifacts in a setting that will be admission free.

How archeologists detect and preserve the lifestyle of Indians of the past will be shown by Glen Crago, president of the organization, during a tour of the laboratories.

In the "bone lab," labeled skeletons of desert rats, porpoises, owls, coyotes, and other animals will be on view.

Desert survival information will be offered to visitors in the ethno-botany lab with samples of edible plants that were used by the Indians.

Charles La Monk, famous for his Indian portraits, will answer questions as to his technique. An exhibit by him and by artist Hattie Simpson, Lorraine York, Fern Flanagan and Sharon Allen will be displayed.

Indian style jewelry will be on sale. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Crago said teachers as well as students will find open house of particular interest for Indian studies.

The society is dedicated to the preservation of archeological artifacts, the dissemination of information and the completion of the scientific archeological survey of Southern California to salvage work endangered by indiscriminate diggings.

South's one-spade overcall was about as weak as you will ever see in good competition, but it almost got him a good result. North raised him to three spades and he would have made this contract if he hadn't run into brilliant defense.

West opened the deuce of hearts. East started the good defense by winning with the queen so that he could be sure where the king of hearts was. Then he led back his 10 of diamonds.

South covered with the jack and ducked in dummy after West played his queen. Note that if South took that trick, he would have to lost two hearts, two diamonds and a club.

Now came the crushing defensive play. West led back a low diamond. This gave South his choice of several ways to lose his contract. If he went up with dummy's ace of diamonds, he would run into those same five losers. So he let the diamond ride around to his nine spot.

Then if he tried to get to dummy with a diamond East would ruff in. If he played out his ace of spades, East would score his king so South led a club. East took his ace, put his partner in with the king of hearts and ruffed a diamond to set South that same one trick.

ONLY WELLS FARGO GUARANTEES YOUR INTEREST UNTIL AGE 60.

Wells Fargo's Golden Guarantee—guaranteed interest rate and a checking account free of monthly charges—a unique approach to individual retirement accounts for people with no employer retirement plan.

No other bank offers all this—

1. The highest legal bank interest rate paid on current deposits. Your money (up to 15% of your salary to a maximum of $1,500 a year—tax deductible) is invested in a special Golden Guarantee account that, committed for 6 years or more, currently pays you 7½% compounded daily to an annual yield of 7.79%.

2. A guaranteed interest rate. Only Wells Fargo Bank guarantees the interest rate being paid on current deposits until you reach age 60.

3. A checking account free of monthly service charges and minimum balance requirements, another Wells Fargo exclusive.

4. A tax shelter for your earnings. You pay no federal or California taxes on your deposits or the interest they earn until you begin to withdraw funds from your Golden Guarantee account.

After an initial minimum deposit of $200 or more, additional deposits must be at least $50. Federal law requires the forfeiture of three months interest and the reduction of the interest rate to that of regular passbook savings on any money withdrawn at any time other than specified in the withdrawal provision of the account. There could be a substantial IRS and California state penalty on any funds withdrawn before age 59½.

Golden Guarantee. Only Wells Fargo has it.

Organized labor election support to be rewarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the early-morning hours on the day after the elections, with the presidential race still undecided, Jimmy Carter was on the phone with George Meany telling the head of the 14-million-member AFL-CIO: "You people do good work."

Organized labor turned out its troops in what has been described as the biggest, most expensive, best organized and most sophisticated campaign ever in behalf of a presidential candidate.

Carter is likely to show his appreciation with several top-level jobs and by advocating job-creating legislation supported by labor.

The unions also have a shopping list of long-sought special interest measures dealing with bargaining rights for public employes, a stronger merchant marine, workmen's compensation standards, picketing rights for construction workers and repeal of "14B," the section of the federal Taft-Hartley Act that authorizes state right-to-work laws banning the union shop.

With the Democrats in charge of both the White House and Congress for the first time since mid-1968, the prospect of getting these legislative items enacted into law is vastly improved.

Nevertheless, while labor leaders are taking credit for helping to elect Carter — surveys show he had a 61-to-38 per cent margin among voters with union backgrounds — they say they do not regard it as any guarantee of Carter's support when it comes to their special interests.

"If one special group thinks its going to be treated to an advantage over another, I think they're wrong," said Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

Wurf and others regard jobs, health insurance, welfare and Medicaid reform as their priorities.

An aide to Meany said there is "absolutely no interest in promoting anything else at the expense of getting people back to work. Sure, there's interest in 'situs' picketing (for construction workers) and repeal of '14B,' but getting America back to work is our No. 1 goal and we're not going to be sidetracked."

On the eve of Tuesday's election, Carter aides in Atlanta said he would probably give high priority to early action on job programs, including efforts to promote more employment in private industry through job subsidies and stimulation of housing construction.

Carter also said that before making major appointments he would talk to key leaders in business and labor. Meany expects to be among those consulted, just as he was when Carter picked Walter Mondale for vice president.

At the top of Meany's list for labor secretary is John T. Dunlop, who held that Cabinet post earlier this year before quitting in a policy dispute with President Ford.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, one of the first labor leaders to endorse Carter, is also thought to be in line for a top job in the new administration.

W. Howard McClennan, president of the AFL-CIO Public Employes Department, said Carter had assured him of support for a proposed national collective bargaining law for state and local government workers and liberalization of the Hatch Act, which currently bars federal employes from partisan political activities.

"Organized labor provided all-out support to the Carter-Mondale candidacies on the basis of their endorsement of these programs, and many others," said McClennan. "I think the Carter presidency will set a tone of more efficient government through improved labor-management relations in the public sector."

During the campaign, Carter said that although he would not push for such legislation as repeal of "14B," he would sign it if it got through Congress.

"I don't see him being forced into giving things to labor out of any sense of owing," said Richard Murphy, political director of the Service Employes Union. "He knows we represent working men and women and, I believe, he genuinely wants to help them."

Murphy also said that although he doesn't expect Carter to lobby for some of the more controversial measures sought by labor, "he's not going to be putting any roadblocks in the way."

Brezhnev will visit Yugoslavia, Romania

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will visit Romania later this month, presumably after his previously announced trip to Yugoslavia, the Tass news agency reported.

The visits will take Brezhnev to the two states in the European Communist camp which have historically demonstrated the most independence from Moscow. In recent months, however, both Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu and Yugoslav President Josip Tito have indicated willingness to form friendlier relations with the Soviets.

The official announcement said Brezhnev will pay a "friendly visit" to Romania in the second half of November at the invitation of Ceausescu.

Exact dates for the two visits have not been announced.

The announcement coincides with unofficial reports here that the Soviet leader will attend a meeting of Warsaw Pact chiefs in Bucharest late this month.

Israel bars solons from installations

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Israeli government has put its secret nuclear installations in the Negev Desert off limits to a party of U.S. senators checking safeguards against the manufacture of atomic weapons, a leading newspaper reports.

The newspaper Maariv reported the government turned down numerous requests from the 13 senators to visit the facilities built with French help in the 1950s near the town of Dimona, in southern Israel.

"We want to learn about the atomic development programs in this region and to study how supervision and control both here and in Egypt can ensure that atomic energy will be for peaceful uses only," Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., told reporters at Ben-Gurion Airport.

The senators arrived Sunday for a four-day visit in preparation for Senate action on agreements carrying out former President Nixon's offers of nuclear power reactors to Israel and Egypt. Before the reactors can be supplied, the Senate must approve the safeguards against diversion of the nuclear material to the production of weapons.

Foreign press reports have said Israel has made more than 10 atomic weapons with material from the Dimona installation. Last March, the editor of a Washington newsletter said senior officials of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency told him at a briefing that Israel had 10 to 20 nuclear weapons "ready for use." The CIA refused to confirm or deny the report.

Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said the senators would not pressure the Israelis to sign the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, which Egypt has signed.

"We are not here to conduct any negotiations," said Baker. But he, too, said they "want to see ... how the safeguards will be carried forward."

"I work for Kaiser Steel. Right now that means working for the United Way."

Ted Chinn, Supervisor of Community Relations.
Ted has been with Kaiser Steel nine years.

"As chairman of this year's United Way drive in Fontana, it's my job to help people understand the vital importance of those services that are supported by contributors to United Way. By supporting these agencies, we're really helping our neighbors. We're making sure that there's somebody there to provide assistance when it's needed.

At Kaiser Steel we believe firmly in doing our part. This year the company is giving $107,000 to the United Ways which support services in communities near the steel mill where our employees live.

In addition, Kaiser Steel employees are giving more than $300,000 this year by payroll deduction to the United Way and other health and welfare organizations in their communities. That's an average of nearly $40 each.

I believe that each contribution, each dollar, makes our neighborhood a better place for all of us to live."

Women increase ranks in state legislatures by 1.1 per cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women increased their ranks in state legislatures from 8 per cent to 9.1 per cent in last Tuesday's election, for a new total of 685 seats.

"It's progress — but not very fast progress," said Betsey Wright, director of the National Women's Education Fund, which has been compiling statistics on women at state and local levels since 1974.

"We've got to discover some way we can go from 9 per cent all the way up to 25 per cent in one election period," said Ms. Wright, who prefers that designation.

Only then, she said, will women have enough of a base to make significant inroads on statewide and national offices.

The number of women in the U.S. Congress declined by one as a result of Tuesday's elections, from 19 to 18 out of 435 House members. There are no women in the 100-member Senate.

Ann Zill, director of the Women's Campaign Fund, said one breakthrough in 1976 was that for the first time women have begun to contribute money for women's campaigns.

The campaign fund collected almost $63,700 for women candidates, and the National Women's Political Caucus raised another $30,000.

"The sum of $100,000 for women candidates is indeed paltry," said Ms. Zill, who also prefers the feminist designation, compared to the total of $400 million which analysts estimate is spent for all levels of campaigns in a year such as this.

A presidential year is usually a poor one for newcomers in state and congressional races because most money and campaign workers are focused on the fight for the White House, said Ms. Wright.

She said she expects women to make more substantial gains in 1978.

The National Women's Education Fund has given intensive campaign-skills seminars in various regions of the country since 1974 to more than 500 women who want to manage campaigns or run for office.

In the elections, the number of women rose in 22 state legislatures, held even in 10 and lost strength in 11. Seven states did not hold legislative elections.

Alaska lost the most women, from 9 to 4 state legislators.

California made the biggest increase in percentages: from 3 to 6, including the first woman elected to the state senate. Other sizable increases were Florida, from 12 to 18; Illinois, 14 to 21; Minnesota, 8 to 12, and Texas, 7 to 11.

The two states with the lowest percentages of women legislators did not hold elections this year: Alabama with .71 per cent and Louisiana with 1.4 per cent. States with the next-lowest numbers of women are Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

States with the largest percentages of women legislators are New Hampshire, with 27.1 per cent; Connecticut, 20.3 per cent; Arizona, 16.7 per cent; Washington, 15.6 per cent, and Maine, 15.2 per cent.

Presidential inauguration will not be an extravagant affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The planners of Jimmy Carter's presidential inauguration say they will put on a more modest celebration than the $4 million extravaganza that installed Richard M. Nixon in 1973.

Washington attorney Bardyl R. Tirana says Carter will use nothing like the $900,000 imitation marble reviewing stands that held and sheltered Nixon and 22,000 others four years ago.

That was "too extravagant" for Carter, Tirana said. "The inauguration will be modest. It will not be extravagant, that much I know."

Tirana and South Carolinian Vicki Rogers, both longtime Carter supporters, have been named by the President-elect as chairmen of the committees planning festivities for the Jan. 20 inaugural.

The $4 million total tab for the 1973 inauguration included the swearing-in ceremonies at the Capitol, several concerts, five inaugural balls, and a reception for then-Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

No overall budget for the 1977 ceremony has been established.

Much of the inaugural schedule is determined by custom and protocol and won't be changed by the Carters, Tirana said. The President-elect will primarily influence specific details, such as the type of hats the men wear, if any.

Later this week, Tirana will meet with Carter's wife, Rosalynn, who will indicate some of the general ideas she and the President-elect would like included in the schedule. Detailed planning will begin from there, Tirana said.

Contractors authorized by Congress have begun work on the wooden platform in front of the east portico of the Capitol. Nearly all presidents since Thomas Jefferson have taken the oath of office near there.

Tirana said he has decided against starting work immediately on the presidential and VIP parade reviewing stands on both sides of Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House.

Whatever accomodations are eventually built for watching the parade, Tirana said, the dignitaries will have "to sit in something a little more modest."

One variable the committee can do little about is the weather, which has disrupted more than one inaugural in the past. William H. Taft moved his ceremony indoors to the Senate chamber in 1909 because of a snowstorm.

In 1961, on the night before John F. Kennedy's inauguration, about eight inches of snow fell, and the military had to be called out to clear the thoroughfares with shovels.

But no one has suffered from inaugural weather like William Henry Harrison in 1841. He stood in a cold downpour to take the oath, then rode back to the White House on a white charger in the first inaugural parade.

A month later, Harrison was dead of pneumonia.

Rebekahs honoring officers

Heliotrope Rebekah Lodge of Pomona will observe Noble Grand and Vice Grand Night at 8 o'cock tonight at the Fair Valley Grange Hall, 11667 Monte Vista Ave., Chino.

Noble grands of other lodges who will be guests of Mrs. Helen Harkinson, Rebekah noble grand for Heliotrope Lodge, will include; Mrs. Ellen Breshears, Upland; Keon Traister, Ontario; Bea Avis, Chino; and Esther Hankins, Claremont.

Vice grands from the corresponding lodges will be guests of Lynee Chapin. Other guests will be Bonnylin Miller, district deputy president of District 74 and her deputy marshal, Margaret Jasper.

An added feature will be a program by Aloha Rebekah Lodge of Westminster who will present a traveling plaque. The plaque will be presented by Heliotrope Rebekah Lodge on Nov. 16 to the Costa Mesa Lodge.

Mrs. Chapin and Mrs. Harkinson are in charge of decorations and refreshments for the evening.

G.O.P. unit sets program Thursday

"Listen To the Martyrs" will be the program topic for the Thursday meeting of the Pomona Valley Republican Womens Club, Federated, to be held at the LaCabana Restaurant, 500 N. Palomares Ave., Pomona.

Dr. Myrus L. Knutsen, International Chairman of the District Attorney's Advisory Council, and pastor of the Christ Lutheran Church of West Covina, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Knutsen presently serves as president of the Board for "Jesus to the Communist World" and his name appears in "Who's Who in the West". His deep interest and concern for his fellowman made it possible for him to meet the Reverend Richard Wumbrand in Norway at the time of his release from the communists. Reverend Wumbrand still carries his scars from his torture. This is the firest direct information on how some of our men were treated by the communists.

Scheduled business will include the report by the nominating committee, and information on a Los Angeles County Republican Women's 1976 Convention on December 6 to be held at the Biltmore Hotel. Delegates and alternates appointed by the president to attend the convention are Mmes. Alex Duarte, Clarence Jackman, E. C. Harrison, C. Arnold Stevenson, A. W. Kelly, Hollis Page, Richard Speier and Jack Fulton. The guest speaker will be Patrick J. Buchanan whose political column is syndicated in more than seventy newspapers across the United States. He is author of several books of which perhaps the best known is "The New Majority".

This Thursday's business meeting will open at 11:30 a.m. with luncheon at noon. Dr. Knutsen will speak at 1 p.m.

Bazaar scheduled this week

The annual bazaar sponsored by members of United Methodist Women of the Chino United Methodist Church will be held Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the social hall.

A luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. It is open to the public.

In the booths such items as quilts, braided rugs, home baked goods, fancy work, jewelry, greeting cards and Christmas novelties will be available.

Mrs. L. C. Nyberg is chairman for the bazaar and preparing the luncheon will be Mmes. Raymond Case, Stanley Creighton, Ed Czeschin, Richard Ludden, Carl Schuler, LaForrest Nyberg and David Waters.

Mother of Twins unit plans dinner

Isabel Lopez de Fages will be the speaker at a dinner meeting of the Pomona Valley Mother of Twins Club Wednesday at the Firehouse Inn, 998 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Fages is a direct descendent of the first California families to settle San Diego. She and her husband maintain Casa Alvarado on Old Settlers Lane, one of the oldest adobes in California and the second oldest in Pomona. She has spent much of her life in the researching, writing and preservation of California history and historical landmarks.

Auxiliary to honor president

The national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Fleet Reserve Association, Mrs. Evelyn K. Harris of Norfolk, Va., will make her official visit to the Pomona Auxiliary Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 13130 Central Ave., Chino.

The unit and branch will hold a no-host dinner in honor of the national president at 6 p.m. at Centro Basco Restaurant in Chino.

Barely simple

In case you haven't noticed, the one dress that will go anywhere at night this year is strapless and the simpler, the better.

Symphony plans salute to composer

In its fall concert Nov. 21, the Claremont Symphony Orchestra will perform "Hungarian Scherzo" by Eugene Zador, prominent Southern California composer. Zador is a longtime friend of George Denes, founding conductor of the orchestra.

EUGENE ZADOR

The concert will be presented in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 4 p.m. Zador is expected to attend the program. Admission is free.

Moviegoers who have seen MGM's "That's Entertainment" have heard a lot of Zador's original music and arrangements, according to Denes. The Hungarian-born composer was head of the music department at the MGM studio for 16 years and composed an orchestrated music for such stars as Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly, Cyd Charisse, Leslie Caron, Judy Garland and others. He also composed works for non-musicals starring such figures as Clark Gable and Robert Taylor.

After retiring from the studio, Zador devoted full time to composing concert music for many combinations of instruments. He has composed concertos for trumpet, for tympani, for clarinet and other instruments. Several of his more recent concertos were given their premieres by Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra. In 1974 Zador completed "Christopher Columbus," a full opera. It had a successful premiere in New York and is now being recorded.

Guild to study jewelry

Jewelry artist Al Bassin will demonstrate the various steps in the setting of precious stones at the monthly meeting of the Diamond Bar Artists Guild at the Coast Federal Savings and Loan Building, 397 S. Diamond Bar Blvd., Diamond Bar, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Bassin's interest in fine jewelry started as a hobby. He spent several years grading opals, then branched out into cutting and setting such precious gems as diamonds, rubies and sapphires.

The Guild's theme of the month is seascape.

Further information can be obtained from Maya Lalvani at 598-1329.

'Oedipus' slated at Pomona

"Oedipus the King," a movie filmed in Amphiaraion, Greece, will be screened at Oldenborg International Theater, Pomona College, at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Admission is free.

The play was performed in the 5th Century B.C. theater by the Athens Classical Theater Company with masks created especially for the production. The film is presented by Harry Carroll Jr., professor of classics.

GET IT RIGHT! — Joanne Woodward tells John Denver he has two left feet after the singer bumbled a soft-shoe routine with her at the Universal Studios amphitheater. They are rehearsing for the John Denver Special to be aired on ABC-TV Nov. 17. The show also stars Dennis Weaver, the Starland Vocal Band and the shark from "Jaws."

Milstein to solo with Philharmonic

Violinist Nathan Milstein will be soloist in Brahms' Violin Concerto with Zubin Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic at the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The purely orchestral portion of the program will be devoted to the Symphony No. 40 in G Minor by Mozart and Krzystof Pendericki's 1971 composition "De natura sonoris," which was dedicated to Mehta.

The concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, the second in the Philharmonic's new six-concert Saturday series, will be devoted to a preview of some of the repertoire the Philharmonic will play on its U.S. State Department-sponsored European tour that begins Nov. 16. Concertmaster Glenn Dicterow and co-principal violist Alan de Veritch will be the soloists in Mozart's Sinfonia Concertante in E Flat, which they are scheduled to perform in London Nov. 19 and in Warsaw Nov. 26. Also programmed are Mahler's First Symphony and four short pieces by Charles Ives—"A Lecture," "The New River," "Like a Sick Eagle" and "Tone Roads No. 3."

Milstein began his studies in his native Russia and later went to Petrograd to study with Leopold Auer. Although he made his public debut at age 10, Milstein waited another nine years before embarking on a tour of Russia with his close friend, Vladimir Horowitz. Following his Paris debut in 1925, Milstein triumphed in the music capitals of Europe as well as throughout America. Since then he has become one of the foremost artists of our time, making annual tours throughout Europe and frequently visiting America, Latin America, Israel and Egypt. Milstein's last appearance with the Los Angeles Philharmonic was in 1968, when he played the Tchaikovsky Concerto under Mehta.

Dicterow joined the Philharmonic in 1972 as associate concertmaster.

Hot-cold career of Stacy Keach

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "I'm hot again," Stacy Keach says, with a happy smile. "It's funny, but this is a very cyclical business. Five years ago, I did 'Hamlet' in New York and got fantastic reviews. But I could not get a job afterwards. But now, suddenly, everybody wants me."

He says he is getting typed in adventure films — "I usually play the doubter who turns around and does good things for good causes." He thinks that's not a bad type to be typed as.

He's played that role in several films, and has a few more set to go. He'll be in "Gray Lady Down," a big upcoming submarine adventure yarn. And, after that, he's probably going to be in "Leviathan," a disaster movie with a hurricane setting.

TV audiences know him from his series, Carib, which wasn't a success — although it did well enough for him so that he could afford to buy a house.

"The problem with it," he says, "was that it was just Gunsmoke in the Caribbean. I think it was getting better all the time, but I don't think it took sufficient advantage of the Caribbean setting.

"No matter what you think of Hawaii Five-O, at least it uses Hawaii and that makes it different.

"But I wasn't unhappy about Carib's cancellation. I felt ambivalent about it.

"I don't think I'll do another series — at least, not until I need the money to buy another house."

STACY KEACH

Medved and Wallechinsky say there is strong interest from TV to do a mini-series based on the book. The series would follow perhaps a dozen of the stories of the graduates, some of whom have had lives far different from what you might expect.

Wallechinsky is the son of novelist Irving Wallace, whose philosophy in selling his books to movies is to sell them and forget them. But Wallechinsky feels differently.

"If it does sell to movies or TV," he says, "I would like very much to have a hand in the production, to see that they don't mess it up. I've seen what's happened to my father's books and I don't want that to happen to this."

Both Medved and Wallechinsky are involved in further book projects and one of Medved's sounds fascinating. He and his 15-year-old brother — authors are getting younger all the time — are doing a book on the 50 worst movies of all time.

LOOKOUT!

Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson (14) scrambles away from tacklers for short gain against Rams in Cincinnati Monday night. Anderson sparked second half comback that gave Bengals a 20-12 victory over the Rams.

Rams lose again on Monday night

Bengals come of age

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, Paul Brown's last pet project, have come of age in the National Football League.

"We're at the point of maturity where we can play with anybody. In fact, man-for-man I thought we were the better team tonight," said fullback Boobie Clark, who helped the Bengals overcome a poor start as Cincinnati beat the Los Angeles Rams 20-12 in a nationally televised game.

The Bengals, now 7-2 and leaders in the American Conference Central Division, overcame their worst first half in years to knock off the powerful Rams in a battle between teams harboring Super Bowl aspirations. The Rams dropped to 6-2-1, but still lead the National Conference West.

The victory kept Cincinnati on course for its crucial showdown Nov. 28 against rejuvenated Pittsburgh, which still is clinging to hopes of a third straight Super Bowl title.

"Pittsburgh is not the only team with momentum going," said Clark, who celebrated his 26th birthday with two touchdowns in triggering a 20-point third-quarter that sank the Rams. "We're looking forward to meeting them."

The Bengals, who suppressed emotion under perfectionist Brown, who built the franchise from scratch eight years ago, are whooping it up under new Coach Bill Johnson.

Looking offensively inept in the first half, the Bengals regrouped. "Basically, we were stopping ourselves," said Johnson.

"We had an emotional meeting at halftime," said veteran center Bob Johnson. "Bill is more spark than we've had here. I think we felt fortunate we were only behind 6-0."

Aroused by the 50-year-old rookie coach with the nickname of "Tiger," the Bengals struck swiftly, with the defense paving the way. Less than three minutes into the second half, Rams quarterback James Harris lost a fumble at the Los Angeles nine-yard line.

Clark bolted into the end zone untouched on Cincinnati's next play and rookie Chris Bahr's conversion kick put the Bengals ahead 7-6, overcoming field goals of 19 and 23 yards by the Rams' Tom Dempsey.

Six minutes later, after taking over near midfield, quarterback Ken Anderson dashed 25 yards to set up the second touchdown. Anderson, shaking off a 2-for-12 first half passing performance, connected on a 30-yard scoring pass to veteran tight end Bob Trumpy.

On the next series, Anderson marched the Bengals 47 yards, hitting Clark with a 17-yard touchdown pass.

"The best thing about this ball club is that the defense gives us ways to win," said Trumpy, one of two original Bengals left. "This is the type of thing that gives a club a great deal of character."

The Rams, who outgained Cincinnati 173-57 yards in the first half, were frustrated by former teammate Coy Bacon, who led the Bengals' defensive charge.

"It was a personal thing with him," said Los Angeles running back John Cappelletti, who topped all rushers with 86 yards in 20 carries.

UCLA tries to forget SC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Terry Donahue said his main aim this weekend was to keep his UCLA players' minds on their upcoming game against Oregon State, a four-touchdown underdog, and not rival Southern California.

Then Athletic Director J.D. Morgan said, "The USC game is a complete sellout."

No matter who second-ranked UCLA played this weekend, it would probably make no difference: the Bruin players are thinking about the Trojans whom they play in two weeks.

Donahue's squad, with only a tie against Ohio State to mar its first nine games this year, takes on a 2-6 OSU squad on Saturday in Corvallis. Meanwhile, the Trojans meet Washington, a three-touchdown underdog, in Los Angeles.

Last Saturday, UCLA pasted Oregon 46-0 and did it mostly with reserves. The first-string offense was in for only the first 18 minutes.

"We didn't make any subsitutions until the score was 24-0," said Donahue, in his first year. "And I remember a game we played against Oregon a few years ago. We led 40-21 that time, and we pulled the first string and Oregon won 41-40.

"But when we were ahead 24-0 Saturday, I felt we were so much the clearly dominant team I didn't think we'd have any trouble...that if Oregon came back, we could respond.

"Of course, there was the consideration of whether the first string would play enough. We thought they might lose a little bit of their timing, but we do have another game this week, at Oregon State."

Donahue remained concerned that his players might look ahead to the Nov. 20 game with the third-ranked Trojans.

"We won't see their films until next Sunday," said Donahue, "but that doesn't prevent the players from reading the newspapers and watching replays of their games on television. You just can't control that. Sure, it's hard to keep the players and the coaches from thinking ahead to the USC game, but the weather in Oregon could be a factor this week.

"And another big factor for us to remember is that they beat Cal when Cal was still healthy. Also, Craig Fertig is an ex-Trojan and one of their assistants, Tony Kopay, is an ex-Bruin. I'm sure they'd love nothing better than to beat UCLA."

But the USC game, even though it's two weeks away, remains on Donahue's mind.

"We have to do our best up there," he said. "We have to play hard. We can't regress because we have to have momentum going into the SC game.

"It's gonna be a titanic."

ABC selects A&M contest

NEW YORK (AP) — The Southwest Conference battle between Texas A&M and Arkansas will be the second half of a college football doubleheader to be televised Saturday by ABC, the network announced Monday.

That game, starting at 4 p.m. EST, will be shown nationally and will be preceded by six regional telecasts, each starting at 12:30 p.m. EST.

Mike Carey fights for life

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Carey played football for the University of Southern California last Saturday. Today, he is fighting for his life against Hodgkins Disease.

The 21-year-old junior defensive back underwent surgery Monday for removal of his spleen and several lymph nodes in the battle against the cancer.

In addition, surgeons took samples of bone marrow and his liver to see how far the disease had spread.

Although results of the tests were not expected until Wednesday, team physician Dr. Chester Semel said he was encouraged, and Carey was listed in fair condition Monday night at Brotman Memorial Hospital in suburban Culver City.

It was only 24 days ago that Carey, of San Frsncisco, was told he had Hodgkins Disease, which kills about 3,000 persons each year in the United States.

He wanted to continue as a backup defensive back for the Trojans, and only four days after learning he had the dreaded disease, played in a victory over Oregon State. Coach John Robinson gave him the game ball.

Then began the endless tests, stomach X-rays, bone scans, blood samples. But Carey continued as a football player and coaches let him see action the last two weeks against California and Stanford.

But the tests started taking their toll.

"I felt slow and sluggish," he said before Monday's surgery. "I tried not to think about it, but I knew it."

The 6-foot-1, 200-pounder suffered a muscle pull lifting weights in August. When swelling in his lower neck persisted, Dr. Semel ordered tests.

One lump was discovered—it was benign. But beneath it another, only the size of a dime, was discovered. It was malignant.

"I didn't want to tell anybody," Carey said. "But then I realized I'm somebody's child and somebody cares about me. The impact didn't hit me until I told my family."

With Carey, when he came out of the operation, were his father, Chuck, a retired Navy commander, his mother, Margaret, plus three of his four brothers and sisters and his girl friend.

"When he called to tell me, at first I broke down," said his mother. "Then I said we have God on our side and we're going to beat this."

Doctors say Carey's chances of survival are about 85 per cent if the malignancy is confined to the area where surgery was performed. He will need an estimated four to six weeks of radiation treatment, beginning immediately.

"All studies so far indicate that the Hodgkins Disease is limited to the original area in the neck and around the collarbone," Dr. Semel said after the surgery. "This can be treated with radiation."

He said doctors who performed the surgery found no evidence of tumors elsewhere.

If all goes well, the doctor said, Carey may resume his hobby of mountain climbing soon and perhaps even think about playing football next fall.

Although Carey will not play any more this season, the Trojans named him captain for their game against Stanford last Saturday and for their crucial meeting with UCLA Nov. 20, with the Rose Bowl probably at stake.

Before the Stanford game, members of the team included Carey in a pregame prayer.

"Many of us knew him and we'd been praying for him," said Stanford co-captain Jeff Barton, a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. "We just made sure we prayed for him again."

Coliseum accepts remodeling bids

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coliseum Commissioners voted Monday to begin accepting bids on the proposed stadium remodeling project which will drop the playing floor of the facility 13½ feet and reduce the seating capacity.

A spokesman for the Coliseum said two roadblocks may hold up the project — its cost and where financing would come from. However, commissioners decided to begin accepting bids, and will open them Dec. 6, in an attempt to get started on the project.

In another action, commissioners voted to begin receiving bids on a proposed concessions improvement project, which would provide $1.5 million in improvements for the stadium. Concession bids will be opened Dec. 15.

The remodeling plan calls for the floor to be dropped and the open end of the facility closed in, bringing thousands of seats closer to the area in which football is played. Seating capacity would be reduced from more than 91,000 to about 82,000 with 11,000 seats between the goal lines.

The concessions improvements are intended to provide less waiting time to buy food, easier access to concessions and a more flexible concessions arrangement.

Neumann put on suspension

BUFFALO (AP) — Guard Johnny Neumann has been suspended indefinitely by the Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Association "for repeated misconduct detrimental to the club," General Manager Bob MacKinnon announced Monday.

A team spokesman would not elaborate on that statement. "We're not going to get into specifics on this thing," he said.

Chargers cut Mitch Hoopes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Punter Mitch Hoopes, who ran when he should have kicked the ball and whose fumble led to a Pittsburgh score, has now lost his job.

The San Diego Chargers waived him Monday, retaining former St. Louis punter Jeff West. Hoopes was sent to San Diego by Dallas this year but came under fire when he ran from punt formation on fourth and 17 against Houston last month and got nowhere.

Pitt enjoys new status

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Winners tell jokes, Coach John Majors warned his jovial Pitt football players, while the losers say "Deal!"

The No. 1-ranked Panthers basked in the limelight and the television lights Monday as word came to their lockerroom that they had been voted the best college football team.

As they raised their index fingers to signal their new status, a stern but happy coach warned that while it was tough getting there, it would be tougher staying there.

"The wind blows harder the higher you sit on the flag pole," said Majors.

The undefeated Panthers replaced Michigan in the Associated Press poll in the wake of Purdue's 16-14 victory over the Wolverines Saturday. Michigan dropped to fourth place.

Ranked No. 2 behind Michigan for the last six weeks, Pitt now leads UCLA, Southern Cal, and fifth-place Texas Tech.

"These next two weeks, this is real college football," said Majors, reminding his Panthers that they still face arch-rivals West Virginia University Saturday in a regionally televised game and Penn State Nov. 26 in a nationally televised bout.

"They're all out there waiting for something to happen to us. But Pitt is the only team that can beat Pitt."

Many of the players on hand for the announcement joined Pitt in obscurity four years ago, just as Majors had. For those players, who suffered through a 1-10 first season, the coach had special praise.

"None of us knew where we were headed when we came here. But good things happen to good folks," Majors said.

Running back Tony Dorsett, who has passed some milestones of his own en route to national prominence with Pitt, said the top ranking was "one of the most happiest feeling in the world.

"For a freshman coming in or a senior going out, it's great," said Dorsett.

Majors, nattily glad in team colors of blue and gold, stood before the sweat-suited and tossle-capped ball players and warned them to keep their feet on the ground and their eyes on the game just ahead.

"To be No. 1 is a hell of a tough thing to get to and its a thing to relish.

"But wait 'til you see how hard it is to stay there."

Rounding out the top ten are Maryland, Georgia, Ohio State, Nebraska and Alabama. Missouri is 11th, followed by Houston, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida, Texas A&M, Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Colorado and South Carolina.

Pitt got 49 out of a possible 63 first-place votes. UCLA picked up seven, Southern California two, Michigan two, Maryland two and Texas Tech one.

McKay, Ralston are still feuding

DENVER (AP) — Denver Bronco offensive coordinator Max Coley responded to a blistering post-game verbal attack by Tampa Bay Coach John McKay with sarcasm and questioning Monday.

After Sunday's 48-13 loss to the Broncos McKay stomped off the field, refused to shake hands with Bronco Coach John Ralston and offered to give a portion of Coley's anatomy a sound kicking.

McKay was apparently upset not only about the loss but the way it was administered to his winless National Football League expansion team.

"Max Coley? The guy who calls the plays?" McKay asked in response to a question about his end-of-game tantrum. "I hope he got his offensive stats up today and I hope he gets fired tomorrow. He knew we were hurtin'. But it always turns around ..."

Coley said "I don't know who he wanted us to run our offense against, if not his defensive line. His coaching staff?"

Coley said he had no problems with McKay before, and they play golf together every year, and occasionally have a few drinks.

"I think he must have lost his poise," Coley said. "If he was talking about whipping somebody after the game, as I read, he knew where I was dressing. I was only 60 feet away and would have been more than willing to meet him either verbally or physically."

Coley said he knew it has been a hard transition for McKay to make, from a successful college program at Southern California to an expansion franchise at Tampa Bay.

"Evidently he doesn't know the difference between offense and defense, who was doing the scoring." Coley pointed out the last three of Denver's four touchdowns were by the defense following interceptions and a fumble recovery off the Tampa offense.

"However, he must be an expert because he's beaten a lot of college teams," Coley said, emphasizing college.

Coley also noted that Denver played a conservative, no-pass game in the closing minutes.

"That's the first time I've ever seen a coach blame the other coaching staff for a loss," he said.

Poly loses Costa for SLO battle

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Cal Poly coach Andy Vinci brought some unhappy news to the Progress Bulletin's weekly football luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona Monday.

Vinci revealed that quarterback Leo Costa has been hospitalized with a collapsed lung and internal bleeding. Costa was injured in the first half last Saturday vs. Northridge, but stayed in the contest and engineered Poly's 20-7 victory.

Vinci indicated that Costa is definitely out for the season, which means he will miss the Broncos' showdown with Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo this week.

The Poly signal caller completed 11 of 20 passes vs. Northridge in the last college game of his career, had three other passes dropped and two called back due to penalties. For his heroics, Costa was tabbed as the Offensive Player of the Week on the college level.

Defensive honors at the four-year level went to La Verne defensive end Mike Bustos, as the Leos downed Pomona-Pitzer 54-25.

Others nominated from the four-year schools included Pomona-Pitzer quarterback Lyle Lansdall, La Verne running back Ben Morrow and Azusa Pacific cornerback Greg Mahood.

Winning the awards at the junior college level were Chaffey defensive end Ron White and Citrus wide receiver Charlie Brown. Panther fullback Dominic Licavoli was the only other JC player nominated.

Quoting the coaches:

VINCI, Cal Poly: "We received the bad news on Leo this morning, he is definitely out for the year, we are just hoping that surgery isn't necessary. He certainly ended his career with us on a fantastic note.

"We dominated the game with Northridge, if we had avoided mistakes we would have beat them 40-7 instead of 20-7. We gave up only one first down in the second half, our defense was outstanding.

"This week we go against SLO, it will be a whole different ballgame. Sammy Ross will get the nod at quarterback in place of Costa, Sammy has looked good in practice.

"I feel this is SLO's best team in three years, they are very quick on defense. It's also a must-game for them to win to get into the playoffs. Traditionally, we have played poorly at SLO and they have not played that well down here. We hope that trend continues Saturday."

WALT AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer: "La Verne was just as physical against us last week as they were the first time we played them. At least we moved the football, we led 7-0 in the first quarter but the second quarter was disasterous for us. La Verne was just too aggressive for us, all their guys give 100 percent effort.

"We play Redlands this week. They beat Claremont-Mudd 29-7 last week, and C-M beat us 69-35, so I'm thinking of taking a vacation or going into hiding or something. We are hurting physically as well, so it will be another tough week for us."

ROLAND ORTMAYER, La Verne: "Football is still a game of manpower and the outfit which has the manpower is going to win. That pretty well sums up Walt's problem at Pomona-Pitzer. It's going to be real tough for him to win against a team like ourselves or Redlands.

"I was happy with our win last week, but not at all happy with the penalities or the injuries we suffered.

Jazz coach stays calm

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Coach Bill van Breda Kolff of the New Orleans Jazz says he is going to be a model of decorum on the bench for the remainder of the National Basketball Association season, because his wallet is hurting.

Oxy tough for La Verne

"We have Oxy this week, we finally beat them for the first time four years ago and have won ever since, but they will be hard to beat this time. They have a very strong passing game and I don't know if we can stop it. I think we can move the ball on them however, so if we're healthy I'd say the game will be a tossup."

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific: "We were tied 14-14 with Cal State L.A. with only two minutes left when they kicked a field goal to beat us. The game really could have gone either way. We stayed right with them.

"We play Cal Lutheran this week. They are not as strong a team as they were last year but they make no mistakes, have good size and are quick. They also pass the ball very well. We will need our very best game to beat them."

JOHN STRYCULA, Citrus: "We kind of stubbed our toes down at Southwestern. I'm disappointed in the way we played, not in the score. We probably deserved to tie, the way we played, it was just one of those games for us.

"Our defense did the job but our offense was very, very erratic. We had 289 yards rushing and over 100 yards passing, but we fumbled four times and lost two, and were intercepted three times. A bad snap on a punt gave them one of their touchdowns.

"At the end of the game we were just trying to get the ball in position for a field goal, which we felt our kicker could make. Well, to show how things went for us, our quarterback suddenly got in the clear and ran all the way to their one and fumbled as he was going into the end zone. After a big scramble we recovered the ball but by then time had ran out. Actually, had our quarterback just fallen down at the one we could have called time out and kicked the FG, but I guess we deserved the tie.

"We go against Saddleback this week. They are a very physical team and hit like hell. We will have to play better in all areas to beat them. It's been a great series between the two schools, three of the seven games have ended in ties, and it will be very interesting again Saturday night."

MAL EATON, MSAC: "Fullerton just had an outstanding night against us, they could do no wrong. They really gave us a lesson in how to play football. Going into the game we felt we had an excellent chance of beating them but they dominated the game in every department. It was a big disappointment for us.

"We have Orange Coast this week, we have to win to keep our title hopes alive. Orange Coast is not as good as they were last year but they are still a very good team. We will have to get back up off the floor and play well to beat them."

MIKE MERANDI, Chaffey: "Our defensive unit did a super job against San Bernardino, as they have all year. What concerns me is our offense. We move the ball well between the 10 and 10, but just can't seem to punch it across, and when that happens we just are not a good offensive team.

"We were a little flat at the start of the San Bernardino game and the took a quick 14-0 lead and we never got back, even though we outgained them, 312-176, in total yardage.

"We have Southwestern this week, they are a pretty good team and throw the ball well. It will be a super tough game for us."

Michigan smarting from Purdue upset

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's Wolverines have been ushered back into their lair, smarting from defeat and skeptical of outsiders.

"I have not lost faith in them," Coach Bo Schembechler said Monday.

However, his players won't be available for interviews in the wake of their 16-14 Big Ten football loss Saturday at Purdue.

The setback tumbled Michigan from first to fourth in this week's Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Pittsburgh, as expected, climbed from second to first.

"We've had about all we can take," Schembechler told reporters. "You guys almost had me convinced we were good."

There were more reporters than usual at his weekly news conference, as well as photographers.

"Everybody loves a loser," Schembechler said.

He said his players "are really down," and, "it's a matter of me placing emphasis on our coming back. We just want to concentrate on football. We've got a tough game coming up, really tough."

Michigan, 8-1 over-all and 5-1 in the conference, hosts Illinois this Saturday before winding up the regular season the following week at Columbus against archrival Ohio State. That game is expected to, as usual, determine the Big Ten championship—if the Wolverines can get by Illinois.

Ohio State, first in the Big Ten, is ranked eighth.

"I don't think there are any super powers," Schembechler said. "I don't think there's a team in the nation we can't beat."

He added, "I'm not after the national championship...I'm after the Big Ten championship and the Rose Bowl."

Schembechler called Purdue Coach Alex Agase "a great coach" and "a great friend of mine." However, "I didn't think he could do it (upset Michigan). That's probably why he did it—because I didn't think he could. Nobody needed that victory more than him."

Last week "our coaching staff was worried, really worried," Schembechler added. "It was nothing you could put your finger on. It's a hard lesson to learn. When you win a lot, you forget how you got there...you hope maybe you'll learn it with a close call (victory)."

Michigan suffered more than the embarassment of defeat. Four of its top players were injured and one, defensive end and punter John Anderson, probably won't be able to play the last two games. Anderson suffered spraigned ligaments in his right knee.

Fullbacks Rob Lytle (hip) and Russell Davis (thigh), plus tailback Harlan Huckleby (thigh) were also hurt in the Purdue game.

Lytle played despite his injury and wound up being named Michigan's offensive "Champion of the Week." Middle linebacker Calvin O'Neal was named defensive "Champion" by the Wolverine coaching staff.

Scot boosters set breakfast

Upland High's All-Sports Booster Club announced that it will hold its annual pancake breakfast on Sunday November 14, from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The menu at the Upland High Cafeteria will include: pancakes, sausage, juice, milk, and coffee. Tickets may be purchased for $1.50 from any Upland athlete, pep squad members, or at the door the day of the event.

The breakfast is the major fund raising event of the year to help support Upland High athletics.

'Hens blank Stags; are seeded third

Tom McEnroe's goal with five minutes left in the game gave Pomona-Pitzer's soccer team a 1-0 victory over Claremont-Mudd Monday afternoon at C-M's Parents' Field.

Nick Eaden, on the right wing, got open and crossed the ball in the air to McEnroe who hit the ball with his head about five yards from the goal for the score.

Pomona-Pitzer winds up the season with a perfect 11-0-1 conference log and a 13-1-1 mark overall. The Sagehens clinched the crown last week. C-M finishes with an 8-4 conference record and a 10-6 overall mark. The Stags wound up third a half game behind Whittier (8-3-1).

Pomona-Pitzer will be seeded third in the playoffs which begin Wednesday. Biola is first, USIU second, Westmont fourth, Whittier fifth and UCSD sixth.

In Wednesday's game, Westmont plays UCSD. The winner of that game will meet Whittier Saturday. Two games will be played Monday. Pomona-Pitzer will be at USIU and Biola will play the winner of Saturday's game.

Sports briefs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kicking specialist Vince Petrucci of Fresno State and linebacker Dave McBeth of Fullerton State have been named the offensive and defensive players-of-the-week in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

Petrucci, a 5-foot-8, 160-pounder from Fresno accounted for 11 points in the 23-0 upset over Long Beach State on Saturday. He hit field goals of 27, 36 and 43 yards plus two conversions.

McBeth, 5-11 and 201 pounds from Huntington Beach made 18 tackles, 10 of them unassisted in a 17-7 victory over University of the Pacific. He also sacked the quarterback once.

PHILADELPHIA — Dick Allen, the controversial first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, officially became a free agent and will enter a special free agent draft to be held within the next three days.

STOCKHOLM — Mark Cox of Britain upset sixth-seeded Eddie Dibbs of North Miami Beach, Fla., 7-5, 6-2 in the opening round of the $150,000 Stockholm Open tennis tournament.

HIALEAH, Fla. — Financially troubled Hialeah Park was sold in a $13.3 million deal to the City of Hialeah and John J. Brunetti, a New Jersey developer.

TURIN, Italy — Giorgio Ferrini, a former star with Torino of the Italian soccer major league, died of a cerebral hemorrage at the age of 37.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — William Lang, a former president of the Rochester Reds of the International League, died at the age of 68.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — George Sisler resigned as president of the International Baseball League.

Howes to play in San Diego?

SAN DIEGO (AP)— Coach Ron Ingram of the San Diego Mariners says the World Hockey Association club may be able to acquire the entire Howe family from the Houston Aeros.

Ingram said Monday he's received word that the Howes — Gordie, Mark and Marty — do not intend to stay in Houston because of disputes with management and are interested in San Diego.

Ingram said the Mariners are awaiting league and Aero approval before officially talking to the Howes. The word may arrive before the end of the week.

Gordie, 48, has said he is not happy with his one-year contract or his phase-out from the Aero front office he once served as president.

Meanwhile, Marty, 22, and Mark, 21, have not signed new contracts with Houston. In a recent move, Houston board chairman George Bolin attempted to trade the two to New England.

They refused to participate in the trade under terms of their existing contracts. Howard Balwin, the New England president, reportedly is in Houston attempting to get them to reconsider the trade.

The Howes can accept the trade, attempt to force a trade to another team, or wait until their contracts expire at the end of the season and go where they please.

"We would be interested in making a deal for them right now, if we get the chance," said San Diego general manager Ballard Smith. "We'd be interested in making a fair trade for them although, obviously, Houston can't expect to get full value for them under the circumstances."

Smith said if Houston doesn't trade the family, it will get nothing for them at all when they depart at the end of the season.

Seahawks savor their victory over Atlanta

SEATTLE (AP) — For two hours, a weary-eyed Coach Jack Patera closeted himself in his modest office scrutinizing films of his Seattle Seahawks' first victory over an established National Football League team, the Atlanta Falcons.

Outside, rookie running back Sherman Smith and some of his teammates were explaining how they did it.

"That was no fluke," said Smith, who became the first Seattle player to run for over 100 yards in a game, dashing for 124 in the expansion team's 30-13 embarrassment of the Falcons before 57,985 insatiable Seahawks fans in the Kingdome Sunday.

Seattle's only other triumph was their last-minute, error-filled 13-10 decision over Tampa Bay, the league's other expansion team, on Oct. 17.

"Sunday is going to be a milestone in our improvement," said Smith. "Everyone knows now that nothing is going to come easy. It's just a matter of our going out and doing it. And Sunday we showed what we're capable of doing.

In Sunday's game, Smith also caught a 21-yard touchdown pass from first-year quarterback Jim Zorn and burst 53 yards up the middle for another score.

Zorn was with Smith outside Patera's office Monday at the Seahawks' training camp in suburban Kirkland, Wash.

"I don't think we have to prove a thing. We go out to win every game, just like we won the last one," said Zorn. His 11 for 16 passing performance for 136 yards and two touchdowns staked Seattle to a 14-3 halftime lead.

"I think we've shown progress," the cool and confident Zorn continued. "You talk to the players, the coaches and the fans and they saw improvement, and that's what you're looking for every week.

"Through the whole game, there was a real intensity and everyone was concentrating.

"It went down from the offense to the defense and the special teams. It was great to see us do it teamwise instead of individualwise. That's what it takes."

Defensive tackle Steve Niehaus, Seattle's No. 1 college draft choice from Notre Dame, said, "We knew we could beat them. We knew we were a better team than we showed when we gave up 86 points in the past two games. We just went out from the start with that in mind.

"People can tell when you really beat someone. We were really working well together, which is something we've had trouble doing in the past. That doesn't mean we'll go out next week or the week after and play the same. But we know we can."

Veteran safety Al Matthews, who celebrated his 29th birthday Sunday by returning an interception for a touchdown, said, "I feel great. We've got guys now who are talking about going out and establishing an expansion record, getting those four wins. We've got 43 guys who are going out there with the idea we're going to shut them out.

"But we still have to beat an established winner. Although Atlanta is an established team, in 11 years they've had only, what, two seasons over .500?"

Patera's door finally opened. He was done with the films. He looked tired, but he was smiling.

"You never thought we'd be there, did you?" he said. "And we did it substituting freely."

Sunday was the first game the rookie head coach could afford to go to his bench with victory firmly in grasp.

But next Sunday, the Seahwaks face the powerful Vikings in Minnesota, where Patera spent the previous seven seasons as an assistant coach.

"Well, I don't think we'll be favored by 30 points," he chuckled. "Two victories don't make you real jaded, you know."

For the present, Patera was savoring the conquest of the Falcons.

"We played better," he sid. "Whether it was because of Atlanta or because of us doesn't make a heck of a lot of difference. But we played better than in the past. That's not to say we're ready to go to the Super Bowl or anything, but when you show improvement I think it should be noted."

Sunday was the first time the Seahawks were able to put together every phase of the game.

"We've had great individual performances before. But the play of the offense, the defense and the special teams was the best we've done," Patera said. "We put ourselves in more precarious positions this game than the Tampa Bay game and overcame them."

Said Seattle General Manager John Thompson: "It was a big day. A routine Seahawk rout."

LITTLE NON-HISTORY
GEE... MISS ROSS, I'M AFRAID WE'RE GOING TO NEED MORE THAN THE DAWN'S EARLY LIGHT... UNLESS WE MAKE IT BIGGER!
Sweet Betsy of Ross was great with her stitches;
She could sew up a rip,
or let out your britches.
When Washington saw that a war was a must,
he called on sweet Betsy and gave her this trust.
"Make me a flag,"
he wrote in a letter.
"Put stars on and stripes or design something better."
And Betsy, she did, adding thirteen white stars and red and white stripes, place of the Englishmen's bars.
But history neglects to state in the books, her flag was almost too small for good looks.
A lack of material
made the outlook quite bad,

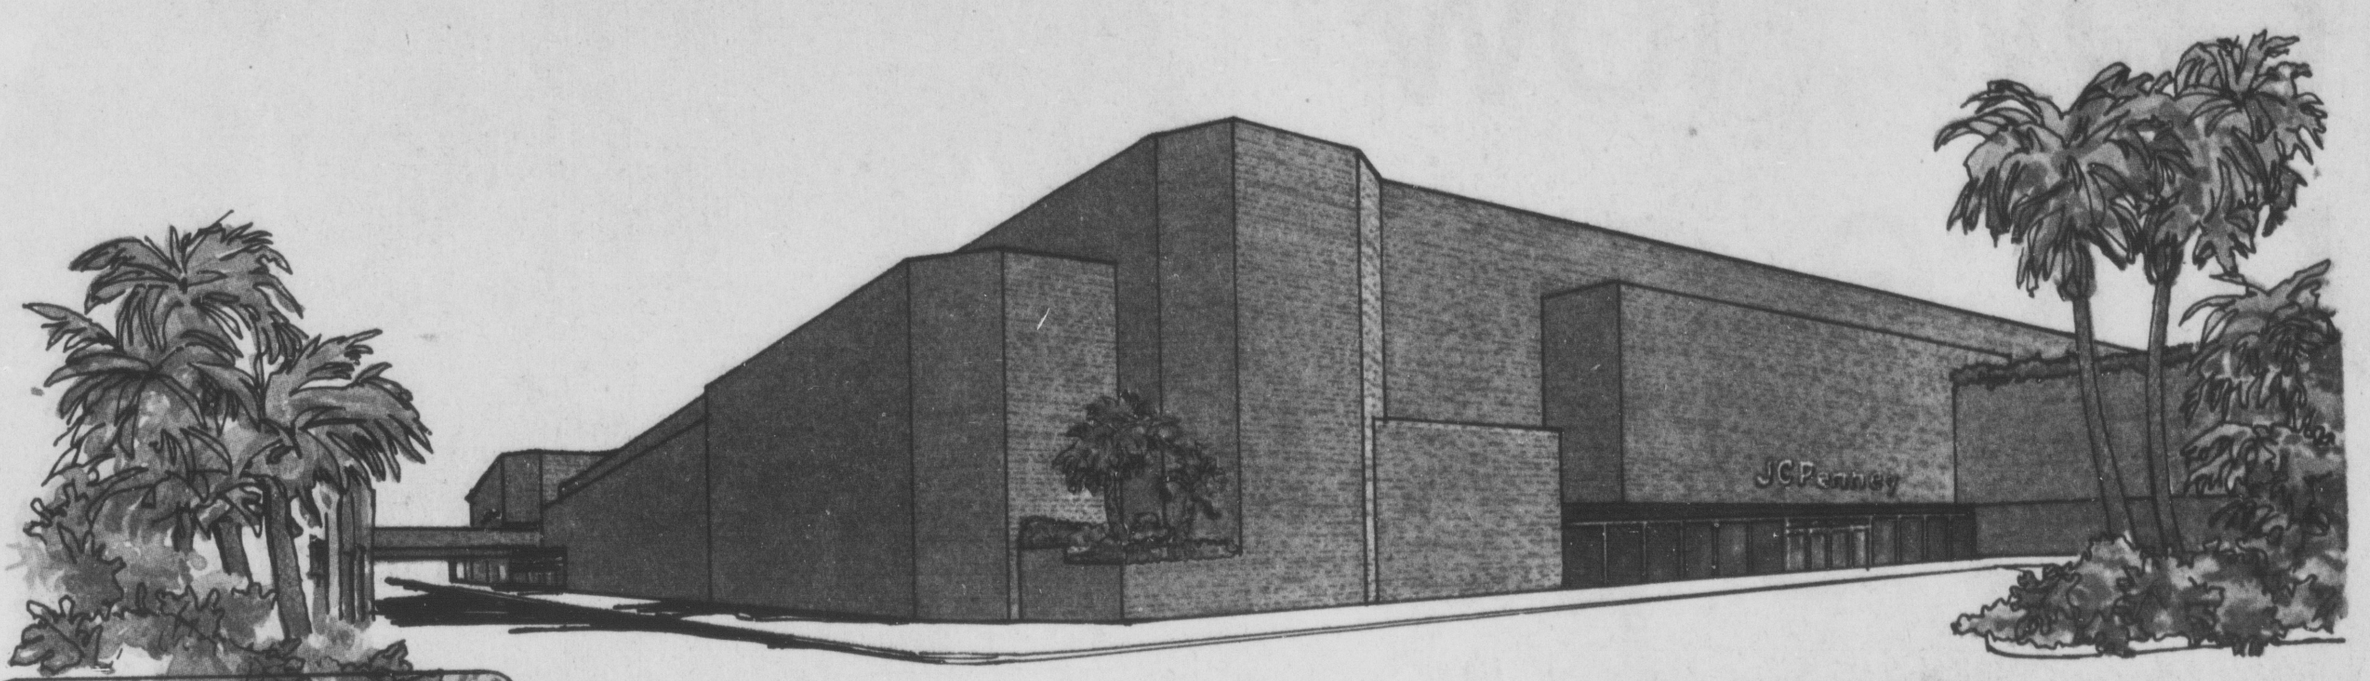
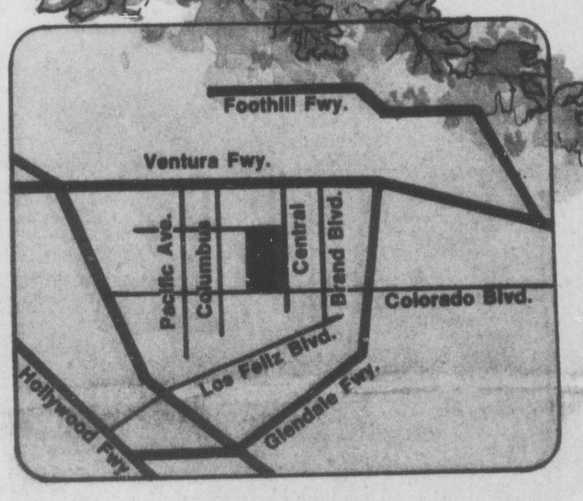
Giant 65 store celebration

welcomes the newest JCPenney in the Glendale Galleria opening Wednesday, Nov. 10th.





Make our new JCPenney store your headquarters for holiday shopping and take advantage of our Grand Opening sales and specials, our better than ever selection of up-to-the-minute fashions, quality home furnishings, appliances and accessories, camping needs, sporting goods, toys galore and much, much more. If it's something you want or need, chances are it's something JCPenney has in stock. More shopping room, more shopping services, more values than ever before. So, come on in and help us celebrate. And remember JCPenney offers you a choice of ways to pay; cash, layaway, time payment for major purchases, or take care of everything with your handy JCPenney Charge Card.

65 JCPenney stores in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside and Ventura counties join the Grand Opening Celebration.

JCPenney advertising policy. If for some unforeseen reason an advertised item is not in our store, we will either make the merchandise available to you at a later date, or at our option offer you an equal or better item at the advertised price. Those advertised items designated with "limited quantities" are available only while our quantities last, on a first come, first served basis.

Sorry, no mail, phone or C.O.D. orders.

Sale prices effective thru Sunday, Nov. 14.

For openers! 20% off these coordinates and shirts.

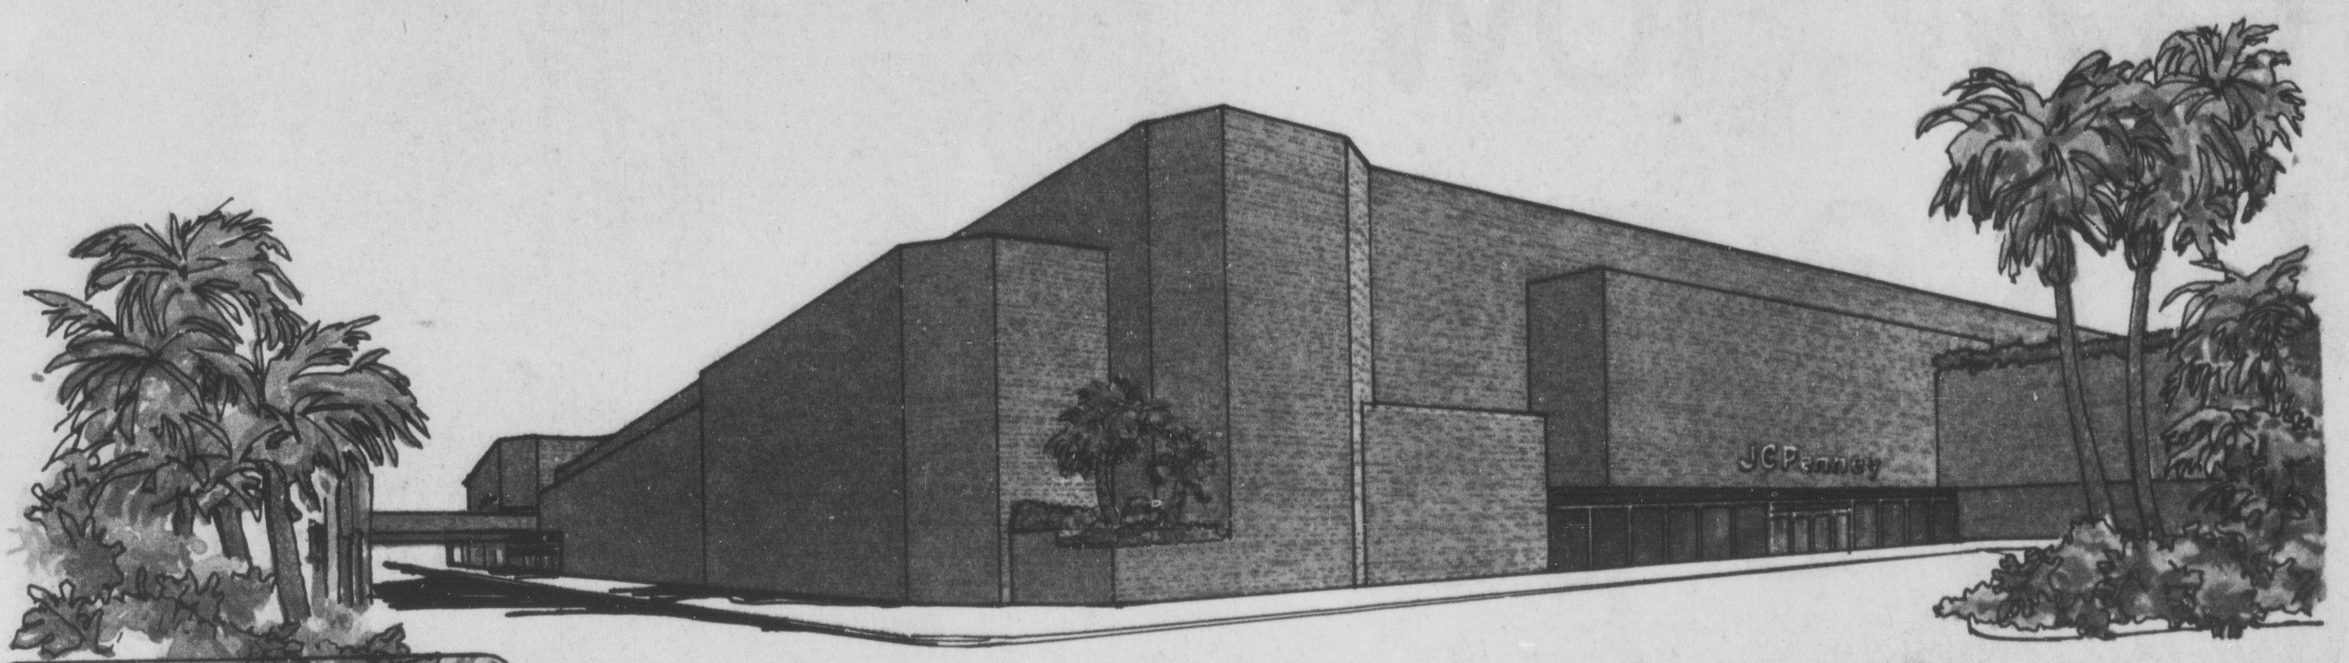
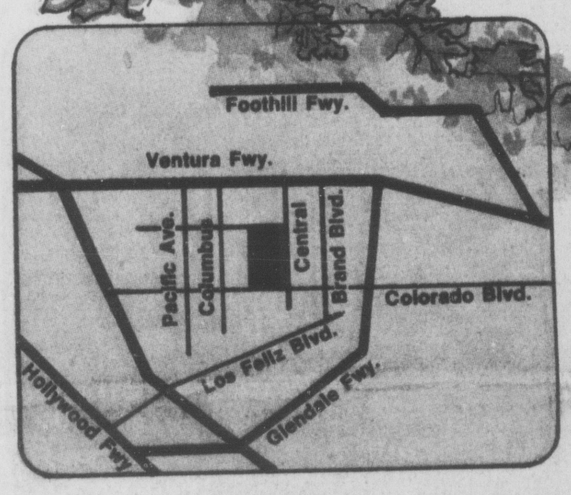
Giant 65 store celebration

welcomes the newest JCPenney in the Glendale Galleria opening Wednesday, Nov. 10th.





Make our new JCPenney store your headquarters for holiday shopping and take advantage of our Grand Opening sales and specials, our better than ever selection of up-to-the-minute fashions, quality home furnishings, appliances and accessories, camping needs, sporting goods, toys galore and much, much more. If it's something you want or need, chances are it's something JCPenney has in stock. More shopping room, more shopping services, more values than ever before. So, come on in and help us celebrate. And remember JCPenney offers you a choice of ways to pay; cash, layaway, time payment for major purchases, or take care of everything with your handy JCPenney Charge Card.

65 JCPenney stores in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside and Ventura counties join the Grand Opening Celebration.

JCPenney advertising policy. If for some unforeseen reason an advertised item is not in our store, we will either make the merchandise available to you at a later date, or at our option offer you an equal or better item at the advertised price. Those advertised items designated with "limited quantities" are available only while our quantities last, on a first come, first served basis.

Sorry, no mail, phone or C.O.D. orders.

Upland man, valley youth arrested in string of robberies

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

Law officers arrested an Upland man and Cucamonga youth early today after gunmen robbed a convenience market in Alta Loma and fled from police following a robbery of an Upland liquor store.

One shotgun blast was fired at the fleeing bandits in the Upland robbery but no one was injured.

Arrested were Mark S. Thomasson, 18, of 227 E. Seventh St., Upland, and a 17-year-old youth not identified. Police plan to question them regarding eight robberies involving liquor stores, convenience markets and a walk-in restaurant since Sept. 15. These were all believed robbed by two men riding a motorcycle.

West End sheriff's deputies reported a man wearing a green fatigue jacket and armed with a western-style revolver entered a convenience market at 6760 Carnelian St. Monday about 10:45 p.m. and ordered the clerk to hand over the cash from the register and place it in a paper bag. The gunman then fled.

Believing the robber to be the same person involved in a series of local robberies, deputies then alerted Upland police to the possibility of robberies in their city.

Upland police then set up surveillance at all the city's liquor stores and convenience markets.

About 11 p.m., Officer Frank Stratton saw a man in a green fatigue jacket who matched the description of the Alta Loma robber enter the Arrow Liquor Store at 61 E. Arrow Highway.

He then waited for the man to come out of the store and leveled a shotgun at him, ordering him to halt.

But the man turned and swung a revolver at the officer. The officer fired one round but the buckshot missed the robber who fled.

Officers began a search and apprehended one of the two suspects in an alley behind the liquor store. Then after checking the registration of a motorcycle which one man was riding, police went to a Cucamonga home and arrested the 17-year-old youth.

Officers said they found a large amount of cash and a pellet gun resembling a western-style revolver at the Cucamonga home.

Thomasson and the youth were booked at the West End jail on suspicion of armed robbery.

Oil nations may hike prices 10—25%

By The Associated Press

The major oil exporting nations appear sure to raise oil prices by at least 10 per cent at their ministerial meeting beginning Dec. 15 in the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Qatar.

Saudi Arabia, the largest oil exporter and the most powerful member of the Organization of Petrolueum Exporting Countries, has said it wants a "moderate" increase by the 13 members. This has been interpreted to mean about 10 per cent.

Iran, the second largest oil exporter, is thought to favor an increase in the area of 25 per cent, while Venezuela, another influential OPEC member, wants at least 15 per cent. Most other OPEC members have said they want an increase or will go along with one.

Ahmed Zaheri, the spokesman at OPEC's Vienna headquarters, said last month he believed the price would be "adjusted," which in oil talk means increased.

The oil countries argue that they need another increase because inflation in the West has raised the prices of industrial goods they import and is thus eating up oil income. Some Western economists dispute this view.

The present OPEC price of $11 51 for a 42-gallon barrel of standard grade crude has been in effect since Oct. 1, 1975. Oil ministers considered raising prices at their meeting in Bali in May, but took no action, apparently because of Saudi opposition.

Each 10 per cent increase in the price of OPEC oil, if passed along entirely to consumers, would add about a penny a gallon to the price of gasoline in the United States. This takes into consideration the fact that the United States imports 40 per cent of its oil.

A price increase would also be felt in many other parts of the economy, ranging from heating bills to public transportation.

Knut Hammarskjold, director general of the International Air Transport Association, said Monday in Singapore that an increase of 10 to 15 per cent in oil prices would add $250 million to $375 million to airline operating costs around the world. He said it would have to be passed along to passengers in the form of higher ticket prices.

U.S. President-elect Jimmy Carter said at his news conference last week that an oil price increase would be "a very serious blow" to consuming nations but that all he could do before taking office was to express concern.

Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi oil minister, said in August that some OPEC members wanted a "very drastic" increase similar to 1973 — the year oil prices were quadrupled. He said his government would resist a large increase because of concern for the economic recovery of the West.

Exorcism suspected in fatal beating of youngster

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — A mother and three other persons charged with fatally beating her 3-year-old son — in what the prosecutor says may have been an attempted exorcism — are asking prospective jurors whether they believe in reincarnation.

Yakima County Superior Court Judge Howard Hettinger ruled Monday that the four and a fifth defendant, all members of a religious household, were mentally competent to stand trial. Before he did so, four of them complained that psychiatrists who examined them were devils performing witchcraft.

All are charged with manslaughter and assault in the death of David Weilbacher, whose body was found wrapped in a sheet on a cot in the sealed back bedroom of a home just outside the Yakima city limits Sept. 19. The coroner said he died of a series of beatings about two months earlier.

The defendants are Edward Leon Cunningham, 51, a self-proclaimed pastor and "prophet of God;" his wife, Velma, 45; her daughter, Carolyn, 27; Lorraine Edwards, 20; and Debra Marie Weilbacher, 20, David's mother.

David's father is a Marine, divorced from Mrs. Weilbacher.

Only Mrs. Cunningham is represented by an attorney. The others said they preferred to act as their own attorneys, putting their fate in the hands of God.

On Monday, the four asked prospective jurors, "Do you believe in reincarnation?" They also queried them as to their feelings about spanking children, whether they ever had a religious experience and whether they felt God intervenes directly in people's lives.

During a pretrial hearing last month, Yakima County Prosecutor Jeffrey Sullivan said Cunningham answered questions with Biblical quotations, specifically:

Proverbs 13:23 — "Do not withhold discipline from a child; if you beat him with a rod he will not die;" Matthew 17:18 — "And Jesus rebuked the devil and he departed out of him," and Exodus 22:18 — "Thou shall not suffer a witch to live."

Sullivan also said during the pretrial hearing that Cunningham and other members of the household indicated they thought the child was possessed by the devil and beatings were the way to deal with it.

Police said the Cunninghams had lived in the Yakima area for seven or eight years, and neighbors said they had lived in the house for four years.

Young Pomonan held in slaying

A young Pomona man has been arrested in connection with the slaying Sept. 6 of Manuel Ambriz Martinez, the 22-year-old man stabbed outside a liquor store at 953 W. Mission Blvd.

Police arrested Diego Bernal, 19, of 1155 W. Fourth St. whom they found being treated for a stab wound Nov. 1 at the County-USC Medical Center in Los Angeles. He was later admitted to the hospital's jail ward.

Bernal was arrested on a murder warrant issued by Pomona Municipal Court Judge Thomas F. Nuss which allowed no bail.

Bernal is the third suspect arrested in the slaying. Earlier, however, the district attorney's office rejected police requests for complaints against the other two because of insufficient evidence.

Investigators said that Martinez apparently was mistaken for a youth gang member when he was attacked outside R and J Liquors early that morning.

Martinez was stabbed seven times shortly before 2 a.m. At least one of the wounds penetrated his heart and he was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The suspect was located at the county hospital through information obtained by the Los Angeles Police Department and given local police.

Details of how Bernal himself had been wounded were not available.

Nine states could feel natural gas shortages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Administration said today that the nation has enough alternate fuels to offset expected shortages of natural gas this winter if the weather and other factors are normal.

But John D. Christie, assistant administrator for energy information and analysis, added that nine states may be vulnerable to temporary local fuel shortages if unusually cold weather strikes.

Christie told a House subcommittee on energy and power that the most susceptible states are North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Maryland, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky, West Virginia and Arizona.

Christie noted that even though other fuels can substitute for natural gas, the alternatives — fuel oil and propane — are more expensive and may cost an extra $550 million to $650 million this winter. The extra fuel costs may reach as much as $4 billion to $5 billion for the entire year from last April through next March, he said.

Christie said the FEA estimates a total shortage of about 1.84 trillion cubic feet of natural gas this winter, about 18 per cent of the requirements of final users.

He said no residential customers are expected to suffer any curtailments of gas service this winter.

Commercial customers, curtailed about 4 per cent of their requirements last winter, may be short by about 6 per cent of their gas requirements this winter but, "under normal weather conditions, virtually all of these commercial customers are expected to be able to obtain and use alternate fuels," he said.

Christie said the gas curtailments of industrial customers are expected to increase from 19 per cent of requirements to about 25 per cent this winter, while curtailments of electric utilities are projected to rise from 45 per cent to 51 per cent of requirements.

He said an FEA survey found that inventories of middle distillate heating oils are high and inventories of propane were at record levels, about 10 per cent higher than a year ago.

Stocks of residual fuel oil were about 9 per cent lower in October than a year earlier. "However, it appears that refiners and marketers can rely on reserve capacitites to meet winter needs," Christie said.

Although the nationwide outlook was optimistic, Christie said that unusually cold weather for a long time could cause temporary shortages in some local areas because of difficulties in diverting alternate fuel supplies fast enough to make up for the sudden surge in demand.

She listens on phone as her uncle kills self

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "The next thing you'll hear is the bang," Gus Zanos told his niece over the telephone.

And Teddie Kiloxylos listened at the other end of the line Monday as her 55-year-old uncle, a former small-town police chief, shot himself to death rather than begin serving a six-year jail sentence for embezzlement.

Zanos placed the call from his attorney's office minutes before he was to report to jail, the coroner's office said. The sentence was imposed after he pleaded guilty in a $418,069 bank embezzlement conspiracy.

"He told me he wanted to say goodbye," his niece told authorities later. "He tells me he was sold out by his attorney, that he was bearing the brunt of the whole thing.

"Then he says, 'The next thing you'll hear is the bang.' I heard the blast and I heard him fall."

Federal prosecutors claimed Zanos, ex-police chief of Apollo in nearby Armstrong County, embezzled the money along with two bank employes in a check kiting scheme. Zanos allegedly used most of the money to buy pornographic movies that he hoped to sell at a profit.

Zanos considered his sentence too harsh and had tried to raise money for a lie detector test that he hoped would at least partly exonerate him, his brother Jim said.

After three postponements, Zanos was ordered to report to jail at noon Monday.

About that time, he went to see his attorney and asked for the private use of an office to make some phone calls, police said. He carried a concealed gun.

Carter's foreign policy has diplomats guessing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The election of Jimmy Carter has created what foreign diplomats here describe as uncertainty about future U.S. foreign policy directions.

These diplomats, who asked not to be identified, say it's not easy to try to determine what to expect from an incoming president whose views have not been shaped by long years of service in Washington.

Ideologically, Carter is an enigma to diplomats here because he received advice from both liberals and conservatives and attacked President Ford from both sides during the campaign.

About all foreign representatives here have to go on in assessing Carter are his campaign statements. They are aware that some of these statements have been strongly oriented to domestic voting blocs.

The diplomats' problem now is to try to sift out campaign rhetoric from statements of serious intent.

One reason that the foreign diplomats cited for their view of Carter is his insistence on opening up the decision-making process and on involvement of "the people" in foreign policy.

Carter's opposition to Ford administration policy in the Panama Canal negotiations, in foreign arms sales and in development of the B1 bomber coincided precisely with public sentiment as reflected by the findings of his pollster Patrick Caddell.

State Department officials argue that such a technique may be effective for a political campaign but could be detrimental to the national interest if he continues to use it as president.

"Public opinion polls are not always the best guide to formulating policy," said one official. As for Carter's pledge to give the people a role in the policy process, the official said this is one promise Carter will probably have to abandon quickly.

Decisions on such issues as strategic arms limitation talks, and fisheries and commodity agreements "simply don't lend themselves to public involvement," he said.

There are other questions raised by diplomats about what the Carter administration will be like:

—On Korea, Carter has pledged a phased withdrawal of American troops over a four-to-five year period and close consultation with Korea and Japan. But what if these countries regard a troop withdrawal as a destabilizing influence or if the Japanese interpret it as a weakening of the U.S. commitment to Japan's defense?

—On China, Carter charged the Ford administration with "frittering away" an opportunity for normalizing relations. But diplomats are wondering if he can move toward that goal without compromising his commitment to the "freedom and independence of Taiwan.

—On relations with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, both Ford and Carter have warned against imposing a major oil price increase at next month's OPEC meeting in Qatar. But has the American ability to influence OPEC declined as a result of Carter's campaign attacks on the Arab boycott of Israel and his criticism of U.S. arms shipments to such major oil suppliers as Saudi Arabia and Iran?

—Carter has pledged expanded ties with the developing countries, virtually all of which are under authoritarian rule and suppress political dissent. How can Carter establish closer links with dictatorships while fullfiling his commitment to expand U.S. efforts to protect human rights abroad?

Butchers okay new contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A second union which had threatened to strike supermarkets in Southern California and Nevada has overwhelmingly ratified a new contract.

Official word of the ratification Monday by the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers Workmen came a day after a similar pact was adopted by the Teamsters Union.

The butchers voted 3-1 in favor of the new pact, which will give them a raise of $2.72 an hour over the next three years. Of that, $1.35 will be in wages and $1.37 in pension, health and welfare benefits.

Under the old contract, meatcutters had earned an average $6 89 an hour.

Death investigation testimony

A stormy day on the mental hospital scene

VENTURA (AP) — A Ventura County grand jury has heard testimony that a Camarillo State Hospital mental patient died of pneumonia after doctors failed to check her thoroughly.

And prosecutors say that death and 12 others at the hospital could warrant charges ranging from murder to criminal negligence.

Meanwhile, a Los Angeles county coroner's jury decided Monday that the death of a patient at another mental hospital — Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk — was "at the hands of another, other than by accident."

A spokesman for the Los Angeles district attorney's office — who had monitored the inquest into the death of John Edward Mulick — said:

From this point, we'll be working closely with sheriff's deputies in the homicide division to answer the question of who administered the drug...specifically, who was responsible for the overdose ingestion."

A pathologist from the county coroner-medical examiner's office testified last Friday that Mulick, 32, had died from a massive overdose of an antipsychotic drug, Thorazine.

In what proved to be a stormy day on the state mental hospital scene Monday, a newly hired troubleshooter called Metropolitan "a mess."

However, Raymond Procunier, chief deputy director in the state Health Department, blamed problems in the 11-hospital system on a "few bad apples" and vowed to get rid of them — even if they are hospital directors.

Procunier made the comments at Camarillo, where hospital employes in an angry press conference complained bitterly about understaffing.

Asked about alleged intimidation of some employes by other workers, Procunier said, "We are going to find out who they are and boot them out."

The grand jury probing patient deaths at Camarillo held its first session Monday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. William Maxwell said a year-long investigation of deaths over the last four years had turned up 13 individual deaths that could warrant serious charges and 42 other questionable deaths he said would be presented "in summary form."

Maxwell called four witnesses who testified about the death of Alice Smith, 60, who was admitted to Camarillo on May 1, 1973, for psychiatric problems and died early the next day.

Although she arrived in a wheelchair and appparently was having trouble breathing, the physician who admitted her merely prescribed tranquilizers and sleeping drugs and sent her to an acute psychotic ward, witnesses said.

Dr. Al J. Lilly, a retired psychiatrist at Camarillo, said he didn't give her a physical exam, because "I knew she had been cleared by the L.A. County medical staff." (She had been transferred from the Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center.)

Two psychiatric technicians, Ruth Morgan and Victorina Belote, both testified that Mrs. Smith complained of difficulty breathing and was placed in a chair on the ward because she could breathe easier sitting up.

Dr. Harold Kade, a former Ventura County coroner's official, said he performed an autopsy on Mrs. Smith and attributed her death to "terminal bronchopneumonia" and congestive heart failure.

Kade said a person suffering from those conditions would probably be short of breath, weak and "visibly ill."

Maxwell indicated after the session that he felt the testimony showed negligence in the death.

"She was not examined physically and the testimony that she had trouble breathing. There was testimony as to a number of things that should have been noticeable. I think it meets all the tests," Maxwell said.

Other deaths to be presented involve strangulation, drug overdoses and drownings. The hearings are expected to last 10 days and involve more than 100 witnesses.

The public and press were admitted to the hearings — normally secret — at the request of the district attorney and the grand jury foreman.

As the session was beginning, the California State Employes Association attempted to get a court order closing the hearings. The CSEA represents a majority of the 2,000 employes at Camarillo, and the group's attorney argued that the publicity could hurt employes' reputations and might affect the grand jury's judgment.

The request was denied without comment by Superior Court Judge Robert Willard. It was not immediately known if the CSEA would appeal the ruling.

Alta Loma salary talks near an end

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Correspondent

Deadlocked teacher-school board salary negotiations apparently have moved off dead center in Alta Loma and are nearing settlement.

Teachers at Monday night's meeting said a vote Monday afternoon indicated that more than 60 per cent of them will accept a 4½ per cent pay hike on an interim basis until negotiations are complete. Such a raise would be paid teachers now retroactive to Sept. 1 until final agreement is reached.

During the meeting before Supt. Floyd Stork and trustees met in secret session to discuss state mandated union negotiations with teachers, Stork said a stalemate seems to have been broken with talks moving toward approval.

In other action, the board set March 8 for the next trustee election. Trustee President Mrs. Nancy Kettle said she definitely will run again as will incumbents W. Dick Achuff and Bob Frost for four-year terms. Filing for those spots opens next month. Mrs. Kettle said she does not know if anyone else will file "but I've heard that some people are planning to run."

Last election in March 1975 cost the district nothing since no one opposed Earle Anderson or Paul Sage whose terms expire in 1979.

Trustees also approved a resolution to handle any tie votes by runoff election rather than by lot as has been done in the past.

Hiring of a part time business manager was approved by board members to assist Stork for the remainder of the year for a salary not to exceed $8,000.

Straight Ahead holds open house

Straight Ahead, Inc., a community treatment center under the Federal Bureau of Prisons, will hold an open house Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at its Ontario facility.

The open house will be in celebration of the third anniversary of the facility. Representatives of the county probation department, West Valley and Pomona Superior and Municipal courts, local community volunteers and city officials are expected to attend.

Homemaker-chore program to get tight supervision?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The homemaker-chore program, one of the fastest-growing and most troubled of all welfare programs, is supposed to get tight state supervision under newly proposed rules.

The rules, to take effect early next year, are aimed at controlling companies that provide less than one-fifth of the program's services under contract with counties but are getting an increasing share of the costs.

In one recent publicized case, a San Franciso contractor, Visiting Home Services, went bankrupt amid allegations of six-figure profiteering by its executives.

The proposed rules — contained in a scathing state Health Department report on the program — were made public a day before today's scheduled Assembly Health and Welfare Committee hearing into the program.

The report by the department's social service unit said the nearly 3-year-old program "was implemented hastily, without proper planning" and suffers from "a lack of management direction and controls."

About 70,000 aged, blind or disabled welfare recipients currently get in-home housekeeping help under the program, which costs $116 million a year in state and federal money.

Without the care, the state says, those recipients would have to stay in nursing homes at a cost of an additional $40 million a year.

However, controls over who gets the services are loose and vary from county to county, the department report said.

Another problem is a law that limits federal payments to the program without limiting state payments. Officials say the federal share, originally proposed at 75 per cent, is now down to 60 per cent.

The state's share has grown from $24.7 million to $38.2 million in two years, and will increase about another $14 million with the increase in the state's minimum wage, said Health Department spokesman Bob Nance.

In addition, the report estimated about 72,000 more persons are eligible for the program.

The report attributed rising costs to "increases in caseload, continuing inflation, new statutory program expansions, and the lack of management direction and controls at all levels of government."

The new regulations are to contain criteria — now virtually nonexistent — for county contracts with homemaker firms, including a requirement tnat contractors provide full financial information in advance.

The information will include background of all company officers and a statement of financial condition and profits.

Nance said the department hopes that requirement will avoid a repetition of the Visiting Home Services scandal.

The Health Department said the former head of that firm, Peter Gottheiner, paid himself salary and expense advances of more than $112,000 for the first half of this year, paid large sums to relatives, and projected healthy profits while the company was going broke.

Meanwhile, the department said it was subpoenaing the records of a former competitor of Gottheiner, Hadley Hall, executive director of Home Health Services, Inc., of San Francisco.

Nance said Hall had refused to let a state auditing team, which is inspecting records of all homemaker chore contractors, look at his books.

Other proposed rules include:

—Standards for pay to employes and cost of services.

The report said that before the $2.50 minimum wage was implemented, contractor pay to employes ranged from $1.65 to $4.30 an hour for similar tasks, and the cost of service per month ranged from $30.49 in Amador County to $208.69 in San Francisco County.

—Limits on the amount a recipient can have a relative paid in government funds for doing chore services in the home.

—A requirement of proof that a recipient would need institutional care without the homemaker chore service.

Nance denied that the proposed regulations were prompted by today's legislative hearing, saying work started on the report about four months ago.

Later Monday, Assemblyman Mike Cullen, the Long Beach Democrat who is chairman of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, blasted the Health Department in the release of an updated audit on the program.

The auditor general's report said there were recent improvements in the department's effort to administer the homemaker-chore program.

The new audit cited continued failure to monitor program administration, adopt appropriate regulations and use available federal funding.

How Tunney lost 13,000 votes

Although it wouldn't have made much difference in Sen. John Tunney's loss to S.I. Hayakawa last week, a research institute says the format of the Los Angeles County ballot caused Tunney to lose as many as 13,000 votes.

Many voters overlooked the names of the Senate contestants on the county ballot, according to the study released Monday, because they were situated too close to the presidential section.

"There's no way you can say it cost him the election. His statewide loss was too much," said Helene V. Smookler of the Rose Institute of State and Local Government at Claremont Men's College.

"But the importance is for future elections and the way the county puts together its ballot."

A campaign spokesman for Tunney said no action was planned on the basis of the study.

"It's the kind of thing that had we lost by 15,000 or 20,000 statewide votes it would be one thing," said spokesman Marty Franks. "But instead of being one factor it's just one of several factors.

"The fact is we just flat out got beat."

The number of votes in nonpresidential races normally is smaller than polling for president, but the study showed an unusually high drop off — 336,000 votes — between the presidential and Senate races.

The study also showed that eight statewide propositions and four county measures drew more votes than did the Senate race.

Los Angeles County holds 30 per cent of the state's total electorate and Tunney, whose home is in Los Angeles, carried the county by 50 per cent to Hayakawa's 47 per cent. Hayakawa's margin of victory statewide, however, was 226,953.

The estimates of Tunney's loss were derived from the percentage of the dropoff that would have been his according to his margin over Hayakawa, Ms. Smookler said.

The lost votes included about 25 per cent of black voters and 20 per cent of Mexican American voters who were considered crucial to Tunney's re-election, the study said.

County Recorder-Registrar Leonard Panish said composition of the ballot was complicated by the fact that ballots for the county's 32 separate voting jurisdictions contained a total of 349 candidates. He noted the Senate section, though close to the presidential portion, was clearly marked.

"It was as clear as it could be," he said.

Thayer found guilty in Ontario murder

After nine hours of deliberation, a West Valley Superior Court jury Monday found Roger Eugene Thayer guilty of murdering a La Puente man in an Ontario vineyard on Aug. 13.

Judge Clifton Allen ordered the defendant to return to court Nov. 29 for reading of his probation report and sentencing.

Because of a large amount of circumstantial evidence presented during the trial, the prosecution did not ask for the death penalty.

Thayer was convicted of killing George Michael Chavez, 23, who was found naked on a dirt road in a vineyard near the Ontario International Airport.

The defendant was accused of picking up Chavez in La Puente and driving to Ontario. They stopped on a dirt road in the vineyard when Chavez, an alcoholic, became ill.

While in the vineyard, Thayer removed a pistol from the trunk of his car and shot the victim, officials charged.

The prosecution charged the defendant killed Chavez for a friend who is an inmate at the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo.

Chavez was reported to have testified against Thayer's friend on an assault charge which partly resulted in his being sentenced to prison, said officials.

25 freed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police freed 25 persons locked in the vault of a discount jewelry store during an alleged robbery attempt and arrested two men trying to escape by posing as hostages, officers said.

Police said a third person was believed involved in the incident Monday at the Columbia Merchandise Co. store in Tarzana.

CARRIERS HONORED

Seven Progress Bulletin carriers were honored Monday by the Pomona Noon Optimist Club in the annual observance of Youth Appreciation Week.

The carriers and their parents were guests of the local club at a luncheon at the Pomona Elks Lodge.

The local Optimist club joins others throughout North America in giving recognition to the responsible youth of today in the home and community in contrast to the small minority of young people whose behavior is such that it brings about unfavorable publicity.

Optimist Club Vice-President Gene Tomashek awarded Youth Appreciation Week citations to Karen Ritter, Chari Marcucci, Phil Ritter, Brian Bailey, Byron Melling, Kevin Langrell and Steven Burkholder.

Guest speaker during the special luncheon was Paul E. Lee, general manager of the California newspaper Youth Foundation, Inc.

Lee explained that the foundation was incorporated 30 years ago to protect the right of youth to enter into the calling of his own choosing, including that of a newspaper carrier.

"California is the only state to have such a foundation," Lee said. "We have been successful in protecting the youth's right."

Lee said that the foundation has given $120,000 in scholarships since 1955.

Lee reviewed the history of newsmaking from the town crier to invention of the double-cylinder printing press by Hoe in 1870, which led to the carrier system.

"A paper route gives a youngster the opportunity to meet all kinds of people," Lee said. "We're fighting today to see that youth has as much opportunity as in the past."

Also guests of the Optimist club were Bob Bush, general manager; John Ardelan, circulation manager; and Richard Klein, assistant circulation manager, all of the Progress Bulletin.

The Progress Bulletin is a member of the foundation, which represents about 70,000 carriers in the state.

Watson aide accused in yacht probe

Two employes say assessor knew of attempt to block tax roll listing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two employes of the county assessor's office have accused Assessor Philip Watson's chief field deputy of trying to block their attempt to list the yacht of a Watson campaign contributor on the county tax roll.

The employes said Gene Eley, the deputy and a political appointee, had done so with Watson's knowledge.

Their testimony was the first major development as a county Board of Supervisors hearing opened Monday into marine assessment practices. The hearing follows charges by Supervisor Baxter Ward that yacht owners were being allowed to pay lower assessments or escape taxes altogether by listing false home ports.

Monday's hearing dealt with the case of the yacht Sapphire Sea II owned by Arthur H. Kaplan of Beverly Hills who contributed $1,000 to Watson's reelection campaign in 1970 and $2,000 in 1974, according to county records.

The contributions were made by Kaplan personally and through his business firms.

Eley was named by Les Lakness, director of the assessor's marine assessment section, and Peter Finie, the assessor responsible for vessels berthed at Marina del Rey, where Kaplan rents a slip for his boat.

Lakness testified that the Sapphire Sea II was not taxed in 1973, 1974 or 1975 and that when he tried to tax the vessel, Eley had told him it was for charter and could not be taxed.

The boat's owner was listed as a dummy corporation, White Cloud Boat Charter Co. of Portland, Ore., Lakness testified. The boat was never chartered by anyone except Kaplan, he said.

Lakness said he refused to go along with Eley in 1974 and subsequently was transferred out of the marine assessment division for two years, returning only recently to head it.

Finie, whom Watson has termed a discredit to the office, testified that he had believed the failure to assess Kaplan's yacht was illegal. He said Eley had questioned what he was trying to do to "our friend" and prevented the listing until this year when Finie's superior determined that the boat was unknown to Oregon waters.

Kaplan since has been assessed $23,000 after the assessor's staff listed the vessel on its roll. Kaplan has paid the assessment but appealed the levy.

In addition he has been billed for $65,000 in missed assessments for the previous years.

CHARGED IN BOY'S DEATH

Charge illegal phone tapping in Baldwin Park

BALDWIN PARK (AP) — Funds from a million-dollar federal grant to gather intelligence on criminal activities were used in part by police here to illegally tap telephones of city employes and bug a closed-door City Council meeting for apparently political motives, the Los Angeles Times said today.

The newspaper also quoted informed sources that conversations in the offices of the Baldwin Park mayor and a newspaper publisher were monitored during the alleged 30 months of electronic snooping that ended last March.

The surveillance in the suburban community "apparently politically motivated," the Times said.

James Sexton, the acting city manager, and newly appointed Police Chief Leonard Chellino reportedly launched an investigation into the alleged snooping and discovered several tape recordings at the home of former Police Chief Dale Adams, who died of cancer last month, the account said.

Wiretaps are illegal under California law, whether conducted by police or civilians. The law does not affect federal law enforcement personnel operating in the state.

Police in California, however, are permitted to use electronic eavesdropping devices, but only during a criminal investigation.

Conviction for violations carry a possible maximum three-year prison sentence and a $2,500 fine.

In 1972, Baldwin Park police sought and received a $1.06 million grant from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to form an intelligence-gathering network called the East Valley Information System (EVIS).

The crime intelligence network was created to combat narcotics, gambling, vice and similar problems faced by neighboring communities.

Under black rule...

Rhodesia to turn to Soviet

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Black Rhodesian leader Joshua Nkomo indicates that Rhodesia under black rule will look to the Soviet Union for friendship, support and aid rather than to the United States.

"The relationship between us and any other country would be governed by (its attitude) ... during our period of armed struggle," said the 59-year-old elder statesman of black politics in Rhodesia during an interview Monday. And later he pointed out:

"We get our assistance, especially military assistance, from the Soviet Union. It's no secret. We have gone to them. They haven't come to us. ... We are working with them."

"Our relations with the United States would be the relations between two independent countries," he said.

Nkomo said he thinks neither Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger nor his successor has any role to play at the deadlocked Geneva conference on the transfer of power in Rhodesia from the white minority to the black majority.

Nkomo explained that as far as the black leaders are concerned, the Geneva negotiations are "basically" between them and the British, since the blacks refuse to recognize Prime Minister Ian Smith's declaration of independence from Britain 11 years ago and demand that Britain as the colonial power arrange the transfer of power to them.

Kissinger's African shuttle that produced the Geneva conference "has not involved the people of Zimbabwe (the black name for Rhodesia) as such but involved Smith and his helpers, the South Africans," Nkomo continued.

"If the Americans could through pressurizing the South Africans put pressure on Smith, that would not have a bearing on the affairs (here) but on the individuals on whom the Americans could bring pressure to bear. So when it comes to discussing the actual affairs of Zimbabwe, the United States has no more role."

In Washington, meanwhile, Ford administration strategists have not ruled out direct intervention in the talks by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Officials said Kissinger may feel obliged to go to Geneva to see if the six-point package formulated in Africa remains a basis for settlement.

Nkomo also showed no interest in the $2-billion foreign aid fund which Kissinger has proposed to compensate whites who leave Rhodesia and finance development of the country under black rule.

"I don't know ... what that fund is," he said. "But if it is ... to buy property from those who want to leave and that property will be owned by the trust fund, then no thank you. Our country being bought over by some fund, that we cannot have."

Discussing the rivalries among the factions represented by the four black leaders at the Geneva conference, Nkomo said, "There is a chance of civil war if people with military forces go separate ways."

The two other black leaders at Geneva are Bishop Abel Muzorewa, who headed a short-lived ZAPU-ZANU coalition called the African National Council, and the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, a ZANU leader.

Flag pledge, minute of silent meditation in Philadelphia schools

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Board of Education has voted to require the city's public schools to provide pupils an opportunity to begin the day with the Pledge of Allegiance and a minute of silent meditation.

Pupils could abstain from participating, however, for religious or other personal reasons.

In adopting the plan on a 5-1 vote Monday, the school board said that the silent minute was not an attempt to circumvent the 1963 U.S. Supreme Court decision banning school prayer.

"If a student wants to begin his day by getting in touch with God, or simply putting his day in order in his own mind, that's his personal choice," said board member Felice Stark, who introduced the plan.

Reciting the pledge had not been a citywide requirement since the late 1960s. At that time the board responded to protests from some parents by leaving a decision on use of the pledge up to administrators at each of the 2,080 schools.

"I was shocked to find that this wasn't done," said Mrs. Stark about the lack of a requirement to recite the pledge.

Tobyann Boonin, lone dissenter among the board members, said the pledge could make children uncomfortable and the meditation might invite them to be disruptive.

"I don't want to go against anybody's religion," she said. "I have discovered that several religions ... are not allowed to take the Pledge of Allegiance."

Meanwhile, the Orleans Parish School Board in Louisiana voted Monday to allow pupils and faculty a maximum of 60 seconds of silent meditation at the beginning of each school day.

Spotlight on area crime

Via Verde lights shot out; pair held

Two young men were arrested Monday night by Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies who charged them with using rifles to shoot out 18 street lights in the Via Verde section of south San Dimas.

The suspects, Douglas Charles Dimitruk, 18, of Covina, and Paul Gregory Knauer, 18, of Canoga Hills, were booked under a felonious malicious mischief section of the state Penal Code.

Deputies said the lights were shot out with .22-caliber rifles. They estimated the damage at $1,295.

Liquor store robbed

A Pomona liquor store was robbed Monday night by two men, one of whom was armed with a small pistol.

The victim, Joseph P. Kim, 20, said he and his mother, Myongpun Kim, 42, were alone in Al's Liquors at 1613 N. Garey Ave. when the pair entered and selected a bottle of wine. At the checkout counter, one pulled the weapon and demanded money. After getting it, both fled.

The armed man was described as black, about 30, 6 feet 1 and slender. He wore a denim jacket, denim trousers and had a mustache.

Pipe bomb explosion

Several area residents reported hearing a loud explosion about midnight. Their calls sent deputies to the scene.

Officers found metal fragments had punctured the loading dock door. The explosion also shattered several lights in the storage area. Deputies believed the bomb was about a foot in length.

Indictments to be sought against ex-FBI officials?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department spokesmen refused comment Tuesday on a report that the government may seek indictments against 10 to 20 per cent of former FBI officials.

The New York Times reported today that department lawyers had concluded they could support charges that the persons under investigation knew of or approved illegal investigative techniques.

The Times quoted federal sources as saying prosecutors in the department's civil rights division had found evidence of illegal wiretaps, bugs, burglaries, mail openings and other practices.

The sources told the Times that a memorandum on the subject was expected to be submitted to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi this week. The newspaper said the lawyers were expected to recommend that Levi permit them to seek indictments against some or all of those named.

The memorandum is based on grand jury testimony and examination of bureau documents over the last five months by a special panel in the criminal section of the civil rights division, the Times said.

Phone worker instant millionaire

NEW YORK (AP) — A $17,000-a-year telephone installer who became a millionaire by buying a lottery ticket plans to celebrate by buying a new Cadillac and vacationing in Bermuda.

When John Sartoretti, 26, heard his name called Monday night by comedian Jerry Lewis at Roseland Dance City in Manhattan, the chubby, bearded Queens man leapt out of his seat and bounded onto the stage.

He is the second jackpot winner in the Empire Stakes Instant Lottery, which carries a prize of $1,000-a-week for life with a guarantee of at least $1 million.

En route to the stage, Sartoretti knocked over spectators and television equipment. Still yelling, he gave Lewis a giant bear hug, then, suddenly subdued, managed a meek "hello" into the microphone.

Immedatey after the announcement, Sartoretti said he planned a long trip to Bermuda with his wife, Pat, 26, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sartoretti, also of the College Point section of Queens.

Then, because Lewis had drawn his name, the elated winner pledged "a sum in the high four figures" to aid in the fight against muscular dystrophy. Lewis is the main benefactor of that charity.

Sartoretti also said he plans "to live a long time and preserve myself" so he can collect more than $1 million. He can pass that mark by living just 19.2 more years.

There were 83 finalists for the drawing, and each won at least $5,000.

Some Cadillac dealer will be pleasantly surprised, because Sartoretti plans to buy a new model today. "I've always wanted one, probably red or some wild color," he said.

Mrs. Sartoretti, who calls herself "a full time housewife," said she would "like to go out and buy a new house and some more toys" for her 2½-year-old daughter Kathy.

Sartoretti said he will "take a month off from work and decide what to do."

Man condemned to die by firing squad reprieved

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Mark Gilmore, condemned to die before a Utah firing squad next Monday in the first execution in the United States since 1967, has been given a reprieve he didn't want.

The Utah Supreme Court on Monday stayed by a vote of 3-2 a district judge's order of execution. The high court was asked for the stay to allow time for an appeal of Gilmore's death sentence for the murder of a night clerk during a motel robbery.

The 35-year-old Gilmore sent two handwritten notes before the decision asking the justices to disregard efforts to delay his execution, which he has said he prefers to a life in prison.

The stay was sought by two court-appointed lawyers.

There was no immediate reaction from Gilmore to the court's action.

The lawyers, whom Gilmore has said he fired, also asked the court to review the first-degree murder conviction and Utah's homicide statute, which they said has never been challenged.

The stay was granted in a terse order signed by Justices J. Allan Crockett, D. Frank Wilkins and Richard J. Maughan. Chief Justice Henri Henriod and Justice A.H. Ellett dissented, but did not say why.

In one of his letters, Gilmore objected to the effort to prevent his execution and said those behind it, including the American Civil Liberties Union, "seek nothing but personal publicity."

"Don't the people of Utah have the courage of their convictions?", he asked. "You sentence a man to die — me — and when I accept this most extreme punishment with grace and dignity, you, the people of Utah, want to back down and argue with me about it.

"You're silly."

Gilmore said he was "sane, rational and more intelligent than the average person."

"I've been sentenced to die. I accept that ..," the letter said.

The condemned man asked the court to "please forthwith appoint counsel to represent me — without any delays, regarding the Nov. 15 date."

Before sentencing, Gilmore said he shot Bennie Bushnell, 25, after ordering him to lie down on the motel floor.

"I felt there was no way what happened could have been avoided," Gilmore said. "There was no other choice or chance for Mr. Bushnell. It was something that couldn't be stopped."

FPC blocks rate hikes to build power plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission on Monday refused to make electric and gas customers pay the construction costs of new power plants and pipelines before those facilities start delivering service.

The decision, tentatively adopted a month ago and made permanent Monday, was initially hailed by a citizen consumer group as a victory that will save the average family about $42 a year on its electric bill through the 1970s.

The FPC action does not reduce electric rates. Instead, it blocks an increase that would have resulted if the FPC had followed the utility industries' urging to let power companies include in their rates the cost of power plants still under construction.

The commission permitted electric utilities to charge consumers for the costs of facilities that are being built to reduce environmental pollution or to convert oil or natural gas-burning power plants to other fuels, primarily coal.

The commission estimated that this allowance would increase wholesale electric rates about 1 or 2 per cent in the next few years.

Consumers eventually pay for new facilities in their electric rates but only after the facilities are completed and in service.

A citizens group called Environmental Action Foundation, estimated last March that the utilities' proposal would increase electric utility rates almost 15 per cent, at a cost of some $8 billion per year to consumers, or about $42 a year increase in the average residential electric bill through the 1970s.

The FPC did not estimate the potential costs of the utilities' proposal.

The Edison Electric Institute, an industry group, expressed disappointment last month at the FPC's decision.

The institute's president, Don Crawford, issued a statement noting that despite improvement in the finances of electric utilities, "much more progress is needed to restore their full financial health."

The FPC decision opened the door for individual utilities to secure permission to charge customers for major construction still in progress, but only if the company could prove that it is "in severe financial stress."

Copland conducts

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Aaron Copland, the 75-year-old American composer, conducted the Belgian National Orchestra in his own Third Symphony as part of an all-American program celebrating the United States Bicentennial.

Copland won warm applause Monday night from a capacity audience at the Palais des Beaux Arts. Ambassador Leonard K. Firestone was among the concert-goers.

Grant Johannessen of Salt Lake City was soloist in George Gershwin's Piano Concerto in F Major.

Debates helped Carter

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Pollster George H. Gallup says public opinion surveys support Jimmy Carter's claim that his three debates with President Ford helped him win the election.

"In a certain sense it might be said that President Ford's gaffe on Poland cost him the election," Gallup told a National Municipal League Convention on Monday.

Gallup said that at the time of the first debate on domestic issues Ford had virtually wiped out the 30 percentage point lead Carter held in August. But Gallup added that the movement toward Ford eased off after the debate on foreign policy.

In that debate Ford said Eastern European nations, including Poland, were not dominated by Russia. He later acknowledged that he had made a mistake.

Gallup said that after the debate Carter quickly gained a six-point margin in public opinion polls, keeping it until the final few days of the campaign, when it slipped to two points.

'Tempest in a teepee'

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and television personality Dick Cavett have settled an argument over Indian artifacts that Cavett says was never more than a "tempest in a tepee" anyway.

The hassle started when Cavett was given two buffalo robes, a shield, and a Plains Indian war shirt by the Museum of the American Indian here in exchange for his gift of 53 other artifacts.

Lefkowitz, claiming the goods were worth $12,000, said Cavett was receiving an illegal gift from the former director of the museum. He filed suit against Cavett to force their return.

Lefkowitz announced Monday that he was dropping the suit after Cavett said he would return the items. Cavett said legal fees were costing him more than the items were worth — which he estimated was $2,000.

Cavett said he had gotten caught in the middle of a dispute between the Attorney General's office and the museum's former management.

Museum Director Frederick J. Dockstader has since been dismissed and a new board of trustees has been appointed.

Revolutionary socialist

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernadette Devlin McAliskey, former radical member of Parliament from Northern Ireland, says the Women's Peace Movement there is "looking for peace at any price — and the price would be subservience."

Mrs. McAliskey, on an eight-city speaking tour in the U.S., told a news conference that the movement is an extension of the British and Irish governments to which she is "personally, radically opposed."

She also said she has left the Irish Republican Army in favor of a movement called the Irish Committee for a Socialist Program.

"I find it impossible to be anything but a revolutionary socialist," she said.

'Shameful' act—Beame

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Abraham D. Beame says an attack on Soviet violinist Vladimir Spivakov on Sunday over the treatment of Soviet Jews was "shameful and disgraceful."

During the recital, a man shouted in Russian, "Remember the Soviet Jews" and threw a paint bomb which a guard deflected. Another man later hit him with a paint bomb, but Spivakov finished the recital.

His publicity manager blamed members of the Jewish Defense League.

Steel official concerned

BOSTON (AP) — Edgar B. Speer, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel Corp., says the government has shown a "distressing lack of understanding" about the need for capital investment. He said he is concerned about President-elect Jimmy Carter's suggestion that wage earners should pay fewer taxes and corporations should pay more.

Speer told a news conference here that businesses need tax reforms to stimulate capital investment, expand production and create jobs.

Angola refugees tell of slaughter

OSHAKATI, South-West Africa (AP) — Refugees fleeing southern Angola claim Angolan and Cuban troops and South-West African guerrillas are destroying villages, slaughtering livestock and raping and killing tribespeople in their drive to wipe out a pro-Western guerrilla group.

Burning villages in Angola could be seen and artillery and shooting heard from this village on South-West Africa's border with the former Portuguese territory.

An estimated 8,000 refugees have arrived in the Ovambo and Kavango tribal reserves along the border in the past 10 days, according to Jannie de Wet, South Africa's commissioner general for South-West Africa.

Forces of the Marxist Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola — MPLA — which won the Angolan civil war last November, and Cuban troops are trying to eliminate the remnants of the Angolan National Union — UNITA — which reportedly has widespread tribal support in the area.

The Cuban-MPLA troops were reportedly being aided by guerrillas from the South-West Africa People's Organization.

Don't blame your age for poor hearing

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

True, all hearing problems are not alike . . . and some cannot be helped, but many can. Send for this non-operating model now. Wear it in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept.9894, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

POMONA HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

On campus...

Sture Lindmark and Anders Pers of Sweden will speak at an International Relations Colloquium at Oldenborg Center, POMONA COLLEGE, on Thursday.

The lecture will begin at 12:30 p.m., preceded by a luncheon at 11:45 a.m.

Title of the lecture is "The Future of Sweden's Economy, in View of the September Elections." The lecture is open to the public free of charge. The luncheon is $1.75, and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Lindmark is chief editor of "Koepmannen," the magazine of the Retail Trades Association.

Pers studied in America before heading the press bureau of the Swedish Foreign Office's information center in Washington. He is currently director of Sweden's Association of Industries.

A turf picnic-frat decathalon, football game, reception and performance of the musical, "Gypsy," are included on the annual POMONA COLLEGE Homecoming program scheduled to start at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

The picnic lunch on Merritt Field will honor alumni fraternity members, and past and present fraternity members will participate in the inter-frat decathalon contest.

The Pomona-Pitzer vs. Redlands football game will begin at 1:30 p.m. Following the game a reception will be held for all the alumni.

The theater department, under the direction of Patricia Madsen, chairman, will present the Broadway production, "Gypsy," Pomona College's entry into the American College Theatre Festival. The performance will be held at 8 p.m. in Garrison Theater.

The Homecoming Day is sponsored by Pomona College Alumni Association.

Fay M. Blake has been appointed to head the readers' services area of the CAL POLY POMONA library.

As head of readers' services she will be responsible for the library's reference services, circulation, periodicals, limited loan and the reserve desk.

Prior to her Cal Poly appointment, Miss Blake was on the faculty of the graduate school of librarianship at the University of California, Berkeley. She also has held the position of librarian at the University of California, Los Angeles and was statewide coordinator of interlibrary loan for the New York State Education Department.

Robert C. James of CLAREMONT GRADUATE SCHOOL has accepted an invitation to be a Fellow of the Institute for Advanced Studies of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

James is a professor of mathematics and department chairman at CGS. He and his wife, Edith, will be in Jerusalem from Feb. 1 to Aug. 1. The appointment began Oct. 1 and runs for a year.

The institute is a new venture of the Hebrew University. The fellows will have no formal duties and will be able to devote themselves to research. James is one of three scholars chosen from the United States for the honor. Two were chosen from France and one from Denmark.

The institute's area of research for mathematics during the current academic year is geometry of Banach spaces. James has been doing research on the theory of Banach spaces all of his professional life and has delivered papers on the subject at numerous international mathematics conferences. His research accomplishments have established him as a world authority in that area of mathematics. His most recent presentation was in June at the Maurey-Schwarts Seminar at Ecole Polytechnique, Paris.

Robert W. Turner of Rowland Heights has been appointed head of the CAL POLY POMONA accounting department. He assumed the position on Nov. 1. Prior to joining Cal Poly, Turner has experience with computerized accounting and financial management systems.

He served as manager of cost systems and analysis for the Hyland division of Baxter Labs from 1970 to 1976.

Turner was employed as accounting manager and director of financial accounting for two food service firms and has also had accounting experience in both the cosmetics manufacturing and electronics research and development fields.

In addition to his business and industry background, he teaches accounting at West Coast University evenings.

Three PITZER COLLEGE professors will attend the 75th annual meeting of the American Anthropological Association in Washington, D.C., Nov. 17-21.

Chairing a symposium on "Intra-Cultural Variation and Early Childhood Socialization," Susan Seymour-Graham, assistant professor of anthropology, also will deliver a paper entitled "Size and Composition of Household in Relation to the Indulgence of Children in India."

Donald Brennels, assistant professor of anthropology, has organized and is chairing a symposium on verbal strategies in political and legal contexts. As part of the symposium, he also will deliver a paper on "Conflict and Communication in a Fiji Indian Village."

Also attending the meeting, David Thomas, assistant professor of anthropology, will present a paper titled "Residence in Fertility."

NEW L. L. FIELD — CPO Tom Banner of the Navy Construction Battalion Reserves in San Bernardino turns over the first shovel of dirt for a new Little League field in Greenbelt Park, Upland. City officials, Little League representatives and potential baseball players joined the groundbreaking ceremony held at the park.

Community program provides for new Little League fields

Upland Little League teams will be able to play on new fields at Greenbelt Park next spring thanks to a community cooperative program.

Groundbreaking was held recently for the diamonds for Little League and Little League seniors at the new park, located between 13th and 15th streets east of Benson Avenue.

The city dedicated the land and assisted with the designing of the fields. Seabees from the Navy Construction Battalion will do the actual construction of the field and the facilities. They will use equipment provided and transported by Pascal and Ludwig, Inc., engineering firm of Upland.

The cost of fuel and other expenses will be paid for by the Upland Little League association.

Fred Taunton, recreation director, said development of the fields would not have been possible at this time without community support because of budget limitations.

A girls' softball field is also being constructed in the park. But, Taunton said, it is doubtful that this field will be completed in time for spring play.

Also planned for the park within the next year or two are four tennis courts, curbs and gutters, an irrigation system and landscaping.

Long-term plans for the park include a community center and picnic areas.

Two area students named recipients of scholarships

Conception Aguilar, Claremont, and Hector Sandoval, Rowland Heights, have been named recipients of the Marie T. Mills and Leland J. Mills Scholarships at Mt. San Antonio College.

Mrs. Aguilar has been a member of the Mexican American Club, (MECHA), and has served as its representative to the college's Affirmative Action Committee. She has also worked as a member of the steering committee for the MSAC Women's Caucus. In her community, she has served as board member of the Chicano Unity Council and as chairman of the youth component of the council.

A sociology and business major, the mother of two has maintained a 4.0 grade point average. When she graduates in June, she plans to continue her studies at Pitzer College, Claremont.

Sandoval is a biology major and hopes to continue his education at the University of California at Irvine in medical research, specializing in children's diseases.

He has been an active member of MECHA, Alpha Gamma Sigma, the scholastic honor society, the cross country and the track and field teams at the college.

A graduate of Salesian High School, Sandoval has attended East Los Angeles College and Northrup Institute of Technology. The military veteran and father of two carries a 3.5 grade point average at MSAC.

The scholarships were founded five years ago by former MSAC president Marie Mills and her husband, Leland, to encourage students' citizenship and leadership on and off campus. The MSAC scholarship committee makes the selections based on the nominees' scientific, governmental, spiritual and social involvement in and improvement of community life.

Five from valley attend conference on the handicapped

Five delegates from the valley will be among the 200 delegates from California who will attend the California Conference on Handicapped Individuals Thursday through Saturday at the Hyatt House Hotel at Los Angeles International Airport.

Attending from Casa Colina Hospital for Rehabilitive Medicine will be Sally Grove, community relations coordinator, David Fishman, member of the board, and Lenore Hersh, director of recreational therapy.

Also attending will be Grace Stipanuk, Bruce Hillam, and Bob Segalman, all of whom are members of the California Association of Physically Handicapped.

The California conference is a prelude to the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals to be held next May. Recommendations and plans by the state conference on such issues as health, social, economic and educational concerns will be the basis for the national assessment of needs of handicapped individuals.

The White House Conference will then present final recommendations to Congress and the President for implementation.

Japanese OK 50% hike in rail fares, phone rates

TOKYO (AP) — Parliament has approved an average 50.3 per cent fare increase for the national railway and a 50 per cent boost in telephone and telegraph charges. It then ended a special session.

An election for the powerful 491-member House of Representatives will be held Dec. 5. The four-year term of the present members expires Dec. 9.

The Liberal-Democrats, rocked by the Lockheed payoffs scandal and internal bickering over Prime Minister Takeo Miki's leadership, now have 264 seats in the House.

The railway fare increase takes effect Saturday and the telephone and telegraph boost Nov. 15.

Members of Pomona's Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) District Advisory Committee will meet tonight at 7:30 in the ESAA Multi-cultural Center at San Jose Elementary School.

Parents and committee members will be shown materials, functions and services of the center which opened last year in Room 5 at the school.

All district schools and the parochial schools in the ESAA project may use the center, which is operated by ESAA's History and Culture of Minorities Component.

An election of a new co-chairperson and two vice chairpersons is on the agenda.

Mexican folkloric dancing

The Montclair Recreation Department will offer instruction in Mexican folkloric dancing for intermediate and advanced students in a seven-week session beginning Thursday.

The classes for ages six to 18 will be held at the Recreation Shuffleboard Building in the Civic Center. Intermediate students will meet from 4 to 4:45 p.m. and advanced students will meet from 5 to 5:45 p.m.

Registration will be taken by instructor Donna Rodriguez at the first meeting. There is a fee of $15 for the session.

Miss Rodriguez has been dancing for 12 years. She is a member of the Roberta Regalado Dance Troupe which has performed at numerous festivals and fairs.

'Crazy auction' tonight

The Walnut Elementary School Community Club will hold a "crazy auction" tonight from 7:30 to 9:30 in the multipurpose room of the Walnut school.

Dean and Keith Cullum of Pomona will serve as auctioneers. Local businessmen are donating the gifts. Persons wishing to donate an item in good condition for auction should take it to the school, 476 Lemon Rd., Walnut.

There will be refreshments for all. All proceeds will go for development of the Media Center for the school.

Emerson PTA meets tonight

Emerson Junior High School PTA in Pomona will meet tonight at 7:30 in the school library.

There will be a short business meeting at which the nominating committee will be selected. The program for the evening will be a panel discussion on "The Law and You." Panel members will be Principal Nils Stamps, a Pomona Police Department resource officer and a parent attorney. The audience may question the panel.

China film shown

"Barefoot Doctors," a documentary film about current medical practices in the People's Republic of China, will be shown Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Friends Quaker Meeting House, 727 W. Harrison Ave., Claremont.

The film will be offered free to the public by the U.S.-China People's Friendship Association. Refreshments will be served and there will be a question and answer period following the film.

Immunizations available

Immunizations against 10-day measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough will be available free Wednesday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Pomona Health Center, 750 S. Park Ave., Pomona.

Persons attending the clinic are requested to bring all previous immunization records so they may be reviewed to determine which immunizations are required.

Children must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

A high blood pressure testing clinic for adults will be held during the same hours. Special nutrition information will be presented about dietary problems related to high blood pressure.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 623-6811, ext. 528.

Pomonan receives promotion

Former Pomona resident Robert A. Erickson has been named a zone manager for the Combined Insurance Co. of America.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne C. Erickson, 1746 Russell Place, Pomona.

In his new position, he is responsible for supervising sales and service to Combined's life insurance policyholders in southern Wisconsin.

Erickson, 36, joined Conbined in 1966 as a sales representative in the company's accident and health department. He earned four promotions in this department before transferring to the company's national executive staff — life insurance department. From the national executive staff, he was promoted to his present position.

Accountants to meet

James E. Jensen, president of the 15,000-member California Society of Certified Public Accountants, will discuss major issues concerning the CPA profession at a meeting of the Citrus Belt Chapter on Dec. 2 at El Rancho Verde Country Club, Rialto, at 6:30 p.m.

He will cover possible solutions to the increasing CPA liability, voluntary quality control for CPA firms, ethics enforcement, and improved Society continuing education programs.

Posadas committee

Katherine Thompson, president of the Friends of the Upland Library, has appointed the committee for this year's Posadas.

Members are Julia Arias, chairman, Althea Correll, and library board member Raquel Sandoval.

Bilingual classes from Upland Elementary School will participate again this year. The procession will occur Dec. 15, starting on Second Avenue at 6 p.m. and ending with the breaking of the three pinatas on the mall in front of the Upland library.

Teachers in charge are Andrew R. Hernandez, Pat Wolfe, Donna Chadwick and Natalie Cruzen.

Advisory committee to meet

Members of the advisory Committee of the San Gabriel Valley Regional Center will meet Wednesday from 7 to 10 p.m. at 250 E. Harrison Ave., Pomona.

The regional center serves the developmentally disabled.

Medi-Cal rates to nursing homes increase

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

Medi-Cal rates to nursing homes and intermediate care facilities are increasing by about 90 cents per day per patient.

The entire amount will go to increasing wages, according to a local spokesman for nursing homes.

C. Allen "Chuck" Braswell, secretary-treasurer of the San Gabriel Valley Chapter of the California Association of Health Facilities, said the emergency measure, which his group has been working for, coincides with the increase in the state minimum wage.

"Of the 90 cents, about 61 cents will be used to bring the lowest-paid employes up to the new state minimum. The remaining 29 cents will be used for small step increases for other employes," Braswell said.

He added that while the new regulations became effective on Oct. 18, most nursing homes will not receive their first increased funding until near the end of December because of billing procedures.

State Health Director Jerome Lackner said that if the state had failed to raise the rates many facilities would refuse to accept Medi-Cal patients in the future.

He said the new rates, affecting the salaries of 75,000 employes in the state, depend to a degree on the size of the facility.

The rate for nursing homes with fewer than 60 beds rose from $23.28 per patient per day to $24.18; those with 60 to 99 beds from $21.44 to $22.34, and those with 100 or more from $20.51 to $21.41.

"The increase will certainly help the morale of the employes, and that's very important," said Braswell, "But it will not increase services or help the nursing homes meet their spiraling expenses."

Braswell said the state has approved legislation granting additional funding to nursing homes after the first of the year. This funding is designated entirely to added personnel and to personnel training.

"Then we will be able to increase some nursing and other services to the patients," added the operator of four nursing homes in the valley.

Braswell said that many nursing homes are having problems staying solvent.

Braswell said that at Esperonza Center operated by his company in Claremont, there was a $2,000 operating loss in September.

"This occurs because the facility is primarily a rehabilitation center and Medi-Cal does not cover the costs of the physical therapists, speech therapists and other specialists we employ."

Braswell said that some of the cost of operating most nursing homes fall more on the shoulders of the private pay patients. He added that the average rates for private-pay patients in valley convalescent hospitals is between $23 and $28 per day for a double-occupancy room.

Medi-Cal payments are based upon occupancy in a three-bed ward.

Braswell added that the basic costs do not include special nurses, private rooms or many additional services which can be provided.

He added that the valley is overbuilt as far as the number of beds is concerned.

"We could get by with some 150 less beds in the community," he said, "since the facilities need to have about 90 per cent occupancy to operate in the black."

Braswell explained that the nursing home business really boomed during the 1960s when Medical Aid for the Aged (MAA) came into operation by the government.

"The need for nursing homes had always existed, but the financing had not," he said.

The director of nursing homes said that most of the facilities meet all of the state standards and are doing a very good job of caring for the elderly, the mentally disturbed and the handicapped.

"Of the 418 nursing homes in Los Angeles County, only five or six have been accused of legal or criminal activities.

"But this one per cent has cast a negative shadow over the industry as a whole," Braswell added.

With increased expenses, the nursing facilities still face many problems but, according to Braswell, the emergency regulations allowing for the pay increases for employes and the forthcoming funds for increased personnel proves that state legislators are aware of the need for adequate health care facilities.

Pomona council remains silent on wage dispute

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Pomona City Council Monday night issued no word on whether it will accept the arbitration findings handed down last week in the city's wage dispute with its miscellaneous employes' union.

Although the council met in executive session for the better part of an hour, during which the wage fight is presumed to have been the topic of discussion, the council members made no public comment on the matter and adjourned without action.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce stated last week that the arbitration findings, which have been accepted by a majority of the union members, would cost the city about $350,000.

It is expected that meetings between city representatives and negotiators for Local 660 of the Service Employes International Union, AFL-CIO, will be held this week in an attempt to settle the issue.

About 340 city workers are represented by the union, which does not include policemen or firemen.

In other city business Monday night, the council found itself unable to decide where in Pomona adult bookstores and adult movie houses should be permitted.

A recommendation from the city's Planning Commission had suggested that since the city cannot forbid the existence of such business, they should be allowed only north of the Union Pacific Railroad tracks and south of Holt Avenue between Hamilton Boulevard and Towne Avenue, generally.

The recommendation also suggested that such businesses be required to have off-street paved and lighted parking, plus landscaping.

Councilmembers, primarily Councilman Benjamin Ochoa and Mayor Ray Lepire, were relunctant to make an immediate decision because of reservations over the proposed boundaries of the permitted area.

Councilman Adrian Wright suggested that a smaller, special zone be set up for "dirty bookstores."

The council finally voted to extend the moratorium against new bookstores for another four months while further consideration of the matter is given.

Although members of the council have not said so bluntly, the idea behind the proposed special zone and requirements is to make opening such a business too difficult and too expensive to be worth the effort.

Oppose building of homes, shopping center

D.B. residents stall development

A proposal to build 317 homes and a neighborhood shopping center in West Diamond Bar may be aborted by opposition of residents in the neighborhood.

A request for zone changes that would allow the development came up for hearing before the Regional Planning Commission in Los Angeles but decision was postponed Monday due to the objection of the residents.

More than 30 persons from Walnut and Diamond Bar told the commission at the hearing that the new development would have an adverse effect on their neighborhoods. They said the additional homes would create more traffic, would be a burden on the schools and would create too much density.

Spokesmen for the developer, Presley of Southern California, headquartered at Newport Beach, were willing to leave off the shopping center and to increase the size of their lots to cut the density, but still the neighbors continued to object.

They said that when they bought their homes they were told that the land to the south of them would remain undeveloped. They admitted that if the larger homes are built and the shopping center is dropped they would have a weak case, but pointed out that neither the traffic flow, nor classrooms were geared for the additional residents.

The proposed subdivision is located west of Lemon Street and south of Colima Road on 109 acres of land adjacent to a 456-acre parcel on which 1,761 homes are proposed. That subdivision also is opposed by the homeowners.

The county's planning department said it would be several weeks before decisions would be reached on the two proposals.

D.B. boy committed to CYA after plea of guilty in murder

A 15-year-old Diamond Bar boy who pleaded guilty to murder in the slaying July 26 of Pomona grocer Howard R. Reese, 65, has been committed to the custody of the California Youth Authority.

The youth, who was not identified because of his age, pleaded guilty recently in Los Angeles Juvenile Court. He was ordered confined first at the CYA facility in Norwalk for psychiatric examination.

A second youth charged in the slaying, 17-year-old Miguel Perez, of Pomona, is awaiting preliminary hearing of the murder charge in Pomona Municipal Court after having been ruled unfit for consideration as a juvenile at another hearing in Los Angeles Juvenile Court.

The victim, assistant manager of the Lucky Star Market at 1600 W. Mission Blvd. in Pomona, was shot to death and his body dumped into a ravine near Claude Osteen Park. Investigators said he was killed because the robbers feared he recognized them. Reese lived in Anaheim. His wife reported him missing to Anaheim police the night before his body was discovered in the ravine.

Montclair study near completion

The City of Montclair is nearing completion of the first phase of a study of the sphere of influence area just outside the city limits.

Rosalie Davilos, assistant planner for the city, reported to the Montclair Planning Commission Monday night that staff is expected to have the first phase of the unincorporated area special study printed by Friday. The next step will be a community meeting to be held at Ramona Elementary School, 4225 E. 9th St.

Phase one involves identifying existing conditions and problems in the zone of influence, Miss Davilos reported. The staff will cooperate with the school and PTA in disseminating that information to the residents of the area.

According to the input from area residents, the first phase report will be revised. The date of the community meeting will be announced later.

Scabies reported, but not serious

There have been a number of cases of scabies reported in the valley, but not to a point where it could be considered an epidemic, Pomona Health Center officials report.

Scabies is a skin disease caused by a tiny parasite which burrows into the skin to lay its eggs. The parasite is less than one-fiftieth of an inch long and can be seen only through a magnifying glass, according to Jean Ann Scott of the health department.

The disease causes such intense itching that it is extremely uncomfortable, especially at night when the itching appears to be worse.

Scabies is spread when some of the parasites leave one person's body and bore into the skin of another. It can be passed through handshaking, close physical contact and from bedclothing.

The scratching caused by scabies can lead to secondary skin infections.

Preventive methods include a daily inspection of the skin, good hygiene including a daily bath and change of clothes, frequent changing of bed linens and good housekeeping, especially in closets and drawers or other dark locations.

All contaminated clothes and linens should be washed in boiling water, Mrs. Scott said.

Any person who suspects that he has scabies should go to a doctor, the health center or a hospital clinic when the disease first appears.

The treatment is effective and will destroy all the parasites in the skin.

Mrs. Scott says that when one person has scabies, all those sharing the same house or working area should be examined by a doctor.

Chino man hurt when car overturns

A Chino man was injured seriously Monday night when his car overturned on the empty parking lot at Gemco, 1955 N. Indian Hill Blvd., in Pomona.

The victim, Michael Donnan, 31, was trapped beneath his Jeep when it overturned, but was freed by bystanders prior to the arrival of fire department rescue equipment. Department paramedics gave him first aid before he was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital and transferred later to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Fontana. He suffered a serious foot injury when the vehicle pinned him to the pavement. His condition at the hospital this morning was termed serious.

Police said Donnan was driving the car containing three passengers when the accident occurred. They said the car was accelerating across the lot when Donnan turned it and it overturned. The others, Randal Hosch, 19, Montclair, Richard A. Schlott, 22, Fullerton, and Ralph P. Garcia, 28, Monrovia, escaped injury. Gemco is closed Monday

Swine flu shots now being offered

All persons over 18 years of age are eligible for the swine flu shots now being offered in community clinics.

After the vaccine is administered approximately two weeks are required for the body to build up a sufficient level of protection against the specific flu viruses contained in the vaccine, according to Dr. Annabel Teberg, medical director, San Gabriel Valley Health Services Region.

Scheduled Wednesday from 5 to 8 p.m. are clinics at Pomona Valley Community Hospital, 1798 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, and Suzanne Intermediate School, 525 Suzanne Road, Walnut.

On Thursday, the clinics will be at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church, 550 W. Harrison Ave., Claremont, and Pomona Health Center, 750 S. Park Ave., Pomona, from 5 to 8 p.m.

A Saturday and Sunday clinic is planned at Upland High School, 565 W. 11th St., Upland, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. both days.

Ontario woman dies of injuries

A 19-year-old Ontario woman, critically injured in a traffic accident on Oct. 16, died early Monday morning at Doctors Hospital in Montclair.

The woman, Nancy Freeman, 525 W. Nevada St., was admitted to the Montclair hospital shortly after the traffic accident. She had suffered severe head and internal injuries.

Police said that Miss Freeman's car, eastbound on Holt Avenue, was struck broadside by a car driven by William Burke, 18, of 12940 Ninth St., Chino.

Burke was arrested on suspicion of felony drunk driving at the time of the accident and booked in the West End Jail.

Police said further charges may be pending in the accident.

Veterans' Day program slated

A Veterans' Day program will be presented Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the Pomona Education Center, sponsored by the Pomona Avenue of Flags Committee.

Various fraternal, civic and youth groups will participate, including the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2018, which will present a Parade of the Court of Flags.

Ontario man found dead

An Ontario man was found dead early Monday near the Memorial Park in Upland, apparently the victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, said a deputy coroner.

He was identified as Desi Marconi, 65, of 1506 Humboldt Ave. A small revolver was found beside his body. Officers said he had been despondent over recent medical problems.

Burning food causes fire

Burning food caused $2,500 fire damage to a home at 573 E. Jefferson Ave., Pomona.

The fire at the home owned by Rudy Lima started by unattended cooking materials on the stove, according to the Pomona Fire Department. The flames spread to the wall and vent above the stove and later to the attic. Firemen arrived at 3:18 p.m. after a call from neighbor Susan Johnson.

There was heavy smoke damage to the kitchen and porch and some fire damage to the attic.

Rape suspect is dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charges against an accused rapist have been dismissed because a sheriff's detective allegedly bugged a conference between the man and his attorney at the sheriff's substation in Carson.

Municipal Judge Gilbert Alston ordered dismissal of the case against Lonnie B. Wilson, 20, of Culver City, when Wilson appeared Monday for a preliminary hearing on charges of raping a 13-year-old girl last Sept. 30.

Officials said Deputy Ray Salazar, accused of planting a listening device and making a tape recording of Wilson's meeting with his attorney, has been relieved of duty pending further investigation.

Arms sales are policy

Over the past 15 years, the "arsenal of democracy" has changed its arms supply policy from that of giver to seller. U.S. arms sales to foreign nations have jumped from around $500 million prior to 1961 to nearly $18 billion in 1976.

This situation has been a subject of congressional concern on the one hand and has solved a number of problems on the other, says David J. Louscher, assistant professor of political science at the University of Akron.

Writing in "Orbis," a foreign policy quarterly, he lists some of the reasons why Foreign Military Sales — FMS — has become such big business:

It helps with the balance of payments deficit.

It is an alternative to the constant policy of giving aid to other countries, which has upset many congressmen over the years.

It is a means for nations to contribute to their own defense, in line with the "Nixon Doctrine" of the late 1960s that in the future, the U.S. will not aid foreign countries by sending troops but will help with equipment either purchased for cash or with low-interest loans.

For our allies, FMS is a means to upgrade European defense systems and help the Europeans contribute to the cost of the NATO alliance.

For underdeveloped countries, the U.S. looks to FMS as a means of establishing regional power balances, maintaining influence in the area and — ironically — controlling arms races.

In domestic terms, FMS helps to reduce the need of American manpower overseas, reduces our overall defense costs and, not least, is a means of subsidizing and assisting economically desperate defense industries.

In that regard, Louscher notes that between 1962 and 1967, FMS provided $1 billion in profits to American industry and 1.4 million man hours of work for American labor.

Despite growing congressional criticism of the extent of Foreign Military Sales, there is little chance the program will be dismantled, Louscher believes.

Rather, this criticism represents a recognition by Congress that FMS has become our primary foreign policy instrument, that an arms sale decision in many parts of the world IS the foreign policy of the United States and that if Congress wishes to play a major role in foreign policy it will have to maintain greater control over arms sales.

What's good for the geese

Dear Editor:

Thanks to the letter published Sunday from the "Senior Citizens" who wrote about their "100 per cent" support of the Pomona School Board. It is gratifying to read how this couple have the honesty to state their 19th century malthusian views. An "oversupply of teachers" and the supply and demand mechanism means to this magnanimous couple that teachers should be paid and treated in reverse ratio to their numbers. This is indeed a formula that most Americans including those now employed and the elderly would not accept.

This formula would mean that all those now employed in jobs that could be filled by the unemployed should accept a reduction in salaries and working conditions. The retired or working senior citizens certainly will agree that their numbers exceed the demand for them, in the view of too many Americans. Applying the supply and demand formula to senior citizens would result in a reduction of their salaries and retirement benefits.

It should become evident that what's good for the geese is good for the ganders. You could not in fairness apply a supply and demand formula, an inhumane anachronism when applied to people, to only teachers. They are people too and can claim the same rights that other American workers have won in the past 40 years.

I wonder if the Pomona School Board welcomes the support of these "Senior Citizens." With supporters like these, who needs enemies?

Abolish the unions

Dear Editor:

A few weeks ago, when city employes went union, I predicted exactly what they are demanding now. Why don't we the taxpayers tell the unions where to put it. The unions were good at a time when the worker was exploited. The reverse is now true and it is time to abolish them before they ruin the country.

The union bosses know what they want in every town in America, Pomona included. They want what they have in New York City, where they crippled an almost bankrupt city with one strike after another. They want what they have in San Francisco, where after an illegal strike by police and other workers sneered at clergymen's pleas to do something about roving gangs doing their thing and later a union official praised the strikers "for the way you kept this city in turmoil until our demands were met."

Let's tell the unions where to hang it. In the private sector of business, small companies are going under every day due to excessive wage demands. And even more frightening is the possibility that in 1977, both the Congressional majority and the president will owe their election to big labor.

Remember the strike that left thousands of tons of fruit rotting a few weeks back? Farm Bureau President Alan F. Grant couldn't have said it better when he stated: "When have you ever seen a report from a consumer 'protection' group (by any name) pointing out the increased living costs to all consumers caused by union featherbedding, make-work rules or excessive wage demands without increased productivity?"

What are we going to do about it? As for me, I will tell them where to go. If they are so dissatisfied why not quit and let a real worker obtain a job, and they can start their own business and find out how nice it is.

Just in jest

Despite all of today's political arguments, there are some theories of government on which all Americans are in complete agreement. They believe implicitly in the Constitutional Rights as outlined by our Founding Fathers. Whether they are Republicans or Democrats, they insist they are entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness — so long, of course, as it is their lives, their liberties and their happiness which are involved. — What's more, they also agree perfectly on an individual's right to freedom of speech — as long as they are the ones who are doing the talking.

Sacramento scene

Government out of control

Ray Procunier, the fellow who the Senate wouldn't confirm as chief of the state parole agency because he was "too soft" on criminals, is back in the headlines. This time, as chief deputy of the Health Department, he emerges as the "tough guy." Picked by Gov. Jerry Brown to clean up the mess which erupted in the state mental hospitals, he has also been given the job of coping with a worse scandal, the administration of prepaid health plans.

A "take charge" guy, Procunier has been prompt in making his presence known. Ordering sweeping investigations of both the hospitals and the prepaid health plans, he also has called for a review of the functions of the multitude of middle management employees. In exerting his authority he has issued instructions barring underlings from direct contact with the department's director. Dr. Jerome Lackner, and legislators, without his approval.

While such an edict may seem tyrannical to the public, the adherence to "chain of command" principles is standard in governmental administration according to the best textbooks. And, although Procunier will take some flack for having "laid down the law" he could not hope to bring any order to the chaotic department without tightening the reins.

Lackner, a medical man who demonstrates a refreshing independence from the staid positions of the medical establishment, frankly admits administration is not his long suit. It was that which brought Procunier into the act. Lackner needn't have been so quick to confess his shortcoming for the gigantic department would tax the abilities of the most capable executive.

The department superseded the Department of Public Health, running all the programs of the former as well as all those of the Mental Hygiene Department whose state hospitals were merged with the new organization. Additionally the prepaid health plans are under its jurisdiction. Altogether it is responsible for some 100 health programs. Its employees number more than 23,000 and its budget runs into several billions.

If that boggles the mind consider the overall Health and Welfare Agency of which the Health Department is only a component. Under this broad umbrella, presided over by Mario Obledo, is also contained the vast empires of both the former Employment and Social Welfare departments. Add another 23,000 employees and several more billions of dollars.

This monstrous bureaucracy is a legacy of former Gov. Ronald Reagan. It is an irony that the man who campaigned both for governor and the presidency as a foe of big government permitted the creation of by far the biggest agency the state has known. It was Reagan who said government "left to itself, will grow beyond the control of the people." But the Health-Welfare Agency was the brainchild of Dr. Earl Brian who, like Lackner, was a medical man without administrative experience. Despite that Reagan installed him in office and permitted him to merge the several departments into one unit under his control.

Sen. Barry Goldwater devoted his book "The Breaking Point" to a treatise on the evils of "gargantuan federal power." Government agencies have grown so big they are beyond the control of the bureaucrats. The same is happening in state government.

Procunier could do no greater service than recommending the dismantling of the present Health-Welfare Agency into smaller independent and more manageable units.

He need look no further for authority to cite than the eminent government scholar, Professor C. Northcote Parkinson who said, "There is a proportionate size which goes to maximum efficiency and all our institutions tend to exceed it."

Loss of self-esteem

Americans are retiring earlier and enjoying it less.

At the start of 1962, reports the American Council of Life Insurance, only 16.3 per cent of retired workers collecting Social Security had retired before the age of 65. At the start of 1976, that percentage had risen to 55.6 per cent.

Yet most Americans look forward to retirement "with all the enthusiasm of a candy addict on his way to the dentist," says the same organization on the basis of a national survey it conducted.

Only 22 per cent of the people questioned went along wholeheartedly with the idea that retirement can be equated with a life of carefree leisure. Far more — 74 per cent — agreed with the statement that "most people don't have enough money to do what they want in retirement."

Along with economic considerations, feelings of self-esteem are also involved. Asked if they thought that "retirement makes a person feel useless." 48 per cent said they believed this entirely and another 36 per cent agreed somewhat.

"It's better to keep working than to retire at a fixed age" was another survey statement that received general approval, with 46 per cent agreeing entirely and another 30 per cent agreeing somewhat.

Think on these things

If someone took our hand and asked us to come walk along the world and view the wonders so magnificently displayed — If by some miracle we could see the vastness of it all . . . and still bear up under the beauty of it . . .

If we could see the rolling rise and fall of the land . . . the purple, pink and golden hues of shadows hung along the mountain sides . . . If our ears could hear the music of the rippling streams, the rushing waters . . . the graceful falls . . .

If by some mere chance we could sense the ebb and flow . . . the pushing and relaxing of the tides . . . the rising and setting of the sun . . . the glittering stars and soft-faced moon . . .

If we can see all of this . . . How then, can we doubt that here is the world that God created as good . . . is good . . . for this is our Land — and only we can make it bad.

Reagan to stage comeback

WASHINGTON — Ronald Reagan's great moment, as he came close to displacing an incumbent president before a wildly cheering Republican convention last August won't be his last hurrah. The darling of the conservatives is quietly planning a political comeback.

The plans took focus as Reagan dutifully campaigned for the man who had defeated him for the presidential nomination. At first, he flirted with the idea of forming a third party if President Ford lost the election. But he rejected this idea as impractical.

Instead, he persuaded himself that he could use the GOP framework to restructure the party into a conservative bastion. He has decided to try, therefore, to Reaganize the Republican Party.

Reagan has confided his plans to a few intimates, who are rarin' to begin the new crusade. "We came out of Kansas City with 3,000 trained workers," one associate told us. "Our lists are intact. We've got tenative meetings in mind for December and January."

One meeting would be held in the West, perhaps Phoenix, the other in the South. "Count on it, Ronald Reagan will be an activist," promised the associate.

Another top aide from the Reagan campaign pointed out that the charismatic former California governor unquestionably is the spiritual leader of the conservatives. Two other national conservative leaders, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R.-Ariz., and Sen. John Tower, R.-Tex., lost a lot of their credibility with conservatives by supporting President Ford at the Republican convention, the aide said.

A third Reagan lieutenant, while not ruling out a final shot at the White House by the 65-year-old Reagan, suggested that they might merely build a base for a younger candidate to pick up the conservative banner. Indeed, our source indicated that a search has already begun for a bright, tough, young conservative whom Reagan might groom for the GOP nomination in 1980.

Reagan's friends told us that his decision to forego a placid private life and return to the political turmoil was reached in the middle of the Ford-Carter campaign.

Reagan made more than 25 campaign appearances ostensibly to help Ford but more pointedly to push conservative Republicans who had risked their political necks to support him against an incumbent.

Reagan sensed that the hysteria of past conservative revivals had been replaced by a more stable affection and trust for their spiritual leader. At the same time, he felt that the president was blurring some of the issues in an appeal to the amorphous middle-of-the-road voters. So Reagan decided to try to give the electorate a cold, clean choice in 1980.

PARTY GIRLS — This is a postscript to the sex-in-Washington scandals. The Republicans used the issue against the Democrats during the campaign. For most of the congressmen who had been caught dallying had been Democrats.

At the Election Night gala for Gerald Ford and Bob Dole, the Republican hordes listened to speeches in the main ballroom of Washington's Sheraton-Park Hotel about the moral decay of the Democratic Congress.

But in the hospitality suites upstairs, visiting Republican bigwigs freely partook of the same moral decay. We sent our reporter Howard Rosenberg to check out the reports of partying in the Republican bedroom suites.

Posing as a campaign celebrant from the Midwest, he followed the joyous sounds to a lush suite where a party was hosted by a Ford Committee contractor.

The happy host led guests to various party girls, urging each girl, in turn, to "take care of my friend." The women then headed with the guests to hotel bedrooms. Inside the suite, meanwhile, the liquor supply seemed inexhaustible.

One of the party girls confided to Rosenberg that she and her friends were paid a flat fee for their night's work. She also offered another confession. Although they were prettily adorned with Ford-Dole campaign buttons, she whispered, most of the girls had voted for Jimmy Carter.

Our Man in Washington

No mandate for Carter

By TERRY WADE
PB Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Americans across the land, those of us who weren't already asleep, waited anxiously early Wednesday morning as Jimmy Carter's electoral college count hovered just one state short of the needed 270 votes.

We waited patiently, glued to the television sets or wire machines, while first the United Press International declared Carter the winner, then the Associated Press.

Finally, at almost exactly 3:30 a.m., NBC declared Carter the winner. ABC followed suit almost immediately, but still we waited.

Until Walter Cronkite and CBS said it was so none of us moved, not the supporters, not the advisors, not the candidates.

When Walter finally looked into the camera and told us Mississippi would indeed be a Carter state, pushing him over the needed 270 electoral votes we finally believed.

The President-elect soon was paraded out in Atlanta to call for unity. His running mate in Minnesota, Sen. Walter Mondale predicted "President Carter" would be one of the great Presidents of all time.

But Mondale, probably unwittingly, hit upon a note of caution when he said "we'll need your help."

Despite returning majorities of Democrats, almost two-to-one, in both bodies of Congress, Carter may not find being President easy.

If he had won by an overwhelming margin and had he demonstrated a vote attracting ability that rubbed off on congressional candidates he could look forward to a long honeymoon.

The truth is he narrowly won and the evidence indicates he did very little to help maintain the Democratic superiority in the Congress.

When he goes before the House and Senate with his reform ideas he may find, like Gerald Ford has learned, that congressional leaders have different ideas.

It may be especially true now that easy going House Speaker Carl Albert is gone, replaced by a more ambitious and aggressive Tip O'Neal.

The combination of a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President is intriguing. We all hope the blend results in something worthwhile for the country.

But, be cautious. Do not expect too much too soon. Not only does Carter have to learn the ropes, but President Carter will have to learn just how strong he is — and, how strong Congress is.

Mouse hides out in boot

DEAR DR. MILLER: My mouse, Clickit, is doing the same thing that Ferdy did before he died. She's spending all her time in the boot and doesn't come out to play or anything. Before it's too late, how do I tell if she's just being stubborn or is really sick? — N.S.

DEAR N.S.: Burying herself in the boot could be a preliminary to the real thing, or it could simply mean she's seeking total peace and quiet. This would be particularly appropriate during daylight hours. Remember, she's nocturnal. If she's not active at night, either, and certainly if she's not eating well, then a quick checkup (by her doctor) to determine just what's happening is indicated. Remember, one of the best home indicators for determining potentially serious pet problems is a sudden loss of weight. In Clickit's case, and most other pets, too, even larger ones, the best way to determine this is to know the weight of the animal when it's perfectly well so you have that to compare with a weigh-in when your pet's in a potentially puny period.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Early last summer, our miniature poodle, Randy, was snatched from our car. A very liberal reward helped us get him back, but we don't intend to have to pay another ransom. We're now raising a German shepherd guard dog who's going to be with him night and day. I think if others followed this practice, there'd be fewer dognappers getting by with it. They wouldn't dare try. If you want to print this suggestion, it's OK. — S.E.,J.F.

DEAR S.E., J.F.: While your current combo could dissuade some dognappers, others better prepared might be more likely to try to get both dogs in one "napping." Actually, guard dogs such as German shepherds and dobermans are the type most often stolen for reward or resale purposes. The technique which turns these canine tigers into tame tabbies is, naturally enough, to use a female dog in heat as bait.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I have a young Siamese who seems to be cross-eyed sometimes. Will she outgrow it? Will it hurt her? She seems to see all right. — A.B.

DEAR A.B.: Selective breeding has reduced what was once a common problem with Siamese. She isn't likely to outgrow the condition, but since she's compensating well already, there's every reason to expect that your cross-eyed cat can cope well with it in the future.

Thought

This charge I commit to you, Timothy, my son, in accordance with the prophetic utterances which pointed to you, that inspired by them you may wage the good warfare, holding faith and a good conscience. By rejecting conscience, certain persons have made shipwreck of their faith. — I Timothy 1:18, 19.

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Wednesday Nov. 10, 1976

ARIES March 21-Apr. 19) Someone of whom you think very highly could be a severe disappointment today. The blow will be considerably lessened if you allow for this person's frailties.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You tend to be a bit flirtatious today. You could unwittingly give some "come hither" signs to the wrong person. Watch where you cast your roving eye.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't feel you have to spend money today in order to impress others. The big shot role isn't worth it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have a tendency to procrastinate too much for your own good today. Tasks will be swept under the rug.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't give of yourself or your possessions today if your generosity has strings attached. The response you hope for won't be there.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's marvelous to be able to say nice things about our friends, but don't flatter the un ring.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If your ambitions were in harmony with your hopes today, you could easily wear the laurels of victory. However, it's probable you won't make the effort.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're inclined to step out of character today. Instead of seeing things realistically, you'll see them in rose-tinted hues. You could get burned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The world doesn't owe you a free ride today, though it may be hard to convince you otherwise. Don't expect to get more than you deserve.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Clandestine adventures may be particularly appealing to you today. Be careful. You could tread on a loved one's heartstrings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a possibility today that under certain conditions you could make honest to just say "no."

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In social situations today don't attempt to be anything other than what you really are. Affectations will turn others off.

Your Birthday, Nov. 10, 1976

Conditions this year will be easier for you than they have been in the past. Be sure to always keep in mind that "to waste not is to want not."

Ann Landers

Mother ruining her social life

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teenage girl with a serious problem. I am 16 and Bill is 17. We've gone together for two years. A friend of mine says I'm depriving Bill of a very important factor which he needs in order to mature. She says I should go to bed with him because he must have some sexual experience if he's going to "grow up." She also says if I deny him this he will seek it elsewhere and I will lose him.

My problem is one that concerns many young girls these days. Could you please print this letter and your answer? — Searching For Right Answers

Dear Searching: Apparently your friend has the notion that sexual experience "grows people up." She is mistaken. Some of the most sexually active people are the LEAST grown up.

The ability to postpone gratification and be in control of one's passions is a sign of maturiiy. If your boyfriend drops you because you refuse to go to bed with him, you haven't lost much, honey.

Dear Ann: I can't believe that I, a grown man with a wife and two children, am actually writing to Ann Landers. For years I've read your column for entertainment.

The problem is my mother. Two years ago the company I work for transferred me from my home town to another city. Mother is a fine person and I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world, but her visits have become more and more frequent, and of longer duration.

We cannot lead our own lives when she is here. She expects to be included in everything we do. Often it creates a problem. Mother does not wait for an invitation. She selects her own arrival and departure dates. My wife has been a good sport about this and never complains.

What's the solution, Ann? Please don't advise me to tell her how we feel. I just couldn't. — Loving But Overburdened Son

Dear L. But O.: Your last sentence rules out the only logical solution. If you don't tell her how you feel, she'll never know.

Printing this letter will not do the job. If she saw it she'd probably say to herself, "How nice that I don't have that problem. My son and his wife just love to have me — anytime."

Either you screw up your courage and level with Mama or resign yourself to the fact that as long as she lives, she will call the tune while you and your wife dance to it.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 14-year-old girl with a mother who is ruining my social life. She is always humiliating me in front of my friends. For example, last week she wore my brother's pants to the grocery store. They are NOT jeans — they are boy's pants which was plain to see. I ran into her on the street and was so embarrassed I wanted to die.

When I told Mom I wish she would look decent in public for my sake she said the trouble with kids today is that they are too darned mouthy and I wasn't going to tell her how to dress. What can I do about my problem? — Red Face

Dear Red: If your Mom had a nice pair of comfortable slacks maybe she wouldn't wear your brother's pants. Ask your Dad to surprise her with a gift as soon as he can afford it. If you get an allowance maybe you can help. (P.S. If this is the worst thing kids can say about you, your reputation should be very good, dear.)

Confused about what's right and what's wrong in today's "new morality"? You're not alone. If you want honest, down-to-earth information on your sex questions, read Ann Landers's new booklet, "High School Sex and How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." Send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Erma Bombeck

Scrimmage at supper table

I have found that whenever a man wants to strike back at a woman for her boredom with football, he will say, "You don't understand the game."

I understand the game. I also understand that football games last longer than some marriages.

I understand that if I have to sit through four more months of announcing news bulletins during the commercial ("PAPER TRAINING DOG 10 — MOM O," "KIDS BEST SHOES RAINED OUT," "MOTHER-IN-LAW LAST DRAFT CHOICE SIGNS ON FOR WEEKEND") I'll go crazy.

There's only one way I know to fight back and that's on my turf. After watching four games in a row last Sunday, my husband groped his way out to the dinner table.

"Where's dinner?" he grumbled.

"Hi there, fans in the stands," I said speaking into a spatula. "We've got an exciting evening planned for you tonight, but first let's hear from our man in the freezer.

"This is Frank Sirloin here, and this is the big one we've been looking for. Erma Microwave is looking for her first winning streak in 5,356 tries and tonight it's Frozen Hamburger vs. Leftovers."

"Will you just put the food on the table?" he sighed.

"When we talked to Erma earlier, the game plan was to go outside, but since she moves pretty well inside, she's decided to go for a man-on-man situation. We'll ask her about how she expects to pick up any more yardage with the leftovers, but first we'll go to the bench where she'll fill us in on some of the injuries."

"That's cute," said my husband. "Now can we eat?"

"You may remember the string beans that received two incomplete passes at the last meal, and a package of buns that was lateraled and picked up by the dog in yesterday's luncheon scrimmage. Starting today will be the George Blanda of the team, Cottage Cheese, which may retire after today's encounter. There'll be more on injuries, but now we're getting a signal to go out on the field where 148 cheerleaders are spelling relief — that's R-O-L-A-I-D-S."

"I get the drift," he grumbled. "The meal is getting cold."

"Don't be ridiculous," I said, grabbing the plate out of his hand. "You've only had it passed under your nose once. Next time around is in slow motion, then instant replay, then stop action, now camera three so you can see it from the bottom . . . then later on the six o'clock news, and two hours from now, it will be shown again on Leftover Greats of the Century, but now ... ooops, the casserole fell to the floor. Sorry, gang, the fumble was sloppy, but it's only the first in four. . ."

It could cost me the marriage, but it was worth it.

Dr. Lamb

Worry over varicose veins

DEAR DR. LAMB — I need your advice concerning my varicose veins. I went to a surgeon this past week who specializes in varicose veins. I asked his advice on a bump that I had on a vein in my leg. He told me I should be operated on for my veins.

I would like to get someone else's opinion before going ahead and getting the operation. I never had a vein in my leg until I had my first child — now 20 years old.

My doctor who delivered my children always told me not to worry about the varicose veins because they were from pregnancy. Now after the last child (9 years old) my veins are worse.

Dr. Lamb, my baby doctor was one of the best in the field. Now I realize that he should have told me to take better care of my varicose veins or he should have told me to see a specialist in that field. Now I can't seem to have faith in what the doctor says.

I am concerned that this new doctor is only interested in operating because he is a surgeon. Do you think I should get another doctor's opinion or should I go ahead and have my veins operated on? Is it a serious operation? I know my legs would probably look a lot better.

DEAR READER — There seems to be an inherited weakness to develop varicose veins. Commonly they first appear during pregnancy. The veins in the legs drain into larger veins in the abdomen. During pregnancy the baby presses against these large veins and prevents the normal flow of blood back to the heart.

The pressure builds up in the veins and causes them to become overdistended. The tiny valves in the leg veins cease to work and you have varicose veins. They usually get worse with each succeeding pregnancy.

The lump you mention is probably what we call a "blow-out." There are connecting veins between those you see on the outside of the leg and those veins deep inside your leg. When the valves in the connecting veins fail a spot sticks out which is an enlarged spot in the vein.

What could your baby doctor have done? Probably nothing would have helped much, short of not getting pregnant. You might have gotten some help from wearing support hose or elastic stockings that increase the pressure outside the leg by helping to prevent the overdistention of the veins.

Some years ago such preventive measures were not taken. They are still not used extensively. However, considering the basic nature of varicose veins — stretched veins — I think they are a good idea for anyone who has a family history of this problem. They may also be useful for any woman during pregnancy or those who must stand still for long periods of time.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins, to give you a better understanding of your problem. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

After reading The Health Letter if you still wonder about having an operation get another doctor to examine you. If your legs are not bothering you I presume you can get along without it. But if you are concerned about the appearance or are having swelling or other problems surgery is a good approach. It is not a serious operation.

Faith: results with use

A Rabbi and a soapmaker went for a walk together. The soapmaker said, "What good is religion? Look at the trouble and the misery in the world after thousands of years of religion. If religion is true, why should this be?"

The Rabbi said nothing. They continued walking until he noticed a child playing in the gutter. The child was filthy with mud and grime. The Rabbi said, "Look at that child. You say that soap makes people clean. We've had soap for generation after generation, yet look how dirty the youngster is. Of what value is soap? With all the soap in the world that child is still filthy. How effective is soap anyway?" The soapmaker protested and said, "But Rabbi, soap can't do any good unless it's used." "Exactly," replied the Rabbi, "so it is with religion."

Real spiritual power will come into your life and make you a genuinely attractive person when you use your faith in daily living.

The man who runs the 100-yard dash in nine seconds is swifter than the man who runs the 100-meter dash in 10 seconds, bear in mind.

Client asks the difference between first, second and third degree burns of the skin. Swiftest definitions maybe: Red is first, blistered is second, and charred is third.

FISHING

Q. "As I recall, you used to go fishing a lot, Louis, but did you catch many fish?"

A. Yes, unfortunately. Because that seemed to be the point then, to catch fish, which is the wrong reason, isn't it? Next time, if ever, I'll know better. Fishermen who go fishing solely to catch fish, as it were, themselves wind up hooked. They become tight lipped and squinty eyed and intensely deliberate of hand and foot. But the whole in going fishing is to get uncaught. Loose jointed, bland in thought, as casual as a cloud. Professionals excepted, sure enough. Next week expect an essay here on how the proper approach to muskrat trapping can set you free. Don't miss it!

See no reason why Gay Ray of Beeville, Texas, shouldn't qualify for membership in the "My Name Is A Poem" Club, do you?

ROCK FORMATIONS

If you've traveled through the western desert land, you've probably seen those peculiar rock formations wherein great flat boulders seem to be balanced precariously atop stone pillars. Client asks how they're formed. Most mysterious. The guessers think erosion attacks those sides of the pillars whereupon the least weight rests. As stone surface is sloughed away, the boulder overhead shifts toward that wasting side, thus compressing the stone under it, and that compression makes that side more resistant to erosion, leaving the other side of the pillar loose to permit further sloughing away. The slow teeter-totter effect is thought to stretch out over centuries.

Numerous police detectives rely on the belief that no crime is original, that each has been committed before somewhere by someone, and that all belong to one or another recognizable "modus operandi." However, said detectives are having trouble categorizing a recent report filed with the lawmen of Mountain View, Calif., where a local fellow was accused of trying to drown his wife in a waterbed. Police record rooms are not bogged down with case histories of waterbed murder attempts. On the contrary.

Q. "HOW DID THE ST. BERNARD DOG GET ITS NAME?"

SHANNA DEWEY
CONCORD, CA

A. THE DOG GETS ITS NAME FROM THE MONASTERY OF ST. BERNARD, IN THE SWISS ALPS, WHERE IT HAS BEEN BRED FOR CENTURIES AS A RESCUE DOG.

The Saint Bernard is a large, intelligent dog that has become famous for rescuing travelers lost in the snowy Alps of Switzerland.

These shaggy, powerful dogs got their name because they have been bred for centuries at a monastery called the Hospice of Saint Bernard, in the Alps.

At one time, there were many foot travelers who crossed the Alps through high, dangerous passes. They often lost their way or became trapped in a snowstorm or avalance.

The monks trained the Saint Bernard dogs to rescue the travelers.

With its keen sense of smell, the Saint Bernard dog could find people who were buried deep in the snow. It would dig them out and bark loudly for help.

Saint Bernard dogs don't really carry casts of brandy on their rescue missions, but warm the accident victims by licking them and lying next to them until the monks arrive to help.

Today the dogs are not used as much for rescue as they once were.

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 9, the 314th day of 1976. There are 52 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated at the end of the World War I.

On this date —

In 1580, a force of Italians and Spaniards landed in Ireland to aid rebels.

In 1872, a fire broke out in Boston, and nearly one-thousand buildings were destroyed.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt created the Civil Works Administration to provide jobs for hundreds of thousands of unemployed young Americans.

In 1938, bands of Nazis roamed the streets of Germany, burning and destroying Jewish synagogues, homes and stores.

In 1962, the United States completed an emergency airlift of arms and ammunition to India in that country's border war with China.

In 1970, former French President Charles de Gaulle died at 79.

Ten years ago: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi took over the nation's Home ministry, which handles the police, in the aftermath of bloody riots over the slaughtering of sacred cows.

Five years ago: Forty-six Italian paratroopers and six Britons were lost when a British Air Force transport plane crashed into the sea off Leghorn, Italy.

One year ago: King Hasaan II of Morocco called off a people's march into the Spanish Sahara and said takeover of the desert territory would have to be accomplished by other means.

Today's birthdays: Former Vice President Spiro Agnew is 58. Former Ambassador Sargent Shriver is 61.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, General George Washington still was at his headquarters in endangered White Plains, N.Y., but he wrote to the Continental Congress in Philadelphia that he expected to move his forces across the Hudson River to New Jersey within hours.

Education workshops for registered nurses planned in Montclair

Two continuing education workshops for registered nurses are planned at Doctors Hospital in Montclair. Registration for both is due this week.

A workshop for nurses in psychiatric work is planned on Nov. 15 and has a registration deadline of Friday. The workshop will cover neurological problems seen in patients. It is scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The second workshop, on Nov. 23, deals with the art of nursing education. It is designed to improve the non-verbal skills of nurses involved in in-hospital nursing education. The registration deadline is Nov. 16 and the class will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Both sessions will be conducted by Madelyn Bordeaux, a registered nurse instructor.

The registration fees include luncheons. Seven units of continuing education credit are provided for nurses.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Miss Bordeaux at 611-3880, ext. 134.

CSSB prof appointed to women's commission

Dr. Carol Goss, associate professor of political science at Cal State San Bernardino has been appointed to the San Bernardino County Commission on the Status of Women by County Supervisor James L. Mayfield.

Dr. Goss fills an unexpired term which ends January 1977.

Her specialty at Cal State is the legislative process, and she teaches a class on sex in politics which is part of the college's women's study certificate program.

The commission makes recommendations to the supervisors on matters affecting women in the county. Members conduct classes on sexism in education for elementary school teachers, and they maintain records on women throughout the county who can provide services to agencies.

The commission also keeps up with state and federal legislation affecting women and looks into employment practices in the public and private sector brought to their attention which might be discriminatory.

Dr. Goss is married to Robert Goss, an artist, and they live in Wrightwood.

Archeological group to hold open house

A valley based archeological group will focus on Indians of the West when it holds its annual open house Nov. 13 at 1251 Palomares St. in La Verne.

The Archeological Survey Association of Southern California will feature prominant Southland artists as well as collections of Indian artifacts in a setting that will be admission free.

How archeologists detect and preserve the lifestyle of Indians of the past will be shown by Glen Crago, president of the organization, during a tour of the laboratories.

In the "bone lab," labeled skeletons of desert rats, porpoises, owls, coyotes, and other animals will be on view.

Desert survival information will be offered to visitors in the ethno-botany lab with samples of edible plants that were used by the Indians.

Charles La Monk, famous for his Indian portraits, will answer questions as to his technique. An exhibit by him and by artist Hattie Simpson, Lorraine York, Fern Flanagan and Sharon Allen will be displayed.

Indian style jewelry will be on sale. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Crago said teachers as well as students will find open house of particular interest for Indian studies.

The society is dedicated to the preservation of archeological artifacts, the dissemination of information and the completion of the scientific archeological survey of Southern California to salvage work endangered by indiscriminate diggings.

Dog days

The "Dog Days" of July and August — when Sirius, the Dog Star, rises with the sun — were blamed by ancient Romans for summer sickness, drought, and the death of farm animals.

Le Roy Boys' Home tour

Economic students at Chaffey College in Alta Loma toured the Le Roy Boys' Home thrift store in Pomona Monday in learning how to buy economically for the home and family.

The tour was led by Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, a home economics teacher.

South's one-spade overcall was about as weak as you will ever see in good competition, but it almost got him a good result. North raised him to three spades and he would have made this contract if he hadn't run into brilliant defense.

West opened the deuce of hearts. East started the good defense by winning with the queen so that he could be sure where the king of hearts was. Then he led back his 10 of diamonds.

South covered with the jack and ducked in dummy after West played his queen. Note that if South took that trick, he would have to lost two hearts, two diamonds and a club.

Now came the crushing defensive play. West led back a low diamond. This gave South his choice of several ways to lose his contract. If he went up with dummy's ace of diamonds, he would run into those same five losers. So he let the diamond ride around to his nine spot.

Then if he tried to get to dummy with a diamond East would ruff in. If he played out his ace of spades, East would score his king so South led a club. East took his ace, put his partner in with the king of hearts and ruffed a diamond to set South that same one trick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Tennessee reader wants to know if you can demand a redeal if you are dealt a hand with no face cards.

The answer is that you can demand one, but your opponents don't have to give it to you. If the cards are dealt properly the deal must stand irrespective of how bad or how good someone's hand is.

ONLY WELLS FARGO GUARANTEES YOUR INTEREST UNTIL AGE 60.

Wells Fargo's Golden Guarantee—guaranteed interest rate and a checking account free of monthly charges—a unique approach to individual retirement accounts for people with no employer retirement plan.

No other bank offers all this—

1. The highest legal bank interest rate paid on current deposits. Your money (up to 15% of your salary to a maximum of $1,500 a year—tax deductible) is invested in a special Golden Guarantee account that, committed for 6 years or more, currently pays you 7½% compounded daily to an annual yield of 7.79%.

2. A guaranteed interest rate. Only Wells Fargo Bank guarantees the interest rate being paid on current deposits until you reach age 60.

3. A checking account free of monthly service charges and minimum balance requirements, another Wells Fargo exclusive.

4. A tax shelter for your earnings. You pay no federal or California taxes on your deposits or the interest they earn until you begin to withdraw funds from your Golden Guarantee account.

After an initial minimum deposit of $200 or more, additional deposits must be at least $50. Federal law requires the forfeiture of three months interest and the reduction of the interest rate to that of regular passbook savings on any money withdrawn at any time other than specified in the withdrawal provision of the account. There could be a substantial IRS and California state penalty on any funds withdrawn before age 59½.

Golden Guarantee. Only Wells Fargo has it.

Organized labor election support to be rewarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the early-morning hours on the day after the elections, with the presidential race still undecided, Jimmy Carter was on the phone with George Meany telling the head of the 14-million-member AFL-CIO: "You people do good work."

Organized labor turned out its troops in what has been described as the biggest, most expensive, best organized and most sophisticated campaign ever in behalf of a presidential candidate.

Carter is likely to show his appreciation with several top-level jobs and by advocating job-creating legislation supported by labor.

The unions also have a shopping list of long-sought special interest measures dealing with bargaining rights for public employes, a stronger merchant marine, workmen's compensation standards, picketing rights for construction workers and repeal of "14B," the section of the federal Taft-Hartley Act that authorizes state right-to-work laws banning the union shop.

With the Democrats in charge of both the White House and Congress for the first time since mid-1968, the prospect of getting these legislative items enacted into law is vastly improved.

Nevertheless, while labor leaders are taking credit for helping to elect Carter — surveys show he had a 61-to-38 per cent margin among voters with union backgrounds — they say they do not regard it as any guarantee of Carter's support when it comes to their special interests.

"If one special group thinks its going to be treated to an advantage over another, I think they're wrong," said Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes.

Wurf and others regard jobs, health insurance, welfare and Medicaid reform as their priorities.

An aide to Meany said there is "absolutely no interest in promoting anything else at the expense of getting people back to work. Sure, there's interest in 'situs' picketing (for construction workers) and repeal of '14B,' but getting America back to work is our No. 1 goal and we're not going to be sidetracked."

On the eve of Tuesday's election, Carter aides in Atlanta said he would probably give high priority to early action on job programs, including efforts to promote more employment in private industry through job subsidies and stimulation of housing construction.

Carter also said that before making major appointments he would talk to key leaders in business and labor. Meany expects to be among those consulted, just as he was when Carter picked Walter Mondale for vice president.

At the top of Meany's list for labor secretary is John T. Dunlop, who held that Cabinet post earlier this year before quitting in a policy dispute with President Ford.

United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, one of the first labor leaders to endorse Carter, is also thought to be in line for a top job in the new administration.

W. Howard McClennan, president of the AFL-CIO Public Employes Department, said Carter had assured him of support for a proposed national collective bargaining law for state and local government workers and liberalization of the Hatch Act, which currently bars federal employes from partisan political activities.

"Organized labor provided all-out support to the Carter-Mondale candidacies on the basis of their endorsement of these programs, and many others," said McClennan. "I think the Carter presidency will set a tone of more efficient government through improved labor-management relations in the public sector."

During the campaign, Carter said that although he would not push for such legislation as repeal of "14B," he would sign it if it got through Congress.

"I don't see him being forced into giving things to labor out of any sense of owing," said Richard Murphy, political director of the Service Employes Union. "He knows we represent working men and women and, I believe, he genuinely wants to help them."

Murphy also said that although he doesn't expect Carter to lobby for some of the more controversial measures sought by labor, "he's not going to be putting any roadblocks in the way."

Brezhnev will visit Yugoslavia, Romania

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will visit Romania later this month, presumably after his previously announced trip to Yugoslavia, the Tass news agency reported.

The visits will take Brezhnev to the two states in the European Communist camp which have historically demonstrated the most independence from Moscow. In recent months, however, both Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu and Yugoslav President Josip Tito have indicated willingness to form friendlier relations with the Soviets.

The official announcement said Brezhnev will pay a "friendly visit" to Romania in the second half of November at the invitation of Ceausescu.

Exact dates for the two visits have not been announced.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
NO. EA P-12319

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Los Angeles

Estate of EMELINA RITA PAGLIUSO, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, subject to confirmation by the above entitled Court, on November 15, 1976, at 2:00 p.m. or thereafter within the time allowed by law, the undersigned, as Executor of the Will of EMELINA RITA PAGLIUSO, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest and best bidder on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned, all right, title, and interest of the deceased, at the time of her death, and all right, title and interest that the estate has acquired in addition to that of decedent at the time of her death, in the real property described as follows:

Lots 33 and 34 in Block 63 of Lordsburg, in the City of La Verne, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 18, pages 9 to 14 inclusive of Miscellaneous Records in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

The property is commonly referred to as 2459 E. 2nd Street, La Verne, California.

The sale is subject to current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, rights, rights of way, and easements of record.

The property is to be sold on an "as is" basis, except as to title.

Bids or offers are invited for this property and must be in writing and will be received at the office of LAW OFFICES OF JOHN MORAN, attorneys for said Executor, at 1192 North White Avenue, Pomona, California 91766, or may be filed with the clerk of the Superior Court or delivered to LAW OFFICES OF JOHN MORAN personally, at any time after first publication of this notice and before making said sale.

The terms and conditions of sale are cash in lawful money of the United States of America or part cash and part credit, the terms of such credit to be acceptable to the Executor and to the Court.

10 percent of the amount bid to accompany the offer by certified check, and the balance to be paid on confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be prorated as of the date of confirmation of sale. Examination of title, recording of conveyance, transfer taxes and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the seller.

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids prior to entry of an order confirming sale.

Israel bars solons from installations

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Israeli government has put its secret nuclear installations in the Negev Desert off limits to a party of U.S. senators checking safeguards against the manufacture of atomic weapons, a leading newspaper reports.

The newspaper Maariv reported the government turned down numerous requests from the 13 senators to visit the facilities built with French help in the 1950s near the town of Dimona, in southern Israel.

"We want to learn about the atomic development programs in this region and to study how supervision and control both here and in Egypt can ensure that atomic energy will be for peaceful uses only," Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., told reporters at Ben-Gurion Airport.

The senators arrived Sunday for a four-day visit in preparation for Senate action on agreements carrying out former President Nixon's offers of nuclear power reactors to Israel and Egypt. Before the reactors can be supplied, the Senate must approve the safeguards against diversion of the nuclear material to the production of weapons.

Foreign press reports have said Israel has made more than 10 atomic weapons with material from the Dimona installation. Last March, the editor of a Washington newsletter said senior officials of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency told him at a briefing that Israel had 10 to 20 nuclear weapons "ready for use." The CIA refused to confirm or deny the report.

Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said the senators would not pressure the Israelis to sign the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, which Egypt has signed.

"We are not here to conduct any negotiations," said Baker. But he, too, said they "want to see ... how the safeguards will be carried forward."

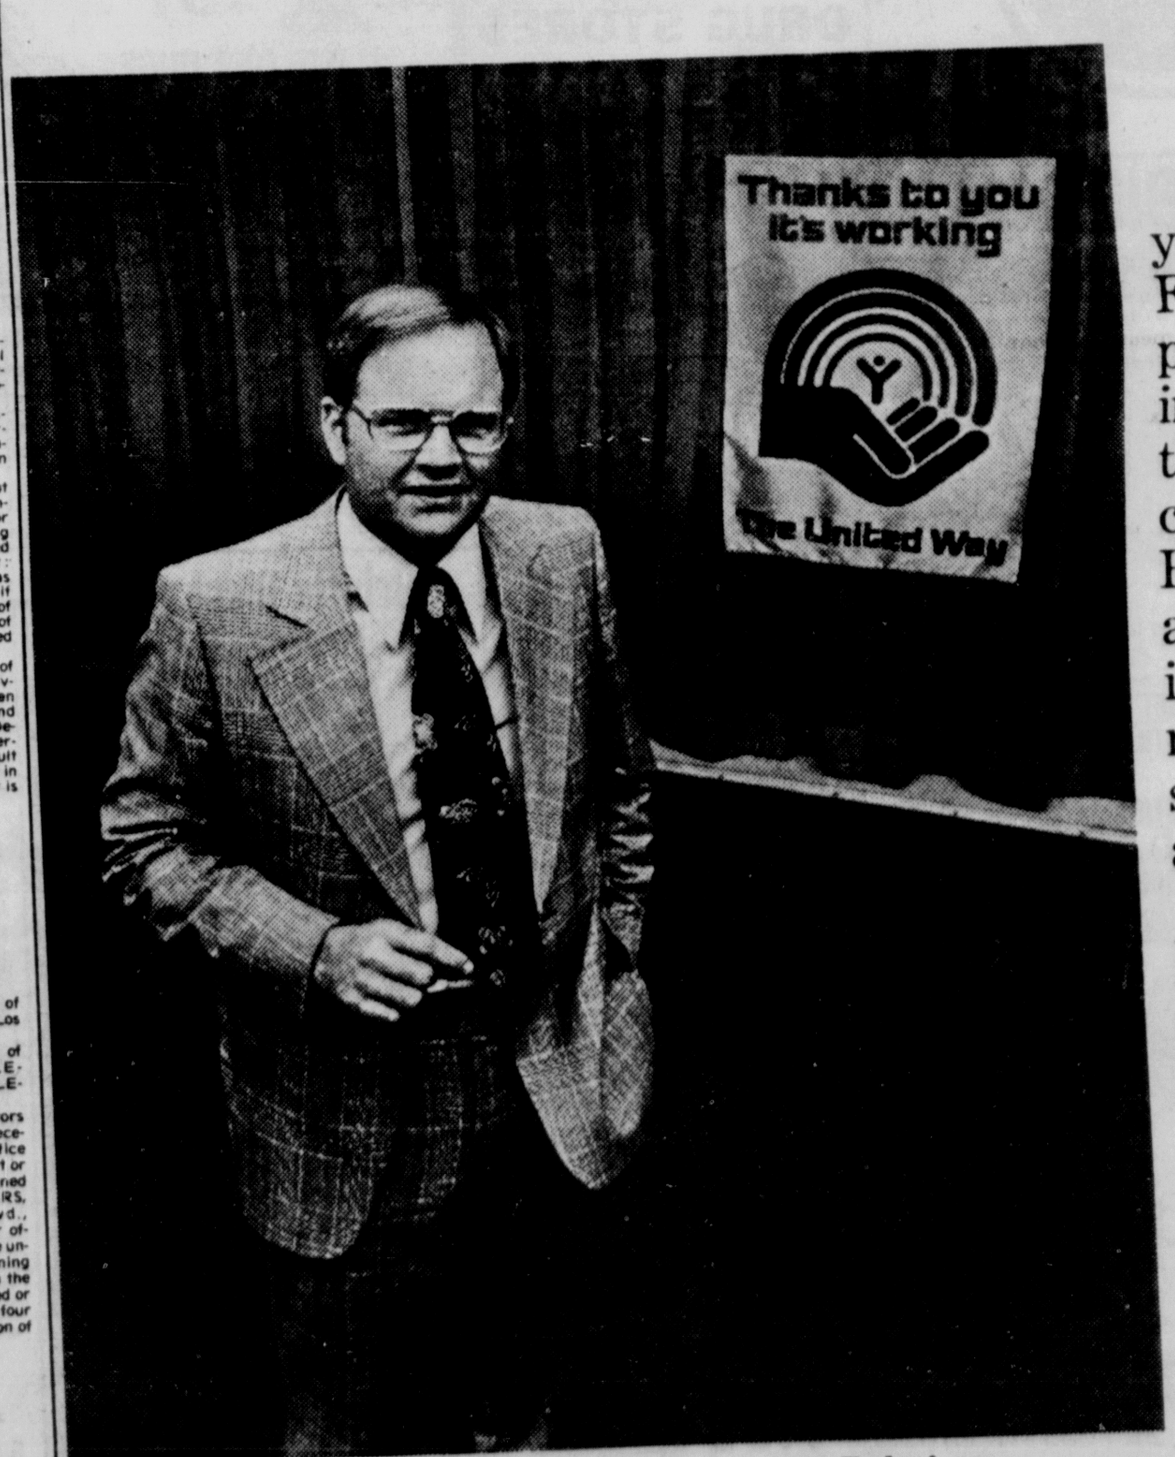
"I work for Kaiser Steel. Right now that means working for the United Way."



Ted Chinn, Supervisor of Community Relations. Ted has been with Kaiser Steel nine years.

"As chairman of this year's United Way drive in Fontana, it's my job to help people understand the vital importance of those services that are supported by contributors to United Way. By supporting these agencies, we're really helping our neighbors. We're making sure that there's somebody there to provide assistance when it's needed.

At Kaiser Steel we believe firmly in doing our part. This year the company is giving $107,000 to the United Ways which support services in communities near the steel mill where our employees live.

In addition, Kaiser Steel employees are giving more than $300,000 this year by payroll deduction to the United Way and other health and welfare organizations in their communities. That's an average of nearly $40 each.

I believe that each contribution, each dollar, makes our neighborhood a better place for all of us to live."

Women increase ranks in state legislatures by 1.1 per cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women increased their ranks in state legislatures from 8 per cent to 9.1 per cent in last Tuesday's election, for a new total of 685 seats.

"It's progress — but not very fast progress," said Betsey Wright, director of the National Women's Education Fund, which has been compiling statistics on women at state and local levels since 1974.

"We've got to discover some way we can go from 9 per cent all the way up to 25 per cent in one election period," said Ms. Wright, who prefers that designation.

Only then, she said, will women have enough of a base to make significant inroads on statewide and national offices.

The number of women in the U.S. Congress declined by one as a result of Tuesday's elections, from 19 to 18 out of 435 House members. There are no women in the 100-member Senate.

Ann Zill, director of the Women's Campaign Fund, said one breakthrough in 1976 was that for the first time women have begun to contribute money for women's campaigns.

The campaign fund collected almost $63,700 for women candidates, and the National Women's Political Caucus raised another $30,000.

"The sum of $100,000 for women candidates is indeed paltry," said Ms. Zill, who also prefers the feminist designation, compared to the total of $400 million which analysts estimate is spent for all levels of campaigns in a year such as this.

A presidential year is usually a poor one for newcomers in state and congressional races because most money and campaign workers are focused on the fight for the White House, said Ms. Wright.

She said she expects women to make more substantial gains in 1978.

The National Women's Education Fund has given intensive campaign-skills seminars in various regions of the country since 1974 to more than 500 women who want to manage campaigns or run for office.

In the elections, the number of women rose in 22 state legislatures, held even in 10 and lost strength in 11. Seven states did not hold legislative elections.

Alaska lost the most women, from 9 to 4 state legislators.

California made the biggest increase in percentages: from 3 to 6, including the first woman elected to the state senate. Other sizable increases were Florida, from 12 to 18; Illinois, 14 to 21; Minnesota, 8 to 12, and Texas, 7 to 11.

The two states with the lowest percentages of women legislators did not hold elections this year: Alabama with .71 per cent and Louisiana with 1.4 per cent. States with the next-lowest numbers of women are Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

States with the largest percentages of women legislators are New Hampshire, with 27.1 per cent; Connecticut, 20.3 per cent; Arizona, 16.7 per cent; Washington, 15.6 per cent, and Maine, 15.2 per cent.

Presidential inauguration will not be an extravagant affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The planners of Jimmy Carter's presidential inauguration say they will put on a more modest celebration than the $4 million extravaganza that installed Richard M. Nixon in 1973.

Washington attorney Bardyl R. Tirana says Carter will use nothing like the $900,000 imitation marble reviewing stands that held and sheltered Nixon and 22,000 others four years ago.

That was "too extravagant" for Carter, Tirana said. "The inauguration will be modest. It will not be extravagant, that much I know."

Tirana and South Carolinian Vicki Rogers, both longtime Carter supporters, have been named by the President-elect as chairmen of the committees planning festivities for the Jan. 20 inaugural.

The $4 million total tab for the 1973 inauguration included the swearing-in ceremonies at the Capitol, several concerts, five inaugural balls, and a reception for then-Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

No overall budget for the 1977 ceremony has been established.

Much of the inaugural schedule is determined by custom and protocol and won't be changed by the Carters, Tirana said. The President-elect will primarily influence specific details, such as the type of hats the men wear, if any.

Later this week, Tirana will meet with Carter's wife, Rosalynn, who will indicate some of the general ideas she and the President-elect would like included in the schedule. Detailed planning will begin from there, Tirana said.

Contractors authorized by Congress have begun work on the wooden platform in front of the east portico of the Capitol. Nearly all presidents since Thomas Jefferson have taken the oath of office near there.

Tirana said he has decided against starting work immediately on the presidential and VIP parade reviewing stands on both sides of Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House.

Whatever accomodations are eventually built for watching the parade, Tirana said, the dignitaries will have "to sit in something a little more modest."

One variable the committee can do little about is the weather, which has disrupted more than one inaugural in the past. William H. Taft moved his ceremony indoors to the Senate chamber in 1909 because of a snowstorm.

In 1961, on the night before John F. Kennedy's inauguration, about eight inches of snow fell, and the military had to be called out to clear the thoroughfares with shovels.

But no one has suffered from inaugural weather like William Henry Harrison in 1841. He stood in a cold downpour to take the oath, then rode back to the White House on a white charger in the first inaugural parade.

A month later, Harrison was dead of pneumonia.

Rebekahs honoring officers

Heliotrope Rebekah Lodge of Pomona will observe Noble Grand and Vice Grand Night at 8 o'cock tonight at the Fair Valley Grange Hall, 11667 Monte Vista Ave., Chino.

Noble grands of other lodges who will be guests of Mrs. Helen Harkinson, Rebekah noble grand for Heliotrope Lodge, will include; Mrs. Ellen Breshears, Upland; Keon Traister, Ontario; Bea Avis, Chino; and Esther Hankins, Claremont.

Vice grands from the corresponding lodges will be guests of Lynee Chapin. Other guests will be Bonnylin Miller, district deputy president of District 74 and her deputy marshal, Margaret Jasper.

An added feature will be a program by Aloha Rebekah Lodge of Westminster who will present a traveling plaque. The plaque will be presented by Heliotrope Rebekah Lodge on Nov. 16 to the Costa Mesa Lodge.

Mrs. Chapin and Mrs. Harkinson are in charge of decorations and refreshments for the evening.

G.O.P. unit sets program Thursday

"Listen To the Martyrs" will be the program topic for the Thursday meeting of the Pomona Valley Republican Womens Club, Federated, to be held at the LaCabana Restaurant, 506 N. Palomares Ave., Pomona.

Dr. Myrus L. Knutsen, International Chairman of the District Attorney's Advisory Council, and pastor of the Christ Lutheran Church of West Covina, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Knutsen presently serves as president of the Board for "Jesus to the Communist World" and his name appears in "Who's Who in the West". His deep interest and concern for his fellowman made it possible for him to meet the Reverend Richard Wumbrand in Norway at the time of his release from the communists. Reverend Wumbrand still carries his scars from his torture. This is the firest direct information on how some of our men were treated by the communists.

Scheduled business will include the report by the nominating committee, and information on a Los Angeles County Republican Women's 1976 Convention on December 6 to be held at the Biltmore Hotel. Delegates and alternates appointed by the president to attend the convention are Mmes. Alex Duarte, Clarence Jackman, E. C. Harrison, C. Arnold Stevenson, A. W. Kelly, Hollis Page, Richard Speier and Jack Fulton. The guest speaker will be Patrick J. Buchanan whose political column is syndicated in more than seventy newspapers across the United States. He is author of several books of which perhaps the best known is "The New Majority".

This Thursday's business meeting will open at 11:30 a.m. with luncheon at noon. Dr. Knutsen will speak at 1 p.m.

Bazaar scheduled this week

The annual bazaar sponsored by members of United Methodist Women of the Chino United Methodist Church will be held Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the social hall.

A luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. It is open to the public.

In the booths such items as quilts, braided rugs, home baked goods, fancy work, jewelry, greeting cards and Christmas novelties will be available.

Mrs. L. C. Nyberg is chairman for the bazaar and preparing the luncheon will be Mmes. Raymond Case, Stanley Creighton, Ed Czeschin, Richard Ludden, Carl Schuler, LaForrest Nyberg and David Waters.

Mother of Twins unit plans dinner

Isabel Lopez de Fages will be the speaker at a dinner meeting of the Pomona Valley Mother of Twins Club Wednesday at the Firehouse Inn, 998 N. Garey Ave., Pomona, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Fages is a direct descendent of the first California families to settle San Diego. She and her husband maintain Casa Alvarado on Old Settlers Lane, one of the oldest adobes in California and the second oldest in Pomona. She has spent much of her life in the researching, writing and preservation of California history and historical landmarks.

Auxiliary to honor president

The national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Fleet Reserve Association, Mrs. Evelyn K. Harris of Norfolk, Va., will make her official visit to the Pomona Auxiliary Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 13130 Central Ave., Chino.

The unit and branch will hold a no-host dinner in honor of the national president at 6 p.m. at Centro Basco Restaurant in Chino.

Barely simple

In case you haven't noticed, the one dress that will go anywhere at night this year is strapless and the simpler, the better.

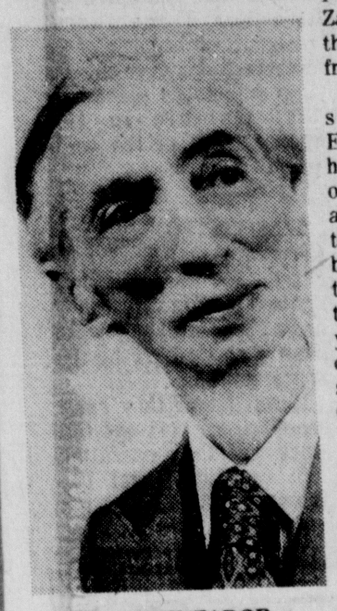
Symphony plans salute to composer

In its fall concert Nov. 21, the Claremont Symphony Orchestra will perform "Hungarian Scherzo" by Eugene Zador, prominent Southern California composer. Zador is a longtime friend of George Denes, founding conductor of the orchestra.



EUGENE ZADOR

The concert will be presented in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 4 p.m. Zador is expected to attend the program. Admission is free.

Moviegoers who have seen MGM's "That's Entertainment" have heard a lot of Zador's original music and arrangements, according to Denes. The Hungarian-born composer was head of the music department at the MGM studio for 16 years and composed an orchestrated music for such stars as Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly, Cyd Charisse, Leslie Caron, Judy Garland and others. He also composed works for non-musicals starring such figures as Clark Gable and Robert Taylor.

After retiring from the studio, Zador devoted full time to composing concert music for many combinations of instruments. He has composed concertos for trumpet, for tympani, for clarinet and other instruments. Several of his more recent concertos were given their premieres by Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra. In 1974 Zador completed "Christopher Columbus," a full opera. It had a successful premiere in New York and is now being recorded.

Guild to study jewelry

Jewelry artist Al Bassin will demonstrate the various steps in the setting of precious stones at the monthly meeting of the Diamond Bar Artists Guild at the Coast Federal Savings and Loan Building, 397 S. Diamond Bar Blvd., Diamond Bar, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Bassin's interest in fine jewelry started as a hobby. He spent several years grading opals, then branched out into cutting and setting such precious gems as diamonds, rubies and sapphires.

The Guild's theme of the month is seascape.

Further information can be obtained from Maya Lalvani at 598-1329.

'Oedipus' slated at Pomona

"Oedipus the King," a movie filmed in Amphiaraion, Greece, will be screened at Oldenborg International Theater, Pomona College, at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Admission is free.

The play was performed in the 5th Century B.C. theater by the Athens Classical Theater Company with masks created especially for the production. The film is presented by Harry Carroll Jr., professor of classics.

GET IT RIGHT! — Joanne Woodward tells John Denver he has two left feet after the singer bumbled a soft-shoe routine with her at the Universal Studios amphitheater. They are rehearsing for the John Denver Special to be aired on ABC-TV Nov. 17. The show also stars Dennis Weaver, the Starland Vocal Band and the shark from "Jaws."

Milstein to solo with Philharmonic

Violinist Nathan Milstein will be soloist in Brahms' Violin Concerto with Zubin Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic at the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The purely orchestral portion of the program will be devoted to the Symphony No. 40 in G Minor by Mozart and Krzystof Pendericki's 1971 composition "De natura sonoris," which was dedicated to Mehta.

The concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, the second in the Philharmonic's new six-concert Saturday series, will be devoted to a preview of some of the repertoire the Philharmonic will play on its U.S. State Department-sponsored European tour that begins Nov. 16. Concertmaster Glenn Dicterow and co-principal violist Alan de Veritch will be the soloists in Mozart's Sinfonia Concertante in E Flat, which they are scheduled to perform in London Nov. 19 and in Warsaw Nov. 26. Also programmed are Mahler's First Symphony and four short pieces by Charles Ives—"A Lecture," "The New River," "Like a Sick Eagle" and "Tone Roads No. 3."

Milstein began his studies in his native Russia and later went to Petrograd to study with Leopold Auer. Although he made his public debut at age 10, Milstein waited another nine years before embarking on a tour of Russia with his close friend, Vladimir Horowitz. Following his Paris debut in 1925, Milstein triumphed in the music capitals of Europe as well as throughout America. Since then he has become one of the foremost artists of our time, making annual tours throughout Europe and frequently visiting America, Latin America, Israel and Egypt. Milstein's last appearance with the Los Angeles Philharmonic was in 1968, when he played the Tchaikovsky Concerto under Mehta.

Dicterow joined the Philharmonic in 1972 as associate concertmaster.

Hot-cold career of Stacy Keach

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "I'm hot again," Stacy Keach says, with a happy smile. "It's funny, but this is a very cyclical business. Five years ago, I did 'Hamlet' in New York and got fantastic reviews. But I could not get a job afterwards. But now, suddenly, everybody wants me."

He says he is getting typed in adventure films — "I usually play the doubter who turns around and does good things for good causes." He thinks that's not a bad type to be typed as.

He's played that role in several films, and has a few more set to go. He'll be in "Gray Lady Down," a big upcoming submarine adventure yarn. And, after that, he's probably going to be in "Leviathan," a disaster movie with a hurricane setting.

TV audiences know him from his series, Carib, which wasn't a success — although it did well enough for him so that he could afford to buy a house.

"The problem with it," he says, "was that it was just Gunsmoke in the Caribbean. I think it was getting better all the time, but I don't think it took sufficient advantage of the Caribbean setting.

"No matter what you think of Hawaii Five-O, at least it uses Hawaii and that makes it different.

"But I wasn't unhappy about Carib's cancellation. I felt ambivalent about it.

"I don't think I'll do another series — at least, not until I need the money to buy another house."

STACY KEACH

Medved and Wallechinsky say there is strong interest from TV to do a mini-series based on the book. The series would follow perhaps a dozen of the stories of the graduates, some of whom have had lives far different from what you might expect.

Wallechinsky is the son of novelist Irving Wallace, whose philosophy in selling his books to movies is to sell them and forget them. But Wallechinsky feels differently.

"If it does sell to movies or TV," he says, "I would like very much to have a hand in the production, to see that they don't mess it up. I've seen what's happened to my father's books and I don't want that to happen to this."

Both Medved and Wallechinsky are involved in further book projects and one of Medved's sounds fascinating. He and his 15-year-old brother — authors are getting younger all the time — are doing a book on the 50 worst movies of all time.

LOOKOUT!

Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson (14) scrambles away from tacklers for short gain against Rams in Cincinnati Monday night. Anderson sparked second half comback that gave Bengals a 20-12 victory over the Rams.

Rams lose again on Monday night

Bengals come of age

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, Paul Brown's last pet project, have come of age in the National Football League.

"We're at the point of maturity where we can play with anybody. In fact, man-for-man I thought we were the better team tonight," said fullback Boobie Clark, who helped the Bengals overcome a poor start as Cincinnati beat the Los Angeles Rams 20-12 in a nationally televised game.

The Bengals, now 7-2 and leaders in the American Conference Central Division, overcame their worst first half in years to knock off the powerful Rams in a battle between teams harboring Super Bowl aspirations. The Rams dropped to 6-2-1, but still lead the National Conference West.

The victory kept Cincinnati on course for its crucial showdown Nov. 28 against rejuvenated Pittsburgh, which still is clinging to hopes of a third straight Super Bowl title.

"Pittsburgh is not the only team with momentum going," said Clark, who celebrated his 26th birthday with two touchdowns in triggering a 20-point third-quarter that sank the Rams. "We're looking forward to meeting them."

The Bengals, who suppressed emotion under perfectionist Brown, who built the franchise from scratch eight years ago, are whooping it up under new Coach Bill Johnson.

Looking offensively inept in the first half, the Bengals regrouped. "Basically, we were stopping ourselves," said Johnson.

"We had an emotional meeting at halftime," said veteran center Bob Johnson. "Bill is more spark than we've had here. I think we felt fortunate we were only behind 6-0."

Aroused by the 50-year-old rookie coach with the nickname of "Tiger," the Bengals struck swiftly, with the defense paving the way. Less than three minutes into the second half, Rams quarterback James Harris lost a fumble at the Los Angeles nine-yard line.

Clark bolted into the end zone untouched on Cincinnati's next play and rookie Chris Bahr's conversion kick put the Bengals ahead 7-6, overcoming field goals of 19 and 23 yards by the Rams' Tom Dempsey.

Six minutes later, after taking over near midfield, quarterback Ken Anderson dashed 25 yards to set up the second touchdown. Anderson, shaking off a 2-for-12 first half passing performance, connected on a 30-yard scoring pass to veteran tight end Bob Trumpy.

On the next series, Anderson marched the Bengals 47 yards, hitting Clark with a 17-yard touchdown pass.

"The best thing about this ball club is that the defense gives us ways to win," said Trumpy, one of two original Bengals left. "This is the type of thing that gives a club a great deal of character."

The Rams, who outgained Cincinnati 173-57 yards in the first half, were frustrated by former teammate Coy Bacon, who led the Bengals' defensive charge.

"It was a personal thing with him," said Los Angeles running back John Cappelletti, who topped all rushers with 86 yards in 20 carries.

UCLA tries to forget SC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Terry Donahue said his main aim this weekend was to keep his UCLA players' minds on their upcoming game against Oregon State, a four-touchdown underdog, and not rival Southern California.

Then Athletic Director J.D. Morgan said, "The USC game is a complete sellout."

No matter who second-ranked UCLA played this weekend, it would probably make no difference: the Bruin players are thinking about the Trojans whom they play in two weeks.

Donahue's squad, with only a tie against Ohio State to mar its first nine games this year, takes on a 2-6 OSU squad on Saturday in Corvallis. Meanwhile, the Trojans meet Washington, a three-touchdown underdog, in Los Angeles.

Last Saturday, UCLA pasted Oregon 46-0 and did it mostly with reserves. The first-string offense was in for only the first 18 minutes.

"We didn't make any subsitutions until the score was 24-0," said Donahue, in his first year. "And I remember a game we played against Oregon a few years ago. We led 40-21 that time, and we pulled the first string and Oregon won 41-40.

"But when we were ahead 24-0 Saturday, I felt we were so much the clearly dominant team I didn't think we'd have any trouble...that if Oregon came back, we could respond.

"Of course, there was the consideration of whether the first string would play enough. We thought they might lose a little bit of their timing, but we do have another game this week, at Oregon State."

Donahue remained concerned that his players might look ahead to the Nov. 20 game with the third-ranked Trojans.

"We won't see their films until next Sunday," said Donahue, "but that doesn't prevent the players from reading the newspapers and watching replays of their games on television. You just can't control that. Sure, it's hard to keep the players and the coaches from thinking ahead to the USC game, but the weather in Oregon could be a factor this week.

"And another big factor for us to remember is that they beat Cal when Cal was still healthy. Also, Craig Fertig is an ex-Trojan and one of their assistants, Tony Kopay, is an ex-Bruin. I'm sure they'd love nothing better than to beat UCLA."

But the USC game, even though it's two weeks away, remains on Donahue's mind.

"We have to do our best up there," he said. "We have to play hard. We can't regress because we have to have momentum going into the SC game.

"It's gonna be a titanic."

ABC selects A&M contest

NEW YORK (AP) — The Southwest Conference battle between Texas A&M and Arkansas will be the second half of a college football doubleheader to be televised Saturday by ABC, the network announced Monday.

That game, starting at 4 p.m. EST, will be shown nationally and will be preceded by six regional telecasts, each starting at 12:30 p.m. EST.

The regional games are Alabama at Notre Dame, West Virginia at Pittsburgh, Yale at Harvard, Clemson at Maryland, Brigham Young at New Mexico and a Division II game, Alcorn State at Prarie View A&M.

Mike Carey fights for life

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Carey played football for the University of Southern California last Saturday. Today, he is fighting for his life against Hodgkins Disease.

The 21-year-old junior defensive back underwent surgery Monday for removal of his spleen and several lymph nodes in the battle against the cancer.

In addition, surgeons took samples of bone marrow and his liver to see how far the disease had spread.

Although results of the tests were not expected until Wednesday, team physician Dr. Chester Semel said he was encouraged, and Carey was listed in fair condition Monday night at Brotman Memorial Hospital in suburban Culver City.

It was only 24 days ago that Carey, of San Frsncisco, was told he had Hodgkins Disease, which kills about 3,000 persons each year in the United States.

He wanted to continue as a backup defensive back for the Trojans, and only four days after learning he had the dreaded disease, played in a victory over Oregon State. Coach John Robinson gave him the game ball.

Then began the endless tests, stomach X-rays, bone scans, blood samples. But Carey continued as a football player and coaches let him see action the last two weeks against California and Stanford.

But the tests started taking their toll.

"I felt slow and sluggish," he said before Monday's surgery. "I tried not to think about it, but I knew it."

The 6-foot-1, 200-pounder suffered a muscle pull lifting weights in August. When swelling in his lower neck persisted, Dr. Semel ordered tests.

One lump was discovered—it was benign. But beneath it another, only the size of a dime, was discovered. It was malignant.

"I didn't want to tell anybody," Carey said. "But then I realized I'm somebody's child and somebody cares about me. The impact didn't hit me until I told my family."

With Carey, when he came out of the operation, were his father, Chuck, a retired Navy commander, his mother, Margaret, plus three of his four brothers and sisters and his girl friend.

"When he called to tell me, at first I broke down," said his mother. "Then I said we have God on our side and we're going to beat this."

Doctors say Carey's chances of survival are about 85 per cent if the malignancy is confined to the area where surgery was performed. He will need an estimated four to six weeks of radiation treatment, beginning immediately.

"All studies so far indicate that the Hodgkins Disease is limited to the original area in the neck and around the collarbone," Dr. Semel said after the surgery. "This can be treated with radiation."

He said doctors who performed the surgery found no evidence of tumors elsewhere.

If all goes well, the doctor said, Carey may resume his hobby of mountain climbing soon and perhaps even think about playing football next fall.

Although Carey will not play any more this season, the Trojans named him captain for their game against Stanford last Saturday and for their crucial meeting with UCLA Nov. 20, with the Rose Bowl probably at stake.

Before the Stanford game, members of the team included Carey in a pregame prayer.

"Many of us knew him and we'd been praying for him," said Stanford co-captain Jeff Barton, a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. "We just made sure we prayed for him again."

Neumann put on suspension

BUFFALO (AP) — Guard Johnny Neumann has been suspended indefinitely by the Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Association "for repeated misconduct detrimental to the club," General Manager Bob MacKinnon announced Monday.

A team spokesman would not elaborate on that statement. "We're not going to get into specifics on this thing," he said.

Chargers cut Mitch Hoopes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Punter Mitch Hoopes, who ran when he should have kicked the ball and whose fumble led to a Pittsburgh score, has now lost his job.

The San Diego Chargers waived him Monday, retaining former St. Louis punter Jeff West. Hoopes was sent to San Diego by Dallas this year but came under fire when he ran from punt formation on fourth and 17 against Houston last month and got nowhere.

Coliseum accepts remodeling bids

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coliseum Commissioners voted Monday to begin accepting bids on the proposed stadium remodeling project which will drop the playing floor of the facility 13½ feet and reduce the seating capacity.

A spokesman for the Coliseum said two roadblocks may hold up the project — its cost and where financing would come from. However, commissioners decided to begin accepting bids, and will open them Dec. 8, in an attempt to get started on the project.

In another action, commissioners voted to begin receiving bids on a proposed concessions improvement project, which would provide $1.5 million in improvements for the stadium. Concession bids will be opened Dec. 15.

The remodeling plan calls for the floor to be dropped and the open end of the facility closed in, bringing thousands of seats closer to the area in which football is played. Seating capacity would be reduced from more than 91,000 to about 82,000 with 11,000 seats between the goal lines.

The concessions improvements are intended to provide less waiting time to buy food, easier access to concessions and a more flexible concessions arrangement.

Pitt enjoys new status

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Winners tell jokes, Coach John Majors warned his jovial Pitt football players, while the losers say "Deal!"

The No. 1-ranked Panthers basked in the limelight and the television lights Monday as word came to their lockerroom that they had been voted the best college football team.

As they raised their index fingers to signal their new status, a stern but happy coach warned that while it was tough getting there, it would be tougher staying there.

"The wind blows harder the higher you sit on the flag pole," said Majors.

The undefeated Panthers replaced Michigan in the Associated Press poll in the wake of Purdue's 16-14 victory over the Wolverines Saturday. Michigan dropped to fourth place.

Ranked No. 2 behind Michigan for the last six weeks, Pitt now leads UCLA, Southern Cal, and fifth-place Texas Tech.

"These next two weeks, this is real college football," said Majors, reminding his Panthers that they still face arch-rivals West Virginia University Saturday in a regionally televised game and Penn State Nov. 26 in a nationally televised bout.

"They're all out there waiting for something to happen to us. But Pitt is the only team that can beat Pitt."

Many of the players on hand for the announcement joined Pitt in obscurity four years ago, just as Majors had. For those players, who suffered through a 1-10 first season, the coach had special praise.

"None of us knew where we were headed when we came here. But good things happen to good folks," Majors said.

Running back Tony Dorsett, who has passed some milestones of his own en route to national prominence with Pitt, said the top ranking was "one of the most happiest feeling in the world.

"For a freshman coming in or a senior going out, it's great," said Dorsett.

Majors, nattily glad in team colors of blue and gold, stood before the sweat-suited and tossle-capped ball players and warned them to keep their feet on the ground and their eyes on the game just ahead.

"To be No. 1 is a hell of a tough thing to get to and its a thing to relish.

"But wait 'til you see how hard it is to stay there."

Rounding out the top ten are Maryland, Georgia, Ohio State, Nebraska and Alabama. Missouri is 11th, followed by Houston, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida, Texas A&M, Oklahoma State, Notre Dame, Colorado and South Carolina.

Pitt got 49 out of a possible 63 first-place votes. UCLA picked up seven, Southern California two, Michigan two, Maryland two and Texas Tech one.

McKay, Ralston are still feuding

DENVER (AP) — Denver Bronco offensive coordinator Max Coley responded to a blistering post-game verbal attack by Tampa Bay Coach John McKay with sarcasm and questioning Monday.

After Sunday's 48-13 loss to the Broncos McKay stomped off the field, refused to shake hands with Bronco Coach John Ralston and offered to give a portion of Coley's anatomy a sound kicking.

McKay was apparently upset not only about the loss but the way it was administered to his winless National Football League expansion team.

"Max Coley? The guy who calls the plays?" McKay asked in response to a question about his end-of-game tantrum. "I hope he got his offensive stats up today and I hope he gets fired tomorrow. He knew we were hurtin'. But it always turns around ..."

Coley said "I don't know who he wanted us to run our offense against, if not his defensive line. His coaching staff?"

Coley said he had no problems with McKay before, and they play golf together every year, and occasionally have a few drinks.

"I think he must have lost his poise," Coley said. "If he was talking about whipping somebody after the game, as I read, he knew where I was dressing. I was only 60 feet away and would have been more than willing to meet him either verbally or physically."

Coley said he knew it has been a hard transition for McKay to make, from a successful college program at Southern California to an expansion franchise at Tampa Bay.

"Evidently he doesn't know the difference between offense and defense, who was doing the scoring." Coley pointed out the last three of Denver's four touchdowns were by the defense following interceptions and a fumble recovery off the Tampa offense.

"However, he must be an expert because he's beaten a lot of college teams," Coley said, emphasizing college.

Coley also noted that Denver played a conservative, no-pass game in the closing minutes.

"That's the first time I've ever seen a coach blame the other coaching staff for a loss," he said.

Poly loses Costa for SLO battle

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Cal Poly coach Andy Vinci brought some unhappy news to the Progress Bulletin's weekly football luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona Monday.

Vinci revealed that quarterback Leo Costa has been hospitalized with a collapsed lung and internal bleeding. Costa was injured in the first half last Saturday vs. Northridge, but stayed in the contest and engineered Poly's 20-7 victory.

Vinci indicated that Costa is definitely out for the season, which means he will miss the Broncos' showdown with Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo this week.

The Poly signal caller completed 11 of 20 passes vs. Northridge in the last college game of his career, had three other passes dropped and two called back due to penalties. For his heroics, Costa was tabbed as the Offensive Player of the Week on the college level.

Defensive honors at the four-year level went to La Verne defensive end Mike Bustos, as the Leos downed Pomona-Pitzer 54-25.

Others nominated from the four-year schools included Pomona-Pitzer quarterback Lyle Lansdall, La Verne running back Ben Morrow and Azusa Pacific cornerback Greg Mahood.

Winning the awards at the junior college level were Chaffey defensive end Ron White and Citrus wide receiver Charlie Brown. Panther fullback Dominic Licavoli was the only other JC player nominated.

Quoting the coaches:

VINCI, Cal Poly: "We received the bad news on Leo this morning, he is definitely out for the year, we are just hoping that surgery isn't necessary. He certainly ended his career with us on a fantastic note.

"We dominated the game with Northridge, if we had avoided mistakes we would have beat them 40-7 instead of 20-7. We gave up only one first down in the second half, our defense was outstanding.

"This week we go against SLO, it will be a whole different ballgame. Sammy Ross will get the nod at quarterback in place of Costa, Sammy has looked good in practice.

"I feel this is SLO's best team in three years, they are very quick on defense. It's also a must-game for them to win to get into the playoffs. Traditionally, we have played poorly at SLO and they have not played that well down here. We hope that trend continues Saturday."

WALT AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer: "La Verne was just as physical against us last week as they were the first time we played them. At least we moved the football, we led 7-0 in the first quarter but the second quarter was disasterous for us. La Verne was just too aggressive for us, all their guys give 100 percent effort.

"We play Redlands this week. They beat Claremont-Mudd 29-7 last week, and C-M beat us 69-35, so I'm thinking of taking a vacation or going into hiding or something. We are hurting physically as well, so it will be another tough week for us."

ROLAND ORTMAYER, La Verne: "Football is still a game of manpower and the outfit which has the manpower is going to win. That pretty well sums up Walt's problem at Pomona-Pitzer. It's going to be real tough for him to win against a team like ourselves or Redlands.

"I was happy with our win last week, but not at all happy with the penalities or the injuries we suffered.

Jazz coach stays calm

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Coach Bill van Breda Kolff of the New Orleans Jazz says he is going to be a model of decorum on the bench for the remainder of the National Basketball Association season, because his wallet is hurting.

"We have Oxy this week, we finally beat them for the first time four years ago and have won ever since, but they will be hard to beat this time. They have a very strong passing game and I don't know if we can stop it. I think we can move the ball on them however, so if we're healthy I'd say the game will be a tossup."

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific: "We were tied 14-14 with Cal State L.A. with only two minutes left when they kicked a field goal to beat us. The game really could have gone either way. We stayed right with them.

"We play Cal Lutheran this week. They are not as strong a team as they were last year but they make no mistakes, have good size and are quick. They also pass the ball very well. We will need our very best game to beat them."

JOHN STRYCULA, Citrus: "We kind of stubbed our toes down at Southwestern. I'm disappointed in the way we played, not in the score. We probably deserved to tie, the way we played, it was just one of those games for us.

"Our defense did the job but our offense was very, very erratic. We had 289 yards rushing and over 100 yards passing, but we fumbled four times and lost two, and were intercepted three times. A bad snap on a punt gave them one of their touchdowns.

"At the end of the game we were just trying to get the ball in position for a field goal, which we felt our kicker could make. Well, to show how things went for us, our quarterback suddenly got in the clear and ran all the way to their one and fumbled as he was going into the end zone. After a big scramble we recovered the ball but by then time had ran out. Actually, had our quarterback just fallen down at the one we could have called time out and kicked the FG, but I guess we deserved the tie.

"We go against Saddleback this week. They are a very physical team and hit like hell. We will have to play better in all areas to beat them. It's been a great series between the two schools, three of the seven games have ended in ties, and it will be very interesting again Saturday night."

MAL EATON, MSAC: "Fullerton just had an outstanding night against us, they could do no wrong. They really gave us a lesson in how to play football. Going into the game we felt we had an excellent chance of beating them but they dominated the game in every department. It was a big disappointment for us.

"We have Orange Coast this week, we have to win to keep our title hopes alive. Orange Coast is not as good as they were last year but they are still a very good team. We will have to get back up off the floor and play well to beat them."

MIKE MERANDI, Chaffey: "Our defensive unit did a super job against San Bernardino, as they have all year. What concerns me is our offense. We move the ball well between the 10 and 10, but just can't seem to punch it across, and when that happens we just are not a good offensive team.

"We were a little flat at the start of the San Bernardino game and the took a quick 14-0 lead and we never got back, even though we outgained them, 312-176, in total yardage.

"We have Southwestern this week, they are a pretty good team and throw the ball well. It will be a super tough game for us."

Michigan smarting from Purdue upset

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's Wolverines have been ushered back into their lair, smarting from defeat and skeptical of outsiders.

"I have not lost faith in them," Coach Bo Schembechler said Monday.

However, his players won't be available for interviews in the wake of their 16-14 Big Ten football loss Saturday at Purdue.

The setback tumbled Michigan from first to fourth in this week's Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Pittsburgh, as expected, climbed from second to first.

"We've had about all we can take," Schembechler told reporters. "You guys almost had me convinced we were good."

There were more reporters than usual at his weekly news conference, as well as photographers.

"Everybody loves a loser," Schembechler said.

He said his players "are really down," and, "it's a matter of me placing emphasis on our coming back. We just want to concentrate on football. We've got a tough game coming up, really tough."

Michigan, 8-1 over-all and 5-1 in the conference, hosts Illinois this Saturday before winding up the regular season the following week at Columbus against archrival Ohio State. That game is expected to, as usual, determine the Big Ten championship—if the Wolverines can get by Illinois.

Ohio State, first in the Big Ten, is ranked eighth.

"I don't think there are any super powers," Schembechler said. "I don't think there's a team in the nation we can't beat."

He added, "I'm not after the national championship...I'm after the Big Ten championship and the Rose Bowl."

Schembechler called Purdue Coach Alex Agase "a great coach" and "a great friend of mine." However, "I didn't think he could do it (upset Michigan). That's probably why he did it—because I didn't think he could. Nobody needed that victory more than him."

Last week "our coaching staff was worried, really worried," Schembechler added. "It was nothing you could put your finger on. It's a hard lesson to learn. When you win a lot, you forget how you got there...you hope maybe you'll learn it with a close call (victory)."

Michigan suffered more than the embarassment of defeat. Four of its top players were injured and one, defensive end and punter John Anderson, probably won't be able to play the last two games. Anderson suffered spraigned ligaments in his right knee.

Fullbacks Rob Lytle (hip) and Russell Davis (thigh), plus tailback Harlan Huckleby (thigh) were also hurt in the Purdue game.

Lytle played despite his injury and wound up being named Michigan's offensive "Champion of the Week." Middle linebacker Calvin O'Neal was named defensive "Champion" by the Wolverine coaching staff.

Scot boosters set breakfast

Upland High's All-Sports Booster Club announced that it will hold its annual pancake breakfast on Sunday November 14, from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The menu at the Upland High Cafeteria will include: pancakes, sausage, juice, milk, and coffee. Tickets may be purchased for $1.50 from any Upland athlete, pep squad members, or at the door the day of the event.

The breakfast is the major fund raising event of the year to help support Upland High athletics.

'Hens blank Stags; are seeded third

Tom McEnroe's goal with five minutes left in the game gave Pomona-Pitzer's soccer team a 1-0 victory over Claremont-Mudd Monday afternoon at C-M's Parents' Field.

Nick Eaden, on the right wing, got open and crossed the ball in the air to McEnroe who hit the ball with his head about five yards from the goal for the score.

Pomona-Pitzer winds up the season with a perfect 11-0-1 conference log and a 13-1-1 mark overall. The Sagehens clinched the crown last week. C-M finishes with an 8-4 conference record and a 10-6 overall mark. The Stags wound up third a half game behind Whittier (8-3-1).

Pomona-Pitzer will be seeded third in the playoffs which begin Wednesday. Biola is first, USIU second, Westmont fourth, Whittier fifth and UCSD sixth.

In Wednesday's game, Westmont plays UCSD. The winner of that game will meet Whittier Saturday. Two games will be played Monday. Pomona-Pitzer will be at USIU and Biola will play the winner of Saturday's game.

Sports briefs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kicking specialist Vince Petrucci of Fresno State and linebacker Dave McBeth of Fullerton State have been named the offensive and defensive players-of-the-week in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

Petrucci, a 5-foot-8, 160-pounder from Fresno accounted for 11 points in the 23-0 upset over Long Beach State on Saturday. He hit field goals of 27, 36 and 43 yards plus two conversions.

McBeth, 5-11 and 201 pounds from Huntington Beach made 18 tackles, 10 of them unassisted in a 17-7 victory over University of the Pacific. He also sacked the quarterback once.

PHILADELPHIA — Dick Allen, the controversial first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, officially became a free agent and will enter a special free agent draft to be held within the next three days.

STOCKHOLM — Mark Cox of Britain upset sixth-seeded Eddie Dibbs of North Miami Beach, Fla., 7-5, 6-2 in the opening round of the $150,000 Stockholm Open tennis tournament.

HIALEAH, Fla. — Financially troubled Hialeah Park was sold in a $13.3 million deal to the City of Hialeah and John J. Brunetti, a New Jersey developer.

TURIN, Italy — Giorgio Ferrini, a former star with Torino of the Italian soccer major league, died of a cerebral hemorrage at the age of 37.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — William Lang, a former president of the Rochester Reds of the International League, died at the age of 68.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — George Sisler resigned as president of the International Baseball League.

Howes to play in San Diego?

SAN DIEGO (AP)— Coach Ron Ingram of the San Diego Mariners says the World Hockey Association club may be able to acquire the entire Howe family from the Houston Aeros.

Ingram said Monday he's received word that the Howes — Gordie, Mark and Marty — do not intend to stay in Houston because of disputes with management and are interested in San Diego.

Ingram said the Mariners are awaiting league and Aero approval before officially talking to the Howes. The word may arrive before the end of the week.

Gordie, 48, has said he is not happy with his one-year contract or his phase-out from the Aero front office he once served as president.

Meanwhile, Marty, 22, and Mark, 21, have not signed new contracts with Houston. In a recent move, Houston board chairman George Bolin attempted to trade the two to New England.

They refused to participate in the trade under terms of their existing contracts. Howard Balwin, the New England president, reportedly is in Houston attempting to get them to reconsider the trade.

The Howes can accept the trade, attempt to force a trade to another team, or wait until their contracts expire at the end of the season and go where they please.

"We would be interested in making a deal for them right now, if we get the chance," said San Diego general manager Ballard Smith. "We'd be interested in making a fair trade for them although, obviously, Houston can't expect to get full value for them under the circumstances."

Smith said if Houston doesn't trade the family, it will get nothing for them at all when they depart at the end of the season.

Seahawks savor their victory over Atlanta

SEATTLE (AP) — For two hours, a weary-eyed Coach Jack Patera closeted himself in his modest office scrutinizing films of his Seattle Seahawks' first victory over an established National Football League team, the Atlanta Falcons.

Outside, rookie running back Sherman Smith and some of his teammates were explaining how they did it.

"That was no fluke," said Smith, who became the first Seattle player to run for over 100 yards in a game, dashing for 124 in the expansion team's 30-13 embarrassment of the Falcons before 57,985 insatiable Seahawks fans in the Kingdome Sunday.

Seattle's only other triumph was their last-minute, error-filled 13-10 decision over Tampa Bay, the league's other expansion team, on Oct. 17.

"Sunday is going to be a milestone in our improvement," said Smith. "Everyone knows now that nothing is going to come easy. It's just a matter of our going out and doing it. And Sunday we showed what we're capable of doing.

In Sunday's game, Smith also caught a 21-yard touchdown pass from first-year quarterback Jim Zorn and burst 53 yards up the middle for another score.

Zorn was with Smith outside Patera's office Monday at the Seahawks' training camp in suburban Kirkland, Wash.

"I don't think we have to prove a thing. We go out to win every game, just like we won the last one," said Zorn. His 11 for 16 passing performance for 136 yards and two touchdowns staked Seattle to a 14-3 halftime lead.

"I think we've shown progress," the cool and confident Zorn continued. "You talk to the players, the coaches and the fans and they saw improvement, and that's what you're looking for every week.

"Through the whole game, there was a real intensity and everyone was concentrating.

"It went down from the offense to the defense and the special teams. It was great to see us do it teamwise instead of individualwise. That's what it takes."

Defensive tackle Steve Niehaus, Seattle's No. 1 college draft choice from Notre Dame, said, "We knew we could beat them. We knew we were a better team than we showed when we gave up 86 points in the past two games. We just went out from the start with that in mind.

"People can tell when you really beat someone. We were really working well together, which is something we've had trouble doing in the past. That doesn't mean we'll go out next week or the week after and play the same. But we know we can."

Veteran safety Al Matthews, who celebrated his 29th birthday Sunday by returning an interception for a touchdown, said, "I feel great. We've got guys now who are talking about going out and establishing an expansion record, getting those four wins. We've got 43 guys who are going out there with the idea we're going to shut them out.

"But we still have to beat an established winner. Although Atlanta is an established team, in 11 years they've had only, what, two seasons over .500?"

Patera's door finally opened. He was done with the films. He looked tired, but he was smiling.

"You never thought we'd be there, did you?" he said. "And we did it substituting freely."

Sunday was the first game the rookie head coach could afford to go to his bench with victory firmly in grasp.

But next Sunday, the Seahwaks face the powerful Vikings in Minnesota, where Patera spent the previous seven seasons as an assistant coach.

"Well, I don't think we'll be favored by 30 points," he chuckled. "Two victories don't make you real jaded, you know."

For the present, Patera was savoring the conquest of the Falcons.

"We played better," he sid. "Whether it was because of Atlanta or because of us doesn't make a heck of a lot of difference. But we played better than in the past. That's not to say we're ready to go to the Super Bowl or anything, but when you show improvement I think it should be noted."

Sunday was the first time the Seahawks were able to put together every phase of the game.

"We've had great individual performances before. But the play of the offense, the defense and the special teams was the best we've done," Patera said. "We put ourselves in more precarious positions this game than the Tampa Bay game and overcame them."

Said Seattle General Manager John Thompson: "It was a big day. A routine Seahawk rout."

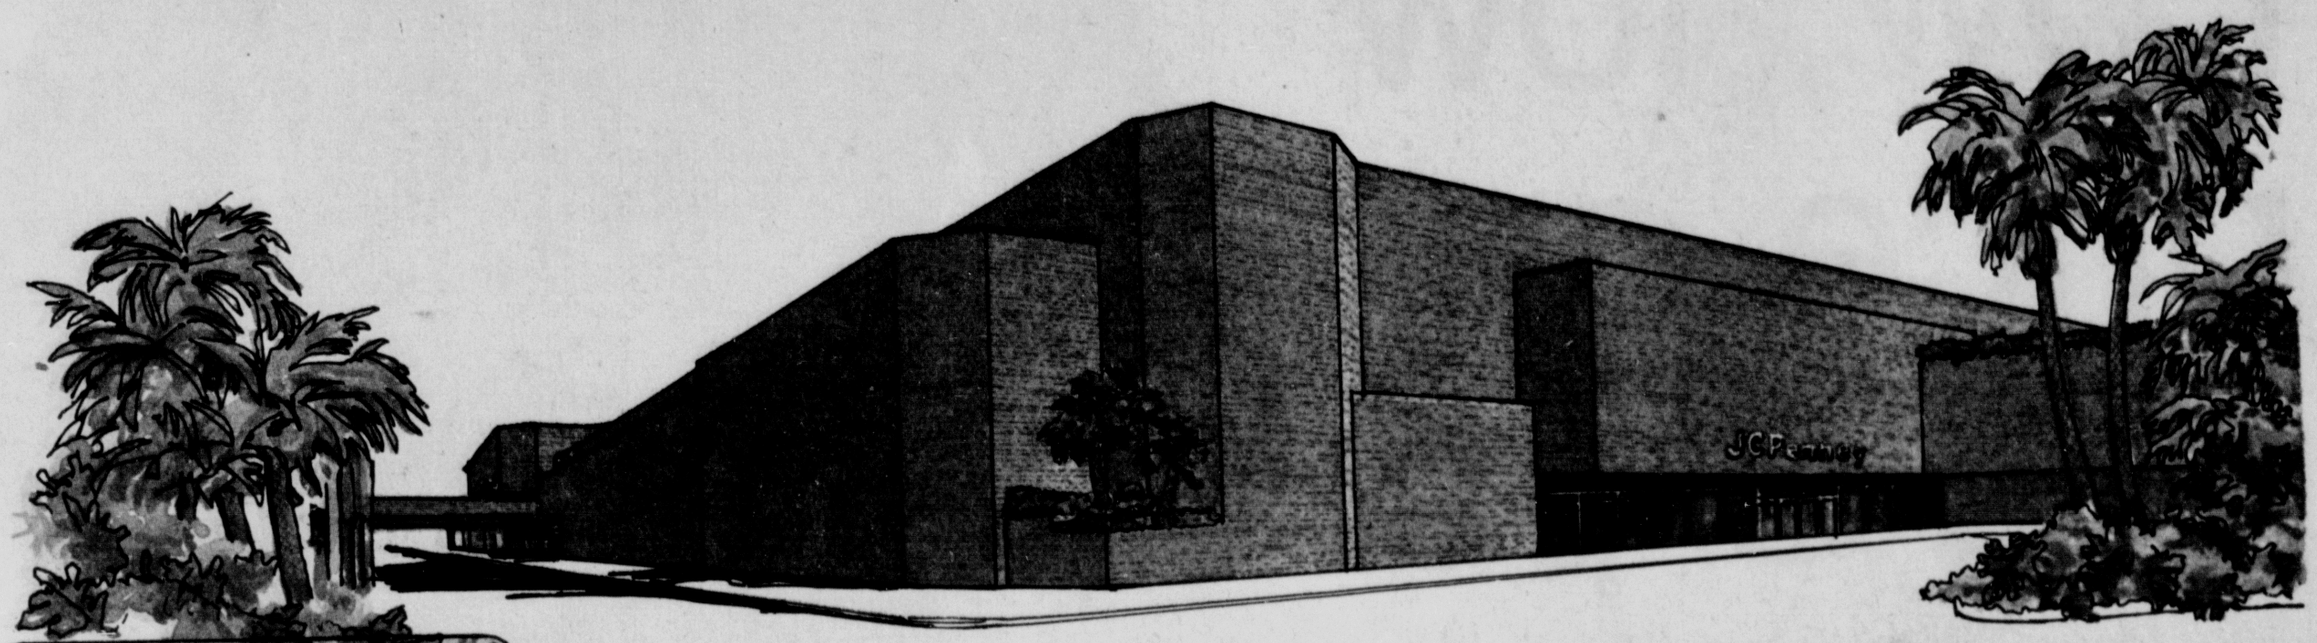
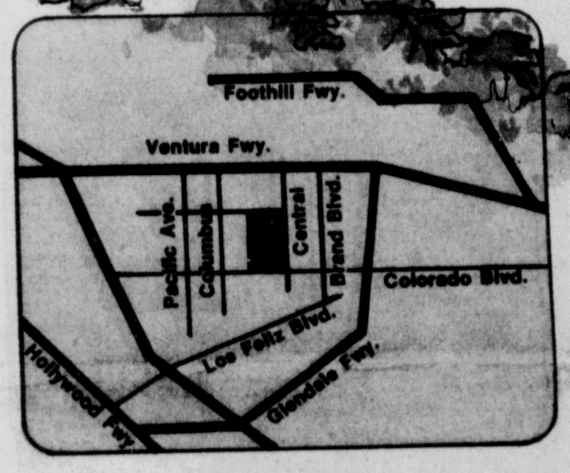
Giant 65 store celebration

welcomes the newest JCPenney in the Glendale Galleria opening Wednesday, Nov. 10th.





Make our new JCPenney store your headquarters for holiday shopping and take advantage of our Grand Opening sales and specials, our better than ever selection of up-to-the-minute fashions, quality home furnishings, appliances and accessories, camping needs, sporting goods, toys galore and much, much more. If it's something you want or need, chances are it's something JCPenney has in stock. More shopping room, more shopping services, more values than ever before. So, come on in and help us celebrate. And remember JCPenney offers you a choice of ways to pay; cash, layaway, time payment for major purchases, or take care of everything with your handy JCPenney Charge Card.

65 JCPenney stores in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside and Ventura counties join the Grand Opening Celebration.

JCPenney advertising policy. If for some unforeseen reason an advertised item is not in our store, we will either make the merchandise available to you at a later date, or at our option offer you an equal or better item at the advertised price. Those advertised items designated with "limited quantities" are available only while our quantities last, on a first come, first served basis.

Sorry, no mail, phone or C.O.D. orders.

Sale prices effective thru Sunday, Nov. 14.

For openers! 20% off these coordinates and shirts.

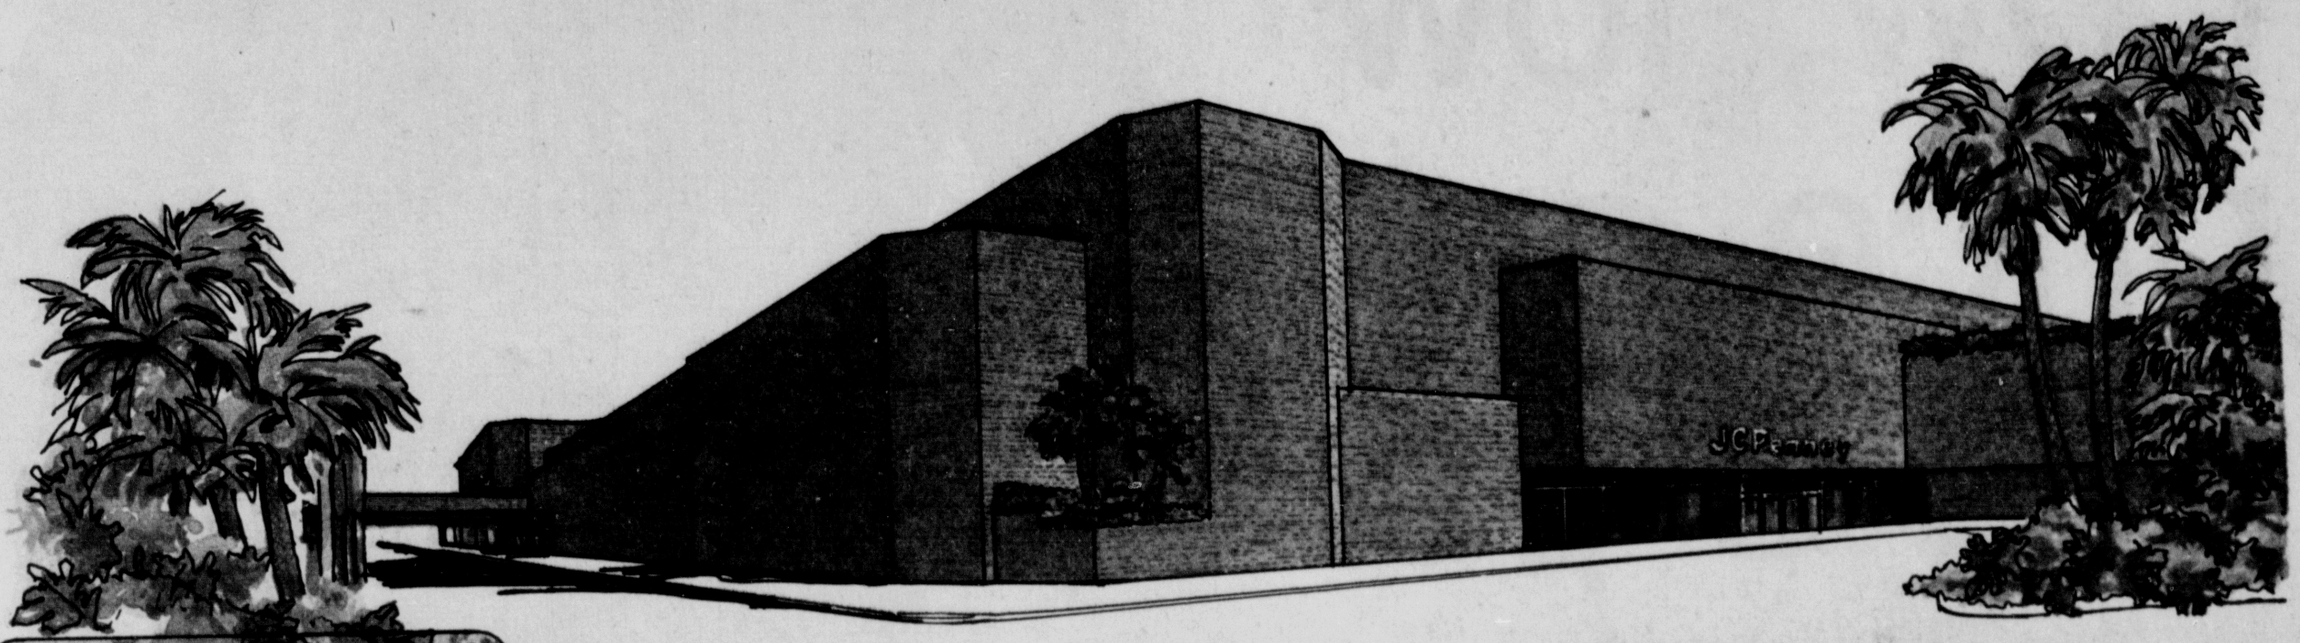
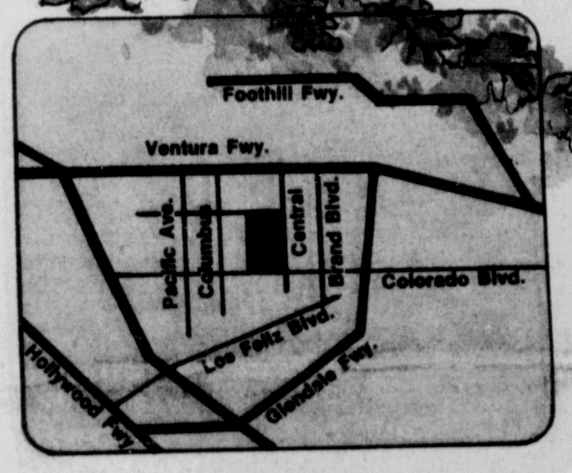
Giant 65 store celebration

welcomes the newest JCPenney in the Glendale Galleria opening Wednesday, Nov. 10th.





Make our new JCPenney store your headquarters for holiday shopping and take advantage of our Grand Opening sales and specials, our better than ever selection of up-to-the-minute fashions, quality home furnishings, appliances and accessories, camping needs, sporting goods, toys galore and much, much more. If it's something you want or need, chances are it's something JCPenney has in stock. More shopping room, more shopping services, more values than ever before. So, come on in and help us celebrate. And remember JCPenney offers you a choice of ways to pay; cash, layaway, time payment for major purchases, or take care of everything with your handy JCPenney Charge Card.

65 JCPenney stores in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside and Ventura counties join the Grand Opening Celebration.

JCPenney advertising policy. If for some unforeseen reason an advertised item is not in our store, we will either make the merchandise available to you at a later date, or at our option offer you an equal or better item at the advertised price. Those advertised items designated with "limited quantities" are available only while our quantities last, on a first come, first served basis.

Sorry, no mail, phone or C.O.D. orders.
